ASSOCIATION FOR CHILDHOOD EDUCATION MEETING HELD

Members of Southern Pines-Pinehurst Unit of the Association for Childhood Education held their fourth meeting Wednesday, March 16, at the Southern Pines School.

After their business meeting, the A. C. E. members had the pleasure of listening to a talk on Creative Art by their guest speaker, Miss Lila Bell of the Raleigh Schools.

Miss Bell's talk concerned creative art among school children, and her points were illustrated by many excellent examples from North Carolina classrooms. It proved to be a very enjoyable as well as instructive lecture. The talk was followed by an informal round table discussion.

The subject of art was a most timely one as it preceded the Colonial Art Exhibit of Famous Pictures which will be held in the Southern Pines School Auditorium during the week of March 27th.

N. Y. Times Reviewer Praises Boyd Novel

First Editions of "Bitter Creek" Now On Sale at Hayes Book Shop

"For the scene of this, the fifth of his American historical novels, the author of "Drums" has chosen the Northwest at its moment of greatest exhilaration," says the New York Times reviewer, Horace Reynolds, of James Boyd's "Bitter Creek," published this week. First edition copies are now on sale at the Sandhills Bookshop.

"This is a good story with a lot of the old narrative ease about it," writes Mr. Reynolds. "The early picturesque chapters, for all that the boy is running, not walking away, suggest the sunny literature of the open road. The boy's combat in the cave with the slithery villain is good Mark Twain. Reading the Western chapters one remembers "The Virginian," the scenes in Greasewood City's saloons bring to mind such bits of almost forgotten Western barroom speech as, "I owes it to my patriotism to paint my innards with a Mountain Twister. Bring down the blue bottle!" Fantastic? Of course, but the West of the Seventies was fantastic. Seldom in history can impulse have ridden more high, wide and handsome.

"Here are romance and adventure; humor, wit, frontier chivalry and homely philosophy of life; strong relish for character and the action which makes it manifest, the pathos of good men dying well, the poetic justice of evil defeated, the last minute revelation which clears up what has hitherto been hard to understand. But it is adventure and romance tempered by thought, formed and expressed with reserve and skill." The hero is stubborn and essentially egotistic; the heroine's charm is not in her face.

Byron Nelson Wins North-South Open

Posts 72-Hole Total of 280 for $1,000 First Money.—Horton Smith's 282 is 2nd

Firing two sup-par rounds of 70-71 yesterday, to add to his already submarine total of 139, tall Byron Nelson, the youthful Reading, Pa. professional, came in the winner last evening in the 37th United North & South Open Golf Championship that has been under way this week at the Pinehurst Country Club, with a 72-hole total of 280, eight strokes under par for the distance.

Close behind Nelson, at 282, was Horton Smith, the Joplin (Mo.) Ghost, who added rounds of 68-72 yesterday to his previous total of 71-71-142.

In a two way tie for third and fourth place were Slammin' Sammy Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, Va., the leading money winner on the professional circuits this year, and Handsome Dick Metz, the original hard luck kid of golfdom, whose brilliant golf for the past year or so has had little chance to make itself known because of various and sundry seiges of hospitalization the Chicago youth has undergone. Both posted 72-hole totals of 286.
