GIRLS WILL BE BOYS

Girls will be boys. Or it looks that way.

It's getting to be the exception when you can walk along the streets of Southern Pines these days and not pass a long-panted lassie. It prompts us to second the motion of the Yale Daily News, which recently editorialized:

"There, revealed before our eyes, is the story of an activity so subversive as to stagger the imagination. We call on the President to hurry to the nearest fireside and declare a national emergency. The women must be deprived of their pants.

"This country was founded on the principle that women constituted a weaker sex and dedicated to the proposition that a woman's place was in a skirt. It is indeed a sad commentary on the inherent treachery of women that in this hour of trial mankind should be cruelly stabbed from behind in its most vulnerable spot, its collective pants. "We of the News feel that while the situation is desperate all is not yet lost if the men of Yale will take a firm stand on this all-important question. It is a fight to the last flannel, and may the best tweed win."

SOLVING THE UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM

Putting the country on its feet after the Depression of the early thirties is one of the principal pampaign boasts of the Roosevelt administration. Let's take a look at some Unemployment figures which are close to home.

The North Carolina Unemployment Compensation Commission reports this week that it has distributed $16,370,462 to unemployed and partially unemployed workers of North Carolina in the 33 months of benefit payments.

From the Sanford office alone—Moore county is covered by this office — 35,691 checks have been sent out to unemployed, totaling $211,834. Nearly 2,000 checks went forth last month. And these totals do not include benefits to colored people.

Is solving the unemployment problem at the expense of the taxpayer solving the unemployment problem?

TAXATION BEGINS TO TELL

American businesses and individuals are now betting a taste of the higher taxation that has finally become inevitable. Earlier this session Congress raised income tax rates in all brackets and lowered exemptions, in order to bring into the fold thousands of low-bracket citizens who had never paid direct Federal taxes before. Congress has agreed on still another tax bill, levying substantially heavier taxes against industry, particularly in the matter of excess profits.

Our taxes are now the highest in our history. Even so, the revenue resulting will be far from adequate to pay for what we are spending. The answer to that is more deficit-financing — which simply amounts to charging tomorrow's bills against tomorrow's income. No economist believes that the tax boosts so far approved by Congress are anything but a modest beginning. In coming sessions further increases, more severe than anything we have ever known, will in all probability be passed. Only a miracle, which would raise the national income far beyond any

Dr. Medlin Champion of Yadkin Golf Club

His 280 Wins Annual Tournament by Close Margin Over Frank McCaskill

The annual Yadkin Club golf championship was won this year by Dr. E. M. Medlin of Aberdeen. Dr. Medlin's net score for four rounds of medal play was 280. Frank McCaskill of Pinehurst was a threat to the winner all through the tournament, but the doctor's ever rolling drives, brilliant recovery shots, and superb putting skill left Frank five strokes behind at the finish.

Both Dr. Medlin and Mr. McCaskill received medals. Prizes were given Herbert Vail and Dr. T. A. Cheat-ham, who finished third and fourth with scores of 287 and 289. Saturday and Sunday, October 19 and 20 will bring out many golfers who will try to finish their summer golf by winning one of the prizes donated by the Pinehurst Country Club for a blind bogey tournament to be played on the popular No. 1 course. Anyone who plays either Saturday or Sunday is invited to enter this event. No entry fee will be charged. There will also be a blind bogey event for the ladies on the same days.

DR. OVERCASH'S FATHER ILL SEVERAL MONTHS, DIES

L. K. Overcash, 80, retired cabinet manufacturer, died Tuesday night in Pinecrest Manor Sanatorium here, following several months of failing health. Mr. Overcash was a native of Statesville and spent his life there. His wife, the former Miss Alice Alexander, died two years ago.

Surviving are two sons and two daughters. H. B. Overcash of Hampden-Sydney, Va., and Dr. W. E. Overcash of Southern Pines, and Misses Margaret and Luola Overcash of Statesville.

reasonable expectation, could change the outlook.

No one doubts the need of spending for defense. The American people will not be chary of dollars when their liberties are threatened. But certainly the American people are entitled to demand a degree of efficiency in government greater than any we know today or have known in the past. Efficiency means, of course, getting the most weapons and material for each defense dollar expended. More than this, it means carrying on the other necessary government activities at minimum cost. It means the elimination of any activity which does not fall into the essential category. It means cutting a few thousand dollars off the appropriation for small departments no less than cutting millions off the appropriations for the big departments.

Higher taxes mean sacrifices for all the people. We will be able to afford fewer luxuries—and we shall have to make the most out of the necessities. It is the duty of Government to see that the people's sacrifice is not in vain—that, in short, it gets 100 percent value in return.

Grains of Sand

October 9th was a big day in the Gschwind home in Vass.

Paul Gschwind observed his 80th birthday, which was also the birth-days of his grandson, Paul Laubscher, and his great grandson, Johnny Laubscher.

A native of Switzerland, Mr. Gschwind came to Vass from New York City some 40 years ago, and as "The Dutchman," was soon firmly established in the regard of the older citizens of the town, most of whom have already passed on. He is still active and always ready to do anything possible to accommodate a friend.

There might just as well be no election in Moore county. Nobody'd dare vote for Willkie after the letter in last week's Sandhill Citizen by E. D. McLean of Aberdeen.

"It's hard to see how a red-blooded American could vote for a fifth columnist son, pure-blooded German," Mr. McLean wrote. "Kiss the German cow if you choose. It's your privilege whoever desires."

Have you asked the F. B. I. to investigate this fellow Willkie, Mr. McLean? Sounds like a spy, to us.

"Every time Bruce begins shaving with his electric razor, Jerry starts singing," observed Mrs. J. B. Cameron of Manley to a caller who had asked questions in regard to the canary's singing.

To try him out, Mrs. Cameron set the razor buzzing. Although Jerry had not chirped a note since the arrival of the guest, he immediately burst into song.

"What's My Name?" asked A. B. Atkins in the following letter printed in the Sandhill Citizen of Aberdeen last week:

I was born in New York in a great mansion. I never knew what work was or is, and neither did my father. However, I know more about your work or business than you do. As a boy I had two or more nurses and a governess to answer and satisfy my every whim. During the last war when most men of my age took up arms for my country, through pull I received a cushion job as Assistant Secretary of the Navy (that an older and more experienced man could have filled better). I practiced law in Wall Street, defending "bucket shops." I joined just two business ventures, both of them proving 100 per cent losses to investors long before the collapse of 1929. I served four years as Governor of a great State and wrecked its finances. I have served eight years as President of the great, est nation in the world and now have it in the worst mess in its history. While my wife, sons, and daughter, through the prestige of my office, have made a fortune, I now want to continue myself and family in office forever. What's my name?

A lot of the old timers hung around the Draft registration headquarters Wednesday, acting as if they were about to go in—hoping passersby would think they were under 36.

Many Come, See and Buy at Opening of New Curb Market

Attractive Building in Southern Pines With Ample Show Space, Pleases Farm Women

Many visitors went to look and remained to buy when they attended the formal opening of the Home Demonstration Curb Market in the commodious new building next to the Trade Store in Southern Pines Saturday, and along with the new customers were many who long ago learned of the values in flowers and farm produce fresh from the country which the home demonstration club women offer from week to week. The women are delighted with their new place, for in addition to having ample space in which to display their wares, which include everything imaginable from the farm, there is plenty of room for customers to stand and chat and the friendly atmosphere of the place is one of its outstanding charms.

The Curb Market is governed by a market committee and the home agent, and special rules and regulations are established. No effort is made to undersell the local stores, but prices are kept in line with those prevailing in town. There is no delivery service and no curb market seller is allowed to peddle her products on the streets on curb market days. The market is kept open from 8:00 a. m. until 1:00 p. m. in order to give employed persons an opportunity to shop during the noon hour. Each seller turns in five per cent of her receipts for the upkeep of the market.

During the almost ten years since the Curb Market was organized, thousands of dollars have been realized by the farm women from their surplus fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs and flowers.

WILLING WORKERS TO MEET

The Willing Workers of the Baptist Church will meet on Tuesday afternoon, October 22d at 3:00 o'clock at the church, with Miss Ann Huntington and Mrs. Ralph Mills acting as joint hostesses.

Slot Machines Out

They Mysteriously Disappear After Judge Orders Sheriff To Seize Them

Slot machines have disappeared mysteriously from nooks and corners in Moore county, after doing a flourishing business in nickles and dimes for some time.

A superior Court order was received by Sheriff C. J. McDonald to seize them as illegal, but apparently little birds flew around the county and warned the operators that something was brewing, for the Sheriff found them all missing when he started on his rounds.

VASS WOMANS CLUB MEETS AT HOME OF MRS. MATTHEWS

The Vass Woman's Club met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Bertie L. Matthews with Mrs. C. J. Temple, Mrs. C. L. Tyson, Mrs. W. T. Cox and Mrs. Leon Crutchfield as associate hostesses.

Mrs. Charles Gschwind of the public welfare department had charge of the program, which was presented by Mrs. W. J. Cameron, Mrs. H. C. Callahan, Mrs. S. R. Smith and Mrs. W. P. Parker.

It was reported that the club had sponsored a shower of household goods and food for a colored family whose home had been burned and that more than 1000 quarts of fruits and vegetables had been canned in the club-sponsored WPA canning project for use in the school lunch room.

Mrs. P. A. Wilson, Mrs. W. B. Graham, Mrs. C. J. Temple, Mrs. B. M. Corbett, Mrs. A. K. Thompson and Mrs. S. R. Smith gave interesting sidelights of the recent district meeting in Lillington which they attended.

Two contests were enjoyed during the social hour and prizes were awarded Mrs. H. A. Borst and Mrs. Odell Oldham, Mrs. D. C. McGill and Mrs. S. F. Smith. The hostesses served refreshments.

Training Course For Girl Scouts Oct. 24, 25

Helen Gillord, Field Adviser, To Conduct Two-Day Program at Country Club

Miss Helen Gillard, Field Adviser of Region VI and National Camp Director of the Girl Scouts, will hold a Leaders' Training Course at the Southern Pines Country Club on October 24th and 25th for Girl Scout leaders and committee members from the Sandhills and neighboring communities.

The public is particularly invited to attend the meeting on Thursday evening. At this meeting Miss Gillard will explain the Girl Scout program after which there will be a general discussion.

The program for the two days is as follows: 2:30 Thursday afternoon. Session for new leaders and committee members; 8:00 Thursday evening. General meeting; 10:30, Friday morning. Intermediate program; 2:30 Friday afternoon. Brownie program; 8:00 Friday evening. Senior program.

CARD PARTY TONIGHT

The Catholic Daughters will have a card party and social tonight, Friday night, at 8:00 o'clock, at their new hall at No. 9 N. E. Broad street, Mrs. Irving and Mrs. DeBerry acting as co-hostesses.
