IDA WILCOX, CARTHAGE, SUFFERS INJURY TO EYE

Ida Cameron Wilcox, youngest daughter of John Wilcox, Clerk of the Court of Moore county, is recovering nicely from a painful injury to her eye which she sustained Tuesday of last week, and it is not thought that she will lose her sight in the injured member.

Ida and her little friend, Margaret Neal McDonald, daughter of Sheriff and Mrs. C. J. McDonald, were playing around the Wilcox home when they came up an old rusty carving fork. They climbed into a large sycamore to carve their initials and the fork slipped and struck Ida in the eye.

"16 Years of Service"

Theatre
At Pinehurst

The attraction for the opening of the Pinehurst Theatre, scheduled for Sunday night, November 14th, at 8:30, is none other than that glorious operetta "Firefly" with Jeanette MacDonald and Allan Jones in the principal singing roles.

Here is a grand operetta, with a dashing story, beautiful music and excellent photography. The sepia tint in which it was photographed is very complimentary to Jeanette MacDonald who has never looked more beautiful. Her voice sings the lovely Friml melodies with verve and tenderness, as the mood dictates and her dancing is graceful. From a melodic standpoint the picture is glorious—just that. And its wealth of romanticism, contributed by story, by its cast enactment and expert directional guidance, assures a full measure of entertainment. As the picture is two hours and fifteen minutes long patrons are advised to be on time. Reserved seats are on sale at the Carolina Hotel and the Carolina Pharmacy.

"Stage Door," the attraction at the Pinehurst Theatre, Monday, November 15th at 3:00 and 8:30 p. m. is a tonic for the mind and spirit. It presents a new Katherine Hepburn, who is marvelous as the stage-struck actress; Ginger Rogers is a delight; Adolphe Menjou is superb, and Andrea Leeds, a new-comer, almost steals the picture. Supporting roles are played by Gail Patrick, Ann Miller, Constance Collier, Lucille Ball and Franklin Pangborn.

"State Door," the attraction at the man beings, presented in a singularly human manner, sparkling with humor in dialogue, situations and characterizations as it mirrors life as life is known to many girls in a theatrical boarding house.

A fine and impressive drama of England's famous Queen Victoria, one with feeling and sincerity, is "Victoria The Great," the attraction at Pinehurst Wednesday, November 17th at 3:00 and 8:30 p. m.

Herbert Wilcox, the director, has produced a picture based on the career of England's favorite queen and reverently dramatized its highlights with the feeling of a man who thoroughly knows and loves his theme. Anna Neagle, as Victoria, gives a sincere, believable performance, which is matched by Anton Walbrook as her lover-husband, Albert.

At Southern Pines

"Completely crazy — downright daffy—and one of the funniest pictures Hollywood has turned out in many a moon," is "Danger, Love at Work," the attraction at the Southern Pines Theatre Monday and Tuesday, November 15, 16, with a Tuesday matinee, according to the critic of Motion Picture Daily who goes on to say that "it scores heavily in laughs and can be tagged for outstanding grosses everywhere."

A cast full of comics are turned loose with a screenplay that gives them free reign. Mary Boland, Jack Haley, (of "Wake Up and Live" fame) and Walter Catlett, get the nod for laugh honors but Ann Sothern, Edward Everett Horton and John Carradine, to mention but a few, press them closely. It seems as though much money makes some

"Womanless Wedding" Huge Success In Vass

Archie M. Calhoun "Married" To Merwyn B. Cox.—$82.68 Realized for School

That the men of Vass are popular was attested by the large crowd that assembled in the Vass-Lakeview school auditorium Thursday evening to witness the "womanless wedding," when Archie M. Calhoun was united in the terrible bonds of matrimony to Merwyn B. Cox, with S. R. Smith performing the ceremony. The wedding "precece" amounted to $82.68, with guests coming from Raleigh, Cameron, Carthage, Manley, Southern Pines, Aberdeen and the entire Vass-Lakeview territory.

A large number of well-known men of the community were in the wedding party. Mayor H. A. Borst and Charles Gschwind, daintily attired in short dresses and bonnets, served as flower girls, strewing autumn leaves in the path of the bride. C. P. McMillan was ring bearer and B. M. Corbett, train bearer. Haywood Howell and A. G. Edwards, Jr., were father and mother of the bride; Joe McRae was the bride's baby sister and was accompanied by John Rosser as his Negro nurse. Henry Borst and Henry Parker as sister and brother of the bride and N. N. McLean and C. L. Tyson as uncle and aunt, completed the list of relatives. Ushers were W. Duncan Matthews and Redga Thomas; bridesmaids, W. E. Gladstone and Julian Smith; best man, Clifton Blue; P. A. Wilson was soloist and Edwin Causey, pianist. Herbert Eastwood was the rejected sweetheart of the bridegroom and Albert Graham and Joseph Matthews were guests at the wedding.

Music by the Melody Makers, Winfrey and Edwin Causey, Marshall McRae and Jesse Briggs, was an enjoyable part of the program. A cake walk ended the evening's fun.

LUCILLE ELMORE AND CHORUS TO SING AT UNION SERVICE

The third in the series of union services by the Baptist Church and the Church of Wide Fellowship will be held next Sunday night at 8:00 o'clock in the Baptist Church. At this time Lucille Elmore and her assistants will present a special program of sacred music. The selections have been especially arranged for this meeting, and are in no way a repetition of the Saturday evening program sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Elmore is a musician of wide reputation and recognized ability, and is excellently supported by the singers who accompany her. It is believed that the evening will be an occasion of real beauty and inspiration. A most cordial invitation to attend is extended to the public.

"CLICQUOT CLUB ESKIMOS" TO PLAN FOR DANCE HERE

Harry Reser and his 13-piece orchestra, the musical aggregation that gained nation-wide fame in the early days of radio broadcasting as "The Clicquot Club Eskimos," and which still holds the record for uninterrupted consecutive broadcasts, will be in Pinehurst next Wednesday night, November 17th, to play for a dance being sponsored by the Pinehurst Fire Department.

This famous orchestra, although no longer on the air for its gingersale sponsor, is frequently heard on the Lucky Strike Hit Parade and is much in demand for movie shorts and dance engagements. Several of their recent short subject movies are being shipped here from Radio City, in New York, and will be shown as part of the regular program at the Carolina theaters in Southern Pines and Pinehurst the first of next week.

The exact place where the dance will be held has not been decided, but the matter will be settled before the end of this week and the announcement made on posters and in newspapers.

people go nuts, and this family has a lot of money.

When a husband is too occupied with outside interests to give any time to his home, has his wife the right to look elsewhere for romance? That is the problem treated by the new Marlene Dietrich picture, "Angel," the attraction at Southern Pines Wednesday and Thursday, November 17, 18, with a Thursday matinee. "Angel" was directed by Ernst Lubitsch and features Herbert Marshall and Melvyn Douglas in top male roles. The production is handsome and lavish, the acting of Miss Dietrich, Herbert Marshall and Melvyn Douglas all that one could ask and the work of the supporting cast is splendid. It's "swell Lubitsch" and it's "swell Dietrich."

Seek Marriage Law in Venereal Disease Fight

Mrs. Highsmith Points to Need of Health Certificates for Both Contracting Parties

A timely commentary on the recent establishment in West Southern Pines of a venereal and tubercular clinic for the enforcement of Senate Bill No. 380, "An Act Requiring The Examination of Domestic Servants," comes in the form of an announcement from the North Carolina State Board of Health to the effect that at the next General Assembly an effort will be made to have an adequate marriage law enacted as a vital part of the state's war on tuberculosis and venereal diseases.

Mrs. Henry J. Highsmith, assistant director of health education of the State Board of Health, calls attention to the fact that North Carolina has practically no laws for safeguarding marriage and the beginning of the home. The present marriage law, she points out, requires only that the male applicant for a marriage license sign an affidavit stating that he has no active tuberculosis or a venereal disease and has not had for two years prior thereto. Nothing whatever—not even a written statement of a similar state of health—is required of the bride.

It is estimated that there are, today, 20,000 children under 15 years of age in North Carolina who have syphilis inherited from infected and neglectful parents, and when it is considered that only about 43 per cent of syphilitic babies live to reach ten years of age, it is safe to say that at least 70,000 other babies were born syphilitic but died in infancy or early childhood. Aside from premature death, blindness, feeble-mindedness, insanity and susceptibility to disease are among the other ravages of the disease and when it is known that 90 per cent of these tragedies could be prevented by a law requiring a Wassermann test for both men and women before marriage and another law requiring the proper treatment of prospective mothers, showing a positive blood test, it becomes immediately apparent why there is tremendously growing public opinion in favor of such legislation.

Connecticut enacted such a law in 1935 and it works and works well. Illinois' law went into effect on July 1st of this year and Michigan followed suit with a similar law that became operative on October 29th. New Hampshire's law becomes effective October 1, 1938 and New Jersey is preparing a bill patterned after the Connecticut law to be introduced in the 1938 legislature.

As evidence of the need of such a law in North Carolina, Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, Secretary of the State Board of Health and State Health Officer, points to the fact that there is an average of 33 new cases of syphilis being reported every day—1,000 a month, or 12,000 a year. A fair estimate of syphilitics places the number in North Carolina at 300,000.

North Carolina will sponsor a marriage license law in the next session of the General Assembly and Dr. Reynolds says that he will press the passage of the bill when the Legislature meets in 1939.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Tompkins of New York are spending this weekend at The Paddock.
