GOVERNOR TO ADDRESS STATE FORESTERS HERE

On Saturday morning's program will be J. L. Skinner, executive secretary of the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners, who will discuss "Forestry and its Importance in County Government"; W. J. Damtoft, president, Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association, "Forestry in the Pulpwood Industry," and Dr. J. E. Foster, of the State Agricultural Experiment Station, "Forestry and Grazing."

For Saturday afternoon a field trip and inspection tour through the Goodwin plantation, just out from Carthage, has been arranged. This plantation features, aside from the varied plantings, selective cuttings, thinnings, prunings, and other silvicultural items of interest to the timberland owners. Arrangements have been made, through the courtesy of Judge W. A. Way, owner of the Carolina Orchid Growers, for those persons in attendance at the convention to secure passes for a tour through his orchid establishment, located on the Pinehurst-Southern Pines highway.

More than a dozen very attractive exhibits have been engaged for display in the lobby of the hotel.

Theatre

Each new Bette Davis vehicle is an event, and "The Great Lie," the attraction at Pinehurst, Sunday night, April 27th and Monday, April 28th, at 3:00 and 8:30 p. m., is no exception. Indeed it is as fine as anything she has ever done, and while it will be accorded enthusiastic praise on the part of women, it will also please men who seek the finest in entertainment. Oddly enough, the picture belongs to Mary Astor for hers is the meatiest role, and she plays it to the hilt. This, however, does not detract from the quality of Miss Davis' performance, which she enacts with the customary depth and persuasion that have won her special acclaim on numerous occasions. Co-star George Brent, is completely satisfactory, while Hattie McDaniel deserves credit for a characterization in line with her exceptional talents.

James Roosevelt's long heralded first production, "Pot O' Gold" is the attraction at Pinehurst Wednesday, April 30th, at 3:00 and 8:30 p. m. Horace Heidt and his orchestra, featured in the film, form one of the most popular of America's dance bands. The "Pot O' Gold" program has one of the largest radio listening followings on the air. James Stewart and Paulette Goddard, the stars, have respectively a recently collected Academy Award for the best performance of 1940, and a recent role in "The Great Dictator" to make their names most prominent in the screen world. The picture itself is a fast-stepping, laugh provoking, song laden concoction, light but highly entertaining screen fare.

That thrill you got the first time you heard a melody come out of the earphones of your crystal set twenty years ago will be amplified a dozen times by the thrill you'll get reliving that experience with Alice Faye, John Payne, Jack Oakie and Cesar Romero, in "The Great American Broadcast," the attraction at Pinehurst, Friday, May 2nd at 3:00 and 8:30 p. m. Just as "Tin Pan Alley" took you behind the scenes of the song-writing business, so will "The Great American Broadcast" initiate you into the gay, tuneful story of the courageous, talented people who first filled the airways with song and laughter. It's an intensely moving story that's told the tale of the enterprising foursome unfolded to the accompaniment of songs laughter and specialty numbers which combine to make it an outstanding musical film. With the sensational dance routines of the famed Nicholas Brothers; the inimitable comedy turns of the Wiere Brothers; and the unforgettable renditions of Radio's own, "The Four Inkspots," the film hits new entertainment heights.

Return engagements of outstanding attractions fill the week at Southern Pines, with Bert Wheeler, Constance Moore and Phil Regan in "Las Vegas Night" on Monday and Tuesday, April 28, 29, with a Tuesday matinee; followed by Merle Oberon, Melvyn Douglas and Burgess Meredith in Ernst Lubitsch's production, "That Uncertain Feeling," on Wednesday and Thursday, April 30th and May 1st, with a Thursday matinee, and with the return engagement of Charlie Chaplin's "The Great Dictator" on Friday and Saturday, May 2, 3, with a Saturday matinee.
