Theatre

To make folksie entertainment, plenty has been put into "Banjo on my Knee," the attraction at the Pinehurst Theatre Monday, December 21, maine and night. The story has all the dramatic force of "Tobacco Road" and the mellowness of "Steamboat Round the Bend" with a quality of its own that makes it refreshing and different. Added to that are the songs and dances which faithfully reflect the fascinating lives of the river people. Joel McCrea, Barbara Stanwyck and Walter Brennan head the cast.

Premised on the "you can't mix business with love" idea, "More Than a Secretary," at Pinehurst Wednesday, December 23rd, matinee and night, is a comedy-romance that is destined to be an audience pleaser. With cleverly contrived situations and smart dialogue which is occasionally a bit zippy, and high class individual performances, the film matches the standard of Columbia's better pictures. George Brent plays a physical culture magazine publisher and is a nut for all health food fads. As the chief patron of a secretarial school run by Ruth Donnelly, Jean Arthur, because of her inability to keep the stenographers, decides to take a job with Brent herself. Fun is principal quality of Brent's and Miss Arthur's work, accentuated by the contributions of Miss Donnelly.

Now she's in China! Who? None other than Shirley Temple. She even talks and sings Chinese, and she takes charge of a fascinating romance, faces danger in glittering Shanghai, performs in a Chinese theatre and, in short, plays the most unusual role she's ever had, in her new and most thrill-filled picture, "Stowaway," the attraction at Pinehurst Friday, December 25th, matinee and night. It's a picture for your "must" list—with a gripping story, a glamorous cast of great stars, Gordon and Revel's latest song hits, and first, last and always, the incomparable Shirley! Little Miss Temple plays the role of a little orphaned waif adrift in China, a victim of the bandits. In addition to Robert Young and Alice Faye, Shirley's strong supporting cast includes Eugene Pallette, Helen Westly, Arthur Treacher, J. Edward Bromberg and Astric Allwyn. In addition, Mickey Mouse's newest technicolor, "Mother Pluto." And holiday souvenir photos of Shirley will be given children purchasing admission tickets.

There's a surprise in store for all movie fans who don't include Shakespeare in their list of favorite movie authors. For, playing at the Southern Pines Theatre Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, December 21, 22, 23, with a Tuesday matinee, Elizabeth Bergner brings to the screen "As You Like It," the most joyous of all romances and the gayest of all Shakespeare's plays. Advance reports herald "As You Like It" as one of the greatest entertainments ever filmed.

As a Christmas attraction comes the already famous little Radio singer, Bobby Breen in his new production, "Rainbow on the River" which will be on the screen Thursday and Friday, December 24, 25, with matinees both days. This is a sympathy-stirring human drama with music, comedy contrast and commercial elements which assure its popularity with all types of audiences. It is intelligently produced and smartly directed so that the laugh provoking humor balances the tear-jerking sentimentality and is definitely a step upward for Bobby Breen, May Robson, Charles Butterworth, Louise Beavers, Benita Hume, Alam Mowbray, Henry O'Neill, Marilyn Knowlden, Lillian Yarbo and minor supporting players contribute high calibre performances, but young Breen is the outstanding figure.

Spanky McFarland ascends among the cinema stars in "General Spanky," the new Hal Roach feature-length comedy at Southern Pines Saturday. It has been a long but signally successful climb for the chubby little favorite. Seven of his eight years have been spent before the camera, the last five years with "Our Gang," but in "General Spanky" he turns in his most stellar performance, and makes the feature one of the most entertaining and interesting comedies of the season that has appeal to grown-ups as well as children. Spanky was furnished with an exceptionally realistic and elaborate production to make his stardom debut. The physical mounting of the charming Old South with the spectacular drama of the war between the North and South has been carried out around an original story of a boy and his hero. An added attraction is the return engagement of the delightful technicolor Harmon-Ising cartoon, "The Little Cheeser."
