Fellowship Forum To Give Comedy Tonight

Evening of Real Entertainment Promised with "Doin's at the Backwoods Store"

The Fellowship Forum of the Church of Wide Fellowship will present a comedy, "Doin's in the Backwoods Store" by Hiram L. Walker, this evening, Friday, at 8:15, in the assembly room of the church. The cast is as follows:

Pop Pennyworth, proprietor of the backwoods store—Don Jones.

Ralph, his son just out of college—Wilbur P. Whitlock.

Ann Steele, Ralph's childhood sweetheart—Mary Alice Tate.

Ambrose, Pop's delivery boy and helper—Charles Austin.

Stella Wiggins, a widow—Dorothy Tate.

Ike Newton, laden with lumbago—Molford F. Grantham.

Mandy Witherspoon, who runs the boardin' house—Blanche Sherman Minnie and Winnie Oops, the harmony twins, Evelyn Edson and Louise Gardner.

Miss Lucille Lernem, a professional amateur play coach—Iris Tate.

Frank Tripper, a traveling salesman—Robert Henderson.

George W. Spears, a stranger from the city—Charles Boney.

The production is directed by Algene E. Hoskins. She is assisted by Pauline Poe, in charge of make-up and costumes; Lois H. Hall, prompter; Dwight Hoskins, stage manager; Ruth Burr Sanborn, publicity.

The play promises an evening of real entertainment. It is itself a hilarious farce, and the cast is admirably chosen for ability to represent the comic characters of a backwoods community in still more comic predicaments. Admission for adults is 25 cents and for children, a very small price per laugh. Tickets are on sale by members of the Forum. The number is limited.
