Our Pledge To The Public

Legally OPA is dead. But Sprott Bros. feels that the majority of the people desire continued price controls. We pledge to continue to use the same OPA ceiling prices which have been in effect for the past few years. . . Until a definite decision is reached by the President and Congress. In the event no bill is passed . . . and the manufacturers do increase their prices. . . we pledge to use our normal pre-war mark-up or less.
