

Pilot Will Observe 22nd Birthday in New Offices

Each year brings new changes. In the Annual Edition of THE PILOT, last year, published November 14, 1941, the front page featured a picture of THE PILOT'S new Michle V-36 job press. This year, in the Annual Edition, a picture of the new office addition to its old building. The concrete brick addition will house the editorial and business offices of THE PILOT, and connects with the old building, which is entirely devoted to the printing plant.

Pilot Now Occupies New Office Building

James Boyd Acquires Jellison Property and Builds Addition for Use by THE PILOT

Next month, THE PILOT will observe the 22nd anniversary of its founding and its birthday will be marked mainly by its use of a new addition to its present location and the "sprucing up" of the north side of Pennsylvania avenue, between West Broad street and Bennett.

With THE PILOT'S effort to continue to improve its commercial printing facilities and its newspaper publishing endeavor, it was found that the brick building into which the business had moved in March, 1941, was inadequate. James Boyd, president of The Pilot, Inc., and publisher of THE PILOT, purchased the adjoining lot and began erection this fall of a new concrete block addition, to house the offices and editorial rooms of THE PILOT. Upon completion of this addition, he purchased from S. R. Jellison the adjoining building, so that the entire properties of THE PILOT are now housed in buildings owned by the publisher.

Meanwhile, Frank Welch, operator of the Belvedere Hotel, became owner of the vacant lot between THE PILOT and Eddy's studio and he, with the aid of a couple of laborers, got to work on this old lot, which was overgrown and some filled with trash collected over a period of years. With Mr. Welch closely supervising, the lot was cleaned up, plants and shrubs planted and the hedge trimmed down to a somewhat respectable level.

Golfers to Compete in Scotch Foursome

Pairings for Event Between Sandpipers and Pine Dodgers Announced; Play Sunday

Pairings for the first Scotch foursome of the season at the Southern Pines Country Club have been made for the play to begin at 1:30 p. m. Sunday, November 22, at the club, among members of the Sandpipers Club and the Pine Dodgers.

Crowell with Arthur Atherton; Miss Katherine Wiley with James Schwartz; Mrs. R. F. Tarlton with Morris Johnson; Mrs. W. C. Reardon with A. B. Patterson; Mrs. A. S. Hart with Bert Weatherspoon; Mrs. Stuart Wood with Gordon Keith; Miss Erma Fisher with N. L. Hodgkins; Mrs. Harold Greenman with E. C. Evans; and Mrs. Elmer Harrington with Roy Grinnell.

ANNUAL EDITION

This week THE PILOT presents its regular Annual Edition, devoted especially to the firms and people of the Sandhills and their progress chiefly during the past two decades. Featured considerably in the 1942 Annual Edition is the relationship between the Sandhills and the various branches of the Armed Forces which are now in our section. Extra copies will be available of this edition at THE PILOT office on West Pennsylvania avenue at the regular price. THE PILOT will wrap and mail copies anywhere in the country for this price. Because the number of extra copies is limited, those desiring them are advised to obtain them early.

Local Women Begin Bond, Stamp Drive

Mrs. N. L. Hodgkins Heads Campaign in this County; Mrs. Pearson in So. Pines

Next week, November 22 to 28, is "Women at War Week" and Moore County women will join with women all over the country in an intensive drive for the sale of War Stamps and Bonds.

Mrs. P. P. McCain of Sanatorium, director of Region Nine for the Women's Division of the State War Savings Staff, has appointed Mrs. N. L. Hodgkins of Southern Pines County Chairman of the drive and Miss Flora McDonald of Carthage is serving as Vice-Chairman.

Meeting at the home of Mrs. Hodgkins Tuesday afternoon a group of women from all over the County made plans for the drive next week. Mrs. Harlow Pearson was appointed Southern Pines Chairman and will be assisted by Mrs. J. J. Spring, Mrs. Guy H. Whittall, Mrs. E. V. Perkinson, Mrs. Carl Thompson, Jr. and Miss Katherine Wiley.

A booth will be set up in the Citizens Bank & Trust Company next week with someone on duty all day, for the sale of bonds and stamps.

Girl Scouts will assist the committee by selling stamps on the street next Saturday and school children are urged to buy all the stamps they can next week.

Mrs. W. P. Saunders is chairman of the drive in Hemp; Mrs. M. C. McDonald in West End, and Miss Mary Page in Aberdeen. Any stamps or bonds purchased next week, regardless of where or from whom, will be credited to the "Women at War."

THANKSGIVING ISSUE

In order to give THE PILOT staff and shop force a holiday next Thursday, THE PILOT will be printed next Wednesday instead of Thursday. Thanksgiving Day. Correspondents, contributors, advertisers, and all others with news or notices for next week's issue are advised that the deadline will be 12 noon on Wednesday, November 25. THE PILOT force will appreciate your cooperation.

Red Cross Gets New Room; Seeks Workers

New Officers Make Appeal to Women to Assist; Work Quarters in Hart Building

New work rooms for the Southern Pines branch of the Moore County Red Cross will be opened Monday, November 23, in the Hart Building, over Broad Street Pharmacy, for the sewing and knitting workers, it was announced this week by Mrs. Edith H. Mudgett, new branch chairman.

These sewing and knitting rooms are being contributed to the Red Cross by Mrs. R. L. Hart, now of Reidsville, and they will be open daily from 10 a. m. to noon and from 2 to 4:30 p. m. Wool will still be distributed at the fire house by Mrs. Frank Kaylor, who also will give knitting instruction. The Straka building will still be headquarters for local surgical dressing work.

Appeal for Workers

In making these new arrangements, the new officers, Mrs. Mudgett, Mrs. L. T. Avery, vice-chairman; and Mrs. G. H. Whittall, secretary-treasurer, as well as the department chairmen, issued the following appeal to "all the women of Southern Pines":

"If you can sew, knit or roll bandage, your Red Cross needs you!"

"There was a time when such work could be optional. Today it is a duty. The garments we sew or knit now go to those in dire need. The facts about surgical dressings are startling and compelling. Commercial houses can furnish only a small percentage of our military needs. The balance must be made by you and other women all over the country—if our army is to be adequately supplied.

"The local branch of the Red Cross is a well-organized, well-equipped unit, with a good record for past achievement. To better that record, to redouble our efforts to meet the emergency, the crying need is for more workers.

"This is an appeal to the women of Southern Pines who are not a part of that group—to newcomers, to residents who have been busy about other things. Join us in the work rooms. Your Red Cross needs you!"

Pinedodgers to Play Tourney on Tuesday

The weekly tournament of The Pine Dodgers will be run off Tuesday, November 24, at the Southern Pines Country Club, in a best six out of nine competition. Those wishing to take part may play either in the morning or afternoon.

A lunch will be served at the Club about 12:30 p. m. for those taking part. Pairings for the tournament are as follows: Mrs. A. S. Hart, Mrs. George Moore, Mrs. K. B. Trousdel; Mrs. H. A. Page, Mrs. W. E. Reardon, Mrs. H. B. Greenman; Mrs. Roy Grinnell, Mrs. Charles B. Crowell, Miss Barbara Betterley; Mrs. Stuart Wood, Miss Eleanor Barron, Mrs. Elmer Harrington; Mrs. Charles W. Picquet, Miss Laura Kelsey.

Mrs. Reardon was winner of the blind bogey tournament held last week by the Pine Dodgers.

Ways of Nazis Personally Experienced by County's New Red Cross Chairman

Ives Worked for Years in Areas Now Scenes of World's Big Battles

To the new chairman of the Moore County Chapter of the American Red Cross, the requisites of diplomacy, executive ability and understanding of the humane aims of the organization should come naturally. Ernest Linwood Ives, a Virginian by birth, has had nearly 30 years experience in the U. S. Diplomatic service, and most of that time was spent in places which are now the major hot-spots of the world, creating a heavier and heavier demand upon the services of the Red Cross.

Algeria—which American forces have brought into news headlines during this week, with their taking command of the situation there—was Mr. Ives' place for duty for three years, 1933-36, and in his mind he's able to follow about every move our forces are making. He and Mrs. Ives lived only two blocks from the French Governor-General's palace in Algeria.

"I'm thrilled with what Americans are doing," he said, "and am sorry I'm not there now. It's a swell job. One thing, the American boys are going to have a fine climate for the winter. It's something like the Sandhills climate over there."

Personal Effects Bombed

And if Mr. Ives should speak of the effects of war—this war—on civilian population and innocent bystanders, he would have some personal knowledge of which he talks. Almost all of the Ives' personal effects were completely destroyed in a Nazi bombing over Belfast, Northern Ireland, during May 5 and 6, 1941. Three vans of personal belongings, irreplaceable items collected over a period of about a quarter of a century, were loaded on a dock at Belfast, ready to be shipped to this country. The Nazi came over and dropped their bombs. The entire load was destroyed.

The efficient and essential work of the Red Cross is not new to Mr. Ives. During the last war he was assigned in Germany and when the United States declared war in 1917, he was transferred to Paris where he remained until 1923. During this period in Paris, he had many official connections with the American Red Cross working in France and was impressed with the quality and extent of the Red Cross work.

Although officially retired from service, something like Army officers are retired, Mr. Ives is still on call from the State Department, in case he is needed. It looks as if this call won't come anytime soon, though, he says, because there are plenty of State Department men on active duty who have been made available for new assignments because of the war with the Axis powers.

In the course of his career as foreign service officer, Mr. Ives was sent, in turn, from Germany to Budapest, Hungary, in 1917, to Paris, (Continued on Page Eight)

Mrs. Holabird Dies; Services in Chicago

Resident Here Since 1933 Passes After Period of Illness; Was 86 Years Old

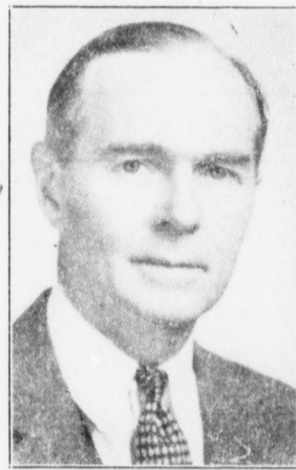

Mrs. William Holabird, resident of Southern Pines since 1933, died here Wednesday evening, after a period of ill health. She was 86 years old.

Brief services were conducted at Sandhills Funeral Home Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock by the Rev. F. Craighill Brown. Funeral and interment will be in Chicago, Ill., Saturday, former home of Mrs. Holabird.

Mrs. Holabird had been making her home in Southern Pines with her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Towne. A native of Oregon she and the late Mr. Holabird, an architect, made their home in Chicago. She was the daughter of the late Major General and Mrs. C. C. Auger.

Surviving, besides Mrs. Towne, are another daughter, Mrs. William Trebbank of Washington and a son, John Holabird, Chicago architect, and a grandson, Auger Towne, now of the U. S. Army.

Local Church Loses Taylor in January

Pastor of Church of Wide Fellowship Resigns; Second Minister to Leave Here

The Rev. Voigt O. Taylor, for over six years connected with the Church of Wide Fellowship, this week submitted his resignation as pastor of the Church to enter the itinerary of the Methodist Church. His resignation is effective as of January 1.

Mr. Taylor's resignation brings to two the losses of Southern Pines pastors made known during the week. The congregation of the Brownson Memorial Presbyterian Church last Sunday accepted the resignation of the Rev. E. L. Barber, who has served as pastor of the Bethesda Presbyterian Church since 1930 and in 1936 founded the Brownson Memorial Church. His resignation becomes effective December 15, when he will leave for Metter, Ga., to become superintendent of Home Missions for Savannah Presbytery.

A third loss of ministers in the Sandhills was the transferring by the Methodist Conference of Dr. S. A. Maxwell, pastor of the Aberdeen-Vass churches. Dr. Maxwell left last Sunday to answer the call to the Calvary Methodist Church in Durham. He is succeeded by the Rev. Daniel Lane, formerly of Roanoke Rapids.

Since October, 1936, when he assisted the Rev. C. Rexford Raymond, his predecessor at the Church of Wide Fellowship, Mr. Taylor has been active with the church and in September, 1937, he was made full-time pastor. His resignation will be considered at a Church meeting this Sunday. In entering the itinerant service of the Methodist Church, Mr. Taylor will be subject to assignment by the Methodist Conference. There has been no indication as to his successor here. The Church of Wide Fellowship is associated with the Congregational-Christian Church, but the Church does not confine its selection of pastors to ministers within that organization.

A graduate of Duke University, Mr. Taylor continued his studies at Columbia University in New York and has been commended for his work with the local church. He and Mrs. Taylor have been active, not only in the Church, but in the community since making their home here. They have two children.

FUEL OIL DEADLINE

The Moore County War Price and Ration Board this week declared that all applications for fuel oil and kerosene for domestic use and agricultural uses should be submitted to the Board by November 21. Dealers and distributors were notified not to accept so-called "promissory notes" or "certificates of sale" after that date and not to make deliveries without necessary coupons. George H. Maurice, chairman of the board, also announced that from Thursday, November 19, through Thursday, November 26, the offices of the Board will be closed every afternoon after 3 p. m.

Tuberculosis Group Preparing to Launch Its 1942 Seal Sale

Local Chairmen Named for Christmas Drive; Association Meets Fri.

The battle against tuberculosis continues, war or no war, and this week the Moore County Tuberculosis Association is completing plans for the annual Christmas Seal sale to raise funds to carry on the work of the group.

With a fine record of work established during this past year, and previously, the Association will be seeking to achieve and surpass the record seal sale funds of $2,521.94 of last fall.

In charge of the seal sale campaigns in the various towns of Moore County will be the following chairmen, to work under direction of Mrs. T. A. Cheatham of Pinehurst, county chairman:

Seal Sale Chairmen

Mrs. J. B. Edwards, Aberdeen; Mrs. H. C. McPherson, Cameron; Mrs. Myrtle Cecil, Eagle Springs; Miss Mary Black, Eureka; Mrs. R. H. Dowd, Glendon; Mrs. E. A. West, Hemp; Miss Lucy Reynolds, High Falls; Miss Lola Carter, Jackson Springs; Mrs. Whelan Blue, Manly; Mrs. G. P. Jones, Mount Holly Club; Miss Florence Fowle, Pinebluff; Mrs. Max von Schlegel and Mrs. Chester Mitchell, Samarand; A. B. Paterson, Southern Pines; Mrs. S. R. Smith and Mrs. Raymond Johnson, Vass-Lakeview; Mrs. Lucy R. Cochran, West End; the Rev. W. L. Worford, Carthage.

P. R. Brown, principal of West Southern Pines school will head a Negro committee in the county for the seal sale and other members are Mrs. Edna Taylor, secretary; Cecil Flag, treasurer; Mrs. Dorca G. Dowdy, Mrs. B. F. Barnes and G. L. Turner. The County association will meet Friday, November 20, at the home of Mrs. Cheatham in Pinehurst, at 10:30 a. m., for report of the year's activities. Among the accomplishments of the county association, which is supported by funds from the seal drive, in addition to an appropriation by the County Commissioners, was a county-wide tuberculosis clinic, conducted in June, when 363 individuals were examined. In this, the association was assisted by the Red Cross Nurses Aides and the Motor Corps. High School children were also examined for any signs of tuberculosis.

Conducted Clinic

The Association, besides caring for an average of 12 patients receiving treatment at State Sanatorium, looks after incurable cases, not admitted to the Sanatorium, those awaiting admittance and many who have returned from the hospital but need careful attention for full recuperation. In this work, the association provides cod liver oil, milk, and other essentials to the complete recovery of the patients.

Mrs. Cheatham, in emphasizing the importance of the seal sale this year, quoted Mrs. J. Melville Broughton, wife of the Governor, who is serving as State chairman for the drive:

"This year, Christmas seal sale takes on added significance because of war conditions. Tuberculosis must be dealt with as an enemy to America's program of victory through strength. Christmas seals are the ammunition for this battle."

BYRNE HUEBER DIES AT SYRACUSE, N. Y.

Word was received here last Friday of the death of Byrne V. Hueber of Syracuse, N. Y., husband of the former Miss Betty Scott of Southern Pines. Funeral services were conducted Monday morning at the Hueber home in Fayetteville, N. Y., just outside of Syracuse, and Mass was said at the local church by Father Hueber of Chicago, an uncle of the deceased.

Mr. Hueber was well-known in Southern Pines, he and Mrs. Hueber having often visited her mother, Mrs. Clara A. Scott, and sister, Mrs. Carl G. Thompson and Mr. Thompson, who left Friday for Syracuse. Besides his widow, surviving are one daughter, Betty Ann, his mother, and several brothers and sisters. Death was caused by a heart attack.
