Dr. Raymond and Dr. Spring Buy Residential Property; Burns Leases House

With the advent of warm weather the real estate market in Southern Pines continues active, the more important transactions of the week including two sales and one rental.

The R. F. Potts agency sold the commodious 12-room dwelling, the residence of the late Mrs. Alice Colby, to the Rev. C. Rexford Raymond, pastor emeritus of the Church of Wide Fellowship. Included with the house, which is located on East Maine avenue near Ridge street, is much of the handsome furniture, and three lots.

This same agency has leased to G. D. Cunningham and family, of Nashville, Tenn., the property on Massachusetts avenue long known as the Benson house but recently acquired by City Clerk Howard Burns. Dr. J. J. Spring has purchased through the P. T. Barnum agency the Vinson Johnson house, located on Country Club drive near Massachusetts avenue, and is planning extensive improvements to be completed before the return of his family early next fall.

RECIPES FOR DEWBERRY JAMS AND JELLIES

Miss Flora McDonald, Moore county's home demonstration agent, recommends the following recipes, timely for the dewberry season:

JAM—(Strawberry, Raspberry or Dewberry)—2 quarts berries (3 pounds), 4 1-2 cups Sugar (2 1-4 pounds). Crush berries, add the sugar and cook until a sheet of jelly forms when poured from the side of a spoon. The jam should be stirred constantly with a wooden spoon during the cooking. When it is finished, pour immediately into hot sterilized jars and seal.

Dewberry Jelly Stock—6 quarts dewberries, 1 pint water. Wash berries, place over heat, and after boiling point is reached cook for 15 minutes. Strain through double cheesecloth and process in pint jars for 20 minutes. This will yield three pints of jelly stock. Store in cool place.

Dewberry Jelly (made from stock)—2 pints jelly stock, 1 1-2 pound sugar. As soon as the boiling point is reached, add sugar gradually and cook to 222 degrees F. Skim and pour immediately into hot sterilized glasses.

Two Railroad Wrecks Delay Seaboard Trains

Passenger, Mail and Freight Service To Sandhills Late All Day Wednesday

Two railroad smash-ups on the Seaboard Air Line's main line between Youngsville and Franklinton, north of Raleigh, on Tuesday, tied up railroad service in Southern Pines all day Wednesday. The wreck which occurred Tuesday night when a southbound freight plowed into the rear end of a second southbound freight standing on the main line, caused but little delay, but the first of the two wreck, occurring at 2:00 o'clock Tuesday morning, blocked the main line and tied up service for nearly 12 hours. Mail service was delayed as a result.

Both accidents occurred in a block in which a crane arm wrecked the electric signal apparatus on Monday night, railroad men said, but no official confirmation of the fact was forthcoming from division headquarters at Raleigh.

Southbound trains to Southern Pines were re-routed from Henderson, above the scene of the wrecks, to Durham, over the Southern to Raleigh and back to the Seaboard line. The train due in Southern Pines at 5:12 Wednesday morning did not arrive until 11:09. The 7:18 came in at 11:43. The 11:09 arrived at 4:45 p. m. and the evening train, due at 6:57, was nearly two hours behind schedule. By that time the line had been cleared and later trains were on time.

Young Botanists

Mary and Louise Crain, High School Girls, Have Remarkable Flower Collections

"The finest collection of its kind I have ever seen prepared by high school students anywhere." That was the pronouncement of Marvin N. Hunter, science professor at Southern Pines High School, in referring to the botanical collection gathered by Mary and Louise Crain, high school sophomores who live at Maine and Ashe streets in Southern Pines.

Between the two girls they have collected six scrap books full of flower, berry and leaf specimens from a radius of within a few miles of Southern Pines and the collection has been, until recently, on display at the high school as an outstanding example of its kind.

Louise's collection number 264 wild flowers, garden flowers, tree flowers, house flowers and berries, and Mary's collection contains nine more, 27 in all. Each has a separate collection of 160 leaves.

A few of the specimens were collected last fall but the majority of the work has been done within the past few months and all of the specimens have been carefully pressed and dried, classified, mounted and labeled as to common name, scientific name and the date and exact locality where each was found.

Some idea of the magnitude of the task may be imagined when it is taken into consideration that until recently, one of the requirements for a passing grade in a similar course in the sophomore year at North Carolina State College was a collection of 100 such specimens. And that was considered to be a stiff requirement.

Mary and Louise Crain each have collections containing nearly four and one-half as many specimens as college sophomore requirements.

CURRIE SEES COUNTY ON CASH BASIS SOON

(Continued from page one) "Do you realize that we appropriate from county funds but $1,200 a year to fight tuberculosis among 30,000 people where other counties are paying out from $5,000 up? All because of the efficient work of Mrs. Cheatham of Pinehurst and her organization in raising funds through private sources and stamping out the disease as fast as it appears. There were but 35 recorded cases in the county last year." He then spoke of the start of maternity work in the county by another group of women, this being one of the first rural counties in the south to undertake this work, already showing results.

Mr. Currie said Moore was spending more in its health work (other than tuberculosis) than ever before, but that it was proving a splendid investment. We had but three cases of typhoid fever in the county last year, all among colored people; we had no smallpox, and only 14 cases of diphtheria.

He gave a picture of what the Social Security Act will mean to the county in outgo and in benefits. The county will have something like $15,000 to pay out annually as its share of the Federal-State-County aid for old age assistance and underprivileged children, but he indicated that the taxpayers need have no fear of this increased load because of the revenue which will now accrue to the county from its ABC stores. He thought that when the Social Security program gets organized and working efficiently it might be possible to do away with the County Home, now an expensive institution to maintain.

In closing Mr. Currie paid tribute to the county's watchdogs of the treasury, Miss Maida Jenkins and John C. Muse, "who watch the county purse-strings more closely than they do their own," he said. Mr. Currie was presented to the club by Howard F. Burns, who was in charge of this week's program.

"JUNEBUGS" LOSE TO RALEIGH 7-3

Raleigh added two more runs in the second on Doak's walk, Pittman's safe bunt down the third base line, Wall's throw to third to catch Doak, when nobody was covering the bag—allowing Doak to score and Pittman to advance to third before the ball was recovered—and Andrew's single to left field that scored Pittman.

They got their sixth run in the fifth inning. Thomas hit one at shortstop that was too hot to handle and went for a hit. Holt bunted safely in front of the plate and Thomas went to second. Murray hit one down the third base line and Richardson stepped on the bag, forcing Thomas, but his throw to first was too late to get Murray and he was safe on a fielder's choice. Then Heath singled between second base and short stop, scoring Holt from second base.

Snappy Double Play

Howard Auman, who had gone into the box for the "Junebugs" at the beginning of the sixth inning to relieve Buss Thomas, was working nicely and it looked as though he had the Raleigh boy's number. He forced Holt to pop a high fly to short center that should have been taken by Bill White, but Buchan ran back from the shortstop position calling for the ball and White let him have it. Frankie got his hands on the ball and dropped it and Holt was safe. Murray was out, second to first, Holt advancing to second. Heath singled over second base scoring Holt and then the "Junebugs" put an end to the proceedings when Horton hit one hard on the ground to second base and Frankie Buchan picked it up, stepped on second forcing Heath, and whipped it to Ed Newton at first, doubling Horton and ending the inning.

Catcher Curtis Wall administered sudden death to three would-be base stealers during the afternoon with his rifle-life pegs to second base. Murray got away with his attempt in the first inning when Wall momentarily juggled Thomas' wide throw and that seemed to decide the Raleigh coaches to encourage their charges to try it again and again. But Wall threw to Leon Melvin to pick off Heath in the third and Doak in the fourth and again in the sixth and that served to put the quietus on Raleigh's larcenous intentions.

Buchan, for the "Junebugs," with four for five, and Raleigh's Thompson, with three for four, were the slugging artists of the set-to and Horton's sixth hit pitching and Auman's tight relief twirling afforded the day's additional highlights.

Today the "Junebugs" journey to Troy to play them a return game and what with the workout the boys had yesterday with Coach Joe DeBerry, they should repeat their victory of last Friday.
