

KEELER IN PINEHURST FOR GOLF PUBLICITY MATERIAL

O. B. Keeler, noted Atlanta golf writer, was in Pinehurst Monday to work up material for a series of articles on golf in connection with the State's $250,000 advertising campaign. He was accompanied by a representative of Eastman, Scott & Co., advertising agency of Atlanta which is handling the publicity account.

Another well known Atlanta writer, Mildred Seydell, is also touring the state gathering material for publicity. She completed a trip to the eastern part of the state Monday and is now in the mountain section.

Legion Juniors Having Big Time at Myrtle

Ted Kennedy and Ed Starnes Look After Ball Players at Beach Resort

Following a reasonably successful first season as an entry in the Junior American Legion baseball race and in which, with the benefit of a break or two, they would have finished higher in the race and gone on to the State elimination series, the Sandhills Junior American Legion baseball team is now enjoying its reward in the form of a week's stay at Myrtle Beach with all expenses paid out of the Junior Legion baseball treasury.

Following the close of the district series play, in which the local team finished third to Hamlet and Dunn-Erwin, the Junior Legion sponsors agreed that the boys were deserving of such a gesture in their behalf and Monday morning eleven of the boys, along with P. E. (Ted) Kennedy in charge of the party and Ed Starnes of Ed's Cafe in the capacity of steward, left Southern Pines by automobile for the South Carolina resort.

Housed together in a large cottage, they have practically taken command of Myrtle Beach and reports are to the effect that they are having the time of their young lives fishing, swimming and acquiring tans that already have them closely resembling a bunch of Indians.

swore all thoughts of baseball for the entire week, but word comes that they are watching the Raleigh papers with an eye to the State elimination series and the fortunes of Hamlet and Dunn-Erwin, and that they are secretly possessed of the opinion that they are the better team and that it should be they, rather than one or the other of those two teams, up there fighting to advance in the Junior Legion series.

The Junior Legionnaires in the party are Howard Auman, Clyde Alexander, Ernest Brown, Frank Buchan, Alec Cameron, Ed Newton, Arthur Pate, Buss Thomas, and "June" Williams and, in the absence of the remainder of the team who found it impossible to go along at this time, several of the boys who tried out for the team early in the season but who did not make the finally chosen squad.

Perry Starnes, who is attending a school of Chiropractics in Indianapolis, Ind., is spending several weeks vacation in Southern Pines.

Watermelon Demand Light; Peaches Strong

Carlot Peach Shipments Running About 150 Percent Ahead of Last Year

Following the temporary embargo placed on watermelons from North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida a week ago by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, in an attempt to steady the eastern seaboard market after heavy shipments from those states had beaten down the price to a point that meant little or no profit for the growers, shipments have started rolling again toward the northern markets in volume, with prices reasonably good under only a fair demand. Most of the markets are characterized as weak, dull, unsettled and barely steady with only Cincinnati showing any particular strength.

Prior to the temporary embargo, from 1,200 to 1,300 carlots per day were being shipped from the southern area along with considerable quantities by truck and by boat. During the embargo shipments by carlot dropped to only a few hundred cars from the area outside North and South Carolina and Georgia and Florida and the truck and boat shipments were correspondingly small. Since the termination of the embargo period, shipments have been much heavier but have not yet reached the volume of ten days ago, for the growers have profited by the example set by Mr. Wallace and are voluntarily holding back shipments until such time as a scarcity of melons creates a demand that will bring the market price to a higher level.

Peaches continue to roll north in increased volume and daily the carlot shipments from the Sandhills are on the increase, with prices holding up well. North Carolina bushels of the better grades are bringing $3.50 to $3.75 and North Carolina half-bushels are bringing $2.00 to $2.12 1-2 for the better grades, with some fancy and extra fancy peaches bringing as high as $2.25 per half bushel.

Here in the Sandhills the Hiley crop is just about finished and Georgia Belles and Elbertas are starting to come in. These will finish out the season and from present indications there is every reason to believe that prices will hold at their present level.

At the present time North Carolina shipments by carlot are running about 150 percent ahead of last year with a corresponding increase in truck shipments, and present indications are that the North Carolina 1937 peach crop will be well over 2,000,000 bushels.

"FAMOUS 'BUTS' in history

When robbers robbed the Robbins house,
The folks across the way,
Who heard the noise, sat up in bed
And saw them plain as day,
You'd think they would have seized
the 'phone
To give the cops a ring,
But, heck, they didn't have a 'phone,
they couldn't do a thing.

NOTE: A dozen words murmured over the telephone to police headquarters, would have resulted in the nabbing of two much sought thieves red handed. And that is the only way the Robbins robbery could have been prevented, by the folks across the way, without risking immediate or future retaliation.
