May I use your Telephone?

Hitch-hiking no longer enjoys the popularity it once did—especially from the motorist's point of view. It's not so dependable either, most motorists speed right on past. How often has your neighbor wished he could speed right on by, when you have borrowed his telephone?

Aside from the possibility of "overdoing a good thing" and making a lot of trouble for your neighbor—you just can't depend upon his being home when you really need a telephone. Not to say anything about the trouble and inconvenience to which you put yourself.

You too need a telephone
