

Interesting Program For County Teachers

Vocational Education, Foreign Language, Tuberculosis Prevention Discussed

Excellent talks by outstanding educators of the county, and an interesting presentation of the opening and closing ceremony used in chapter meetings by the Future Farmers of America, given by boys of the Vass-Lakeview High School, featured the county-wide teachers' meeting held in the Carthage High School auditorium on Monday afternoon. W. E. Gladstone of Vass and Miss Estelle Kelly of Carthage were in charge of the program which was on "Vocational Education" and "Foreign Languages."

Dr. J. S. Denholm of the State Sanatorium spoke on tuberculosis prevention and the work that is being done in testing the school children in the county for this disease.

Miss Isabel McLeod of the Elise High School, whose subject was "What are the Objectives by Subject and by Grade in Foreign Languages?" gave splendid justification for the study of Latin in high school, listing among the benefits to be derived, mental discipline, acquisition of word meanings, and cultural background. French was the other language discussed.

J. A. Cornwell, of the Farm Life School spoke on the objectives in vocational education, and W. Stuart Evans of the Elise High School at Hemp discussed the subject matter pertaining to manual arts.

W. G. Coltrain, principal of the High Falls school, spoke on "What I Have Learned from the New Course of Study."

FR. HANNIGAN GIVES TALK ON BOOKS AND AUTHORS

On Tuesday evening at the new Catholic Lending Library, Father Hannigan pastor of Our Lady of Victory Mission in West Southern Pines, gave a talk on "Books and Authors." Father Hannigan traced the development of English literature from the beginning to the present day, giving an interesting summary of the important authors of each period. This is the first in a series of talks to be given under the auspices of the new library. Over 68 invitations were extended to this lecture and the response was most gratifying. After the talk refreshments were served with Mrs. Harold Maloney and Miss Nellie Mulcahy as hostesses. The next speaker to address the library association will be John Moody of the Moody Investment service, the date of this talk to be announced later.

LOCAL BASKETBALLERS WIN GAME FROM LEMON SPRINGS

FOOD DEMONSTRATION ATTRACTS 45 WOMEN

Tuesday's slush and rain did not dampen the interest of Moore county women in their home demonstration work, as was evidenced by the number of club leaders who braved weather conditions that morning to attend the food demonstration given by Miss Mary E. Thomas, nutrition specialist from State College, in the office of the Moore county home demonstration agent. Forty-five were present from various sections of the county.

Installs Incubator of 33,000-Egg Capacity

W. H. McNeill Starts Venture to Promote Better Poultry in This Section

In furtherance of plans to promote a more widespread production of eggs from pure bred flocks, well housed, protected, and properly fed, W. H. McNeill of Southern Pines has put in operation, in connection with the Fayetteville warehouse of McNeill & Co., a hatchery with an incubator capacity of 33,000 eggs.

The plant will be under State supervision and inspection, all the supply flocks being blood tested by the North Carolina Department of Agriculture. Preferred breeds will be White and Barred Rocks, Rhode Island Reds and White Leghorns, and 10 cents advance per dozen will be paid above the prevailing price for tested hatching eggs.

Mr. McNeill plans in this new venture to awaken greater interest among poultrymen, particularly in Moore and Cumberland counties, to the value of larger and better flocks, and in the increased production of fresh eggs placed promptly on the market. This would also, in some degree, standardize the excessive fluctuation in the prices of the local product.
