Witch Appeasement

(Is it ever too late for a good story? We don't think so and that's why we are printing the following tale that comes from Carthage. A good story, it tells about a bright idea that worked.)

S. H. Miller, owner of the prosperous hardware store in Carthage believes in playing safe on Halloween. Mindful of the signs and portents of the times, of hooting owls and fluttering bats, rattling of chains and ghostly groans warning of dire things to come, Mr. Miller decided wisely to go in for a little appeasement.

A few days ago passers-by were fascinated to find the three windows of the hardware store marked out in neat squares, while the following notice was stuck up in the middle one:

Hey Kids!

You are invited to participate in our Big Soap Contest Halloween Night. Come early in order to get a place to draw. All children are invited to soap our windows to their hearts' content.

Prizes for the Best Pictures!

The children took Mr. Miller at his word and it wasn't long before each neat little square was spoken for, with the prospective artist's name written up firmly in the corner.

The results were wonderful. At least fifty children came to try out their artistic talent, using as materials everything from water colors and crayons to nail polish, lip stick, tallow from candles and soap. The judges, Joe Allen, Miss Daisy Condon, and Mrs. Margaret Willcox Wicker, were hard put to it to make their decisions. First prize was finally awarded to a colored artist, Matthew Henderson, fourteen years old. Matthew received $3.50 for his painting of Donald Duck. Second prize of $2.50 went to Gloria Parks, painter of a witch with her cat; Tom Barker received a flashlight as third prize and Joe Wallace, fourth prize winner, a pocket-knife. Ten other prizes were given, the girl winners receiving fifty cent pieces and the boys boxes of bullets.

The next day Doyle and Harvey Lee Miller, were smiling but sleepy-eyed. They had overheard some hoodlums say that they were going to sneak in and spoil the pictures. So, after the last artist left, around one, they settled down on guard, determined that such works of art should be saved from the Vandals. They stayed by the treasures all night long.

The Millers, who were receiving the congratulations of friends next day on their imagination and public spirit, said it was the best Halloween, with the least trouble, they had ever known.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

World-wide daily Bible Reading started Thursday

Last spring the American Bible Society sent 250,000 ballots to our armed forces scattered all over the world. Men and women, now in service, were asked to vote on their favorite Bible readings. The beloved 23rd Psalm led the list.

Thursday millions of fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters and other relatives will start reading the 34 selected readings that will be read daily up to Christmas. Overseas their loved ones will be reading the same passages. Why not pause each day and read with them the ones scheduled for next week, shown in the box above.

Even though we may be thousands of miles apart, we can join with our armed forces in this daily spiritual experience.
