Summarizes Book

The Rev. Roscoe Prince gave a brief but most interesting and helpful summary of the study book which the Woman's Auxiliary of the Community Church is studying. The title of the book is "Unfolding Drama in Southeast Asia," by Basil Mathews. Mr. Mathews, from 1932 to 1944, spent half of each year in the U. S. A. as professor of Christian World Relations at the Boston School of Theology and the Andover-Newton Theological School. This is a most timely book as its background covers so much of the Philippines, Borneo, the Gilberts, and Solomon Islands where warfare is being waged.

FAVORITE RECIPES OF STATE NOW AVAILABLE

"Favorite Recipes of North Carolina", a 128-page book containing 340 recipes, will be ready for distribution to the dairies of the State the latter part of this week, according to Commissioner of Agriculture W. Kerr Scott.

Sponsored by the State Department of Agriculture and the N. C. Dairy Products Association, "Favorite Recipes" is dedicated to the North Carolina dairy industry and to the women of this State.

"We feel the publication of this book will lead to a greater consumption of milk and milk products. This will result in better health for our people and a consequent boost for our rapidly growing dairy industry," said Scott.

Although the book was published primarily for distribution by dairies, the Department will sell individual copies at 40 cents each to North Carolina citizens requesting them, Scott explained.

Help Yourself and Your Neighbor

IT'S important to most of you that you cut cord wood during this season. And it's your patriotic duty to cut as much pulpwood as you can. We're for you. We know this work is hard, and that you're doing it shorthanded. Electric service is important, too. And when it is interrupted, it takes hard work by shorthanded crews to restore it.

So, in your interest, and the interest of neighbors along your electric lines, won't you use special care in cutting trees? Try to keep them from falling across wires. But if a falling tree gets out of control and does break a wire, please notify us at once. Then we'll know exactly where to find the broken wire. We will be able to restore electric service faster.

We are making this plea to you because we know you and your neighbors are dependent upon electricity for a lot of important services... refrigeration to keep fresh meats and other foods, water pumping to save time and labor, wood sawing, feed chopping, radio, and still others. So you are not just helping us at a time when we too are shorthanded, but you help yourself and neighbors along your line.
