the Norfolk and Southern Railroad at Lakey's Sliding about a mile east of town. His other brother is in the lumber business at Ulah between here and Asheboro. The Hammond Brothers were very successful when in business here. They know their lumber and timber.

Marriages
The following marriages have been reported as taking place over the state line in South Carolina:
Clifton Garner of Hemp and Miss Dotty Sandy of Samarand were married at Bennettsville, S. C., Sunday. Mr. Garner is the son of Claud Garner at Vass and is manager of the Green Top Cafe in Hemp.
Fletcher Garner of Vass and Miss Catharine Maness of Eagle Springs were married Sunday in Bennettsville, S. C. Mr. Garner is the son of Claude Garner at Vass. Miss Maness is the daughter of Jesse Maness of Eagle Springs.
Edward Johnson of Newport News, Va., and Miss Wilmer Biby of Route 3, Carthage, were married Sunday in Cheraw, S. C.

Our Boys in the Army
Among the young men who left Hemp for Fort Bragg last week, Stacy Brewer, Jr., and Herman Maness have been heard from. They are in a camp in Wyoming. Quite a distance from home but they seemed to be happy judging from their messages.

The High School split a double header in the basket ball game with Farm Life last Friday night. The game was played in Hemp in the Community Center building.

Tabernacle Church
While passing Tabernacle church Sunday we took notice of the number of automobiles in front of the church that were used to bring the worshippers to the services. Then our thoughts turned back to fifty-five years ago when we attended church here. At that time the church yard was full of horses and wagons and possibly a few side saddles could be seen. We dare say there were as many horses and wagons at that time as there were automobiles Sunday. Those were days when people really worshiped God and meant it. No organ or piano but some good brother would raise a tune with a tuning fork and the melody that was brought forth from the old time songs would make you feel that you were near the Lord. We wonder if history will repeat itself during these times, and if we shall live to see the horse and buggy days return.

The three-store building being erected by G. B. Williams is rapidly nearing completion and will be occupied by Moffitt Grocery, Monroe's Barber Shop and W. J. Dunlap, Jeweler.

The Presbyterian Church is undergoing a general remodeling. A new Sunday School room is being added and the front of the church will have an entirely different appearance when completed. $7,500 is being spent for this improvement and when finished will not only be a credit to its members, but to the town also.

Shields Timber Sold
The much coveted tract of timber known as "The Shields Timber" has been sold to G. B. Williams at a price something like ten thousand dollars. This probably is the best tract of timber to be found in the county and many saw mill men have endeavored to buy it, but Mr. Williams was probably the highest bidder and it is said by those who know that it was a good buy.

Back to His First Love
Bascom Hammond who was in the lumber business here with his brother until they sold out sometime ago to G. B. Williams has again embarked in the lumber business. Mr. Hammond is erecting a planing mill on
