

Dr. Duggan, Noted Internationalist, Is Forum Speaker

Russian - American Relations Will Be Subject Of Address

"The Significance of Good Relations with Russia," a matter termed the most vital of all to world harmony and understanding, will be the subject of an address by Stephen Duggan, Ph. D., LL.D., L.H.D., Litt.D., at the meeting of the Pinehurst Country Club Thursday evening, January 31, at 8:30 p. m.

Director of the Advisory Committee of International Education and member of the Advisory Committee of the State Department's Division of Cultural Relations, Dr. Duggan is an outstanding authority on international affairs, and well qualified to discuss Russo-American relations. The topic for Thursday's meeting of the Forum has been described as a matter which every thinking person in America today realizes is of primary importance if peace is to be preserved and the countries of the world are to cooperate for the ultimate good of all.

As speaker for the evening, Dr. Duggan has a world-wide background of first-hand experience and study. Formerly, he was Professor of Political Science at the College of the City of New York and lecturer on International Relations at Columbia University. At the request of the Carnegie Endowment in 1919, he organized the Institute of International Education to develop wider understanding among nations of the world through educational agencies. Dr. Duggan not only is a member of the State Department Advisory Committee, but is a member also of the governing bodies of the chief organizations in the United States concerned with international relations.

Having attended in official capacities numerous international conferences on affairs of intellect, Dr. Duggan has lectured by invitation at the principal universities in Berlin, Vienna, Prague, Budapest and at the Rous Institute of International Affairs in London. Among decorations awarded him by foreign governments for his work in international relations are the rank of chevalier of the Legion of Honor, of France; of commander of the Order of the Crown of Italy, and of the White Lion of Czechoslovakia; and other orders of distinction.

In 1933 he was appointed by the late President Roosevelt as the American member of the Brazilian-American Conciliation Committee and in 1941 represented the Institute of International Education at the second conference of National Commissions of Intel-

STORYBOOKS, PLEASE!

A lady who was making some visits out into the country told about going once to a little old cabin, tucked away back in the woods. No one answered her knock, so she opened the door and stepped in. There on the floor on her stomach lay a young colored girl reading a big book that she held spread open in front of her. She was so absorbed that she didn't hear the lady come in.

"Hello!" said the lady. She leaned over the girl, "Why," she said, "you're reading Anthony Adverse!"

The girl smiled in a dazed sort of way. "Yes, m'am," she said. "I reads at it."

A good many read at Anthony Adverse, and some read through it. Certainly many enjoyed it. It is one of the books that still goes out on its rounds from our library.

Our county librarian asks us to send her more books, especially books for children. The library could use many more and our country children, both white and colored, long for them.

lectual Cooperation at Havana.

The meeting Thursday of the Pinehurst Forum, of which Dr. DeWitt B. Nettleton is president and Mrs. Aras J. Williams is secretary, is open to all without admission charge. Prior to Dr. Duggan's address the Country Club will serve a buffet supper commencing at 7:00 p. m.

Visitors At Pilot Have Been Places

The Pilot shop was really lit up Wednesday from the blaze of ribbons, fourageers and stars that were puttering around there. At least, they were on the putterers-around, Sgt. Ervin Ray Taylor and his cousin-in-law, Capt. Francis F. Rainey.

Perhaps some of the light came, too, from the smiles of the staff welcoming them home. Ervin is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Dan S. Ray, and has come straight from the Philippines where he and their son, Dan, got together just before Ray came home. He reports that Dan was in good shape and not too home-sick.

Ervin, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver F. Taylor of Winston-Salem, was a radio technician serving with the signal corps in the Pacific theatre. He left Manila, to his expressed relief, just before the recent trouble there. His mother spent last week-end in Southern Pines so as to be on hand for his arrival, but when the expected telephone call failed to come, went back home. Ervin stopped off at The Pilot to see his uncle and aunt on his way there from Ft. Bragg.

Known as "Bud", hereabouts, Captain Rainey is the son of Mrs. Emer Boll and David M. Rainey of Chicago. He married Ervin's cousin, Patricia Ray of Pinehurst, in October. He wears the big white eagle-head patch of the famous 101st and more battle stars and decorations than you could shake a stick at. That was the division that made the gallant stand in the Battle of the Bulge and fought through the campaigns of Normandy, Holland, and France.

Funeral Services, conducted by the Reverend T. D. Mullis, were held from the Lakeview Presbyterian Church at 2:00 p. m. on Wednesday afternoon. Interment was in Lakeview cemetery. Honorary pallbearers were J. R. McQueen, W. C. Smith, O. D. Causey, A. C. Cox, N. O. Stevens, Dr. R. G. Rosser, and J. O. Blue. Active pallbearers were Winfred, Clyde, and Edwin Causey; Atlas Eastwood, William Jackson and Ratchford Haynes.

CHAPLAIN "MAC" JOINS

The Sandhills will be interested in the recently announced appointment of Chaplain Alexander J. McKelway to the staff of the Veterans Administration Chaplaincy Service. Chaplain McKelway is the former pastor of the Community Church in Pinehurst, who, during the eight years of his service there, won such a warm place for himself and his family in the hearts of the people of this section.

Recently released from the Navy with the rank of Commander, Chaplain McKelway will be with the Special Projects Division located in the VA Central Office, Washington, D. C.

Chaplain McKelway attended Naval pre-flight training school at Iowa City, Ia., receiving his commission as a Lieutenant in April 1942. Assigned to the U.S.S. Essex immediately following graduation, he served aboard the carrier for 31 consecutive months during which time the ship took part in six major engagements. He later served at the Glenview, Ill., Air Station and Great Lakes, Ill., Naval Training Station.

His wife and three children are at present residing in Charlotte.

LT. JERNIGAN RETURNS ABOARD USS SARATOGA

Lt. (jg) Paul R. Jernigan, USNR, arrived in Southern Pines last Friday night with his wife, Mrs. Erin L. Jernigan of 50 Massachusetts avenue, and their two-year-old daughter. According to a release from the Office of Public Information at Pearl Harbor, Lt. Jernigan is one of 3,750 high-point Navy veterans recently returned to the States for discharge aboard the U. S. S. Saratoga.

The carrier on which Lt. Jernigan returned after long months in the Pacific has an illustrious battle record, was seven times officially reported sunk by the Japs, and took part in every major sea engagement.

FRANK'S GRILL OPENS

Another restaurant in town is Frank's Grill, recently opened next to the Carolina Light and Power Co. offices. It is owned by James F. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wilson, late sergeant in the 17th Airborne Engineers. Four years in the army, Wilson saw service in the European campaigns. He has been out two months and is one of several young veterans who are being welcomed back into the business life of this community.

Theatre The Carolinas

Starring Vivian Blaine, Dennis O'Keefe, Pery Como and Carmen Miranda, and studded with a tuneful score of new song hits, "Doll Face," 20th. Century-Fox's gay new musical is coming to the Pinehurst Theatre, Sunday Night, Jan. 27th, at 8:30.

"Doll Face" has been given the benefit of an all-out production with Producer Bryan Foy and Director Louis Seiler packing the new hit with lavish settings, brilliant dance spectacles and a bevy of Hollywood's prettiest chorines as well as an outstanding supporting cast. Among these is Martha Stewart, a gorgeous newcomer, who almost steals the picture, and who, no doubt, will be seen much more prominently in the future.

The attraction at the Pinehurst Theatre, Wednesday Night, January 30th, at 8:30, is none other than that superb production, "My Reputation," starring Barbara Stanwyck and George Brent. From beginning to end, there is not one single dull moment in this splendid film, which probably will be selected for all lists of really great pictures.

Superlatives can be unblushingly applied here since this attraction achieves an "E" for excellence in every department. The fine supporting cast includes Warner Anderson, Lucille Watson, John Ridgely and Eve Arden, while Curtis Bernhard's direction is superb.

"Heartwarming" best describes M-G-M's new picture of love in wartime, "A Letter For Evie," starring Marsha Hunt, John Carroll, Hume Cronyn and Spring Byington, which comes to the Pinehurst Theatre, Friday night, February 1st, at 8:30. There is fun aplenty as two "G. I." comrades, worlds apart in the matter of wooing the ladies, become involved in a series of entanglements with a very charming shirt company employee, who, along with her colleagues, considers men in terms of their collar sizes, the 16 1-2 being preferred.

Beyond all question, "Bells Of St. Mary's" is destined to be one of the great pictures of the current season and a champion among the greats in latter-day industry history, and it is a pleasure to announce its return to the Sandhills at the Carolina Theatre, Southern Pines, Sunday thru Thursday, (5 days) Jan. 27-30 at 8:15 P. M. with a Tuesday matinee at 3:00 P. M.

Meticulously and generously produced by McCarey and directed by him with a rare sense of understanding and containing beautiful performances by Bing Crosby and Ingrid Bergman in the leads, the offering has all those qualities which combine to give a production universal appeal. Every emotion is catered to by the rich material that has gone into the screen play by Dudley Nichols, which is one of the glittering jobs of the year.

On Friday and Saturday, Feb. 1-2, at 8:15 P. M. with a Saturday matinee, the screen version of the radio program, "People Are Funny," returns to the Sandhills at the Carolina Theatre, Southern Pines. The cast includes Jack Haley, Rudy Vallee, Ozzie Nelson, Helen Walker, Frances Langford, Art Linkletter and the Vagabonds. The laughs come thick and fast, and its all good clean fun.

SUGG'S SPORTING SHOP

It is like old times to see a sporting goods store opening up again in town. Dick Sugg's shop front on East Broad Street is a neat addition to that row of attractive shops. With the window gradually filling up with tennis and golf equipment, it should focus the attention of all those sporting gentlemen who are beginning to swarm into our midst again as good weather opens up.
