THEATRES

The Carolinas

The much heralded production, "Sister Kenny", starring Rosalind Russell and Alexander Knox, is the attraction at the Pinehurst Theatre, Sunday Night, November 10th, at 8:30.

This is one of those infrequent biographical films that does full justice to the subject while at the same time providing sock entertainment, as foremost among the picture's many praiseworthy qualities are performance which are excellent in all instances and exceptional in the case of Rosalind Russell in the title role.

The New York Sun states that it is "Sheer entertainment, well worth seeing. Excellent drama and by far Miss Russell's best screen portrayal," and the New York Tribune calls it "Absorbing and moving, superbly entertaining, emerging with tremendous force and feeling," while the New York Times, pays tribute with "Rich and inspiring. Miss Russell plays with tremendous vitality and warmth. Inspirational entertainment in the high-powered class."

On Friday, November 15th, at 8:30 P. M. the Gary Cooper, Lilli Palmer starring vehicle, "Cloak and Dagger" plays a return engagement at the Pinehurst Theatre.

Returning to the Sandhills at the Carolina Theatre, Southern Pines, on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 10-11-12, at 8:15 P. M. with a Tuesday Matinee at 3:00 is the new Bette Davis attraction, "Deception," with Claude Rains and Paul Henreid in support.

Upon request of many patrons who did not have the pleasure of seeing the noteworthy production, "The Seventh Veil," at its Pinehurst showing, arrangements have been made for its return to the Carolina Theatre, Southern Pines, Nov. 13-14 at 8:15 P. M. with a Pines, Wednesday and Thursday, Thursday Matinee.

This attraction, starring James Mason and Ann Todd is undoubtedly one of the finest productions to come out of the British Studios and has been enthusiastically acclaimed by all who have been privileged to see it. The laughable, entertaining farce comedy which will come as a surprise to those who are accustomed to seeing Dan Duryea as a heavy, is "White Tie and Tails," coming to Pines, Friday and Saturday Nov. the Carolina Theatre, Southern Pines, at 8:15 P. M. with a Saturday Matinee at 3:00.

Dan Duryea, whose portrayal of the complete cad in "Scarlet Street," and "Woman in the Window" won him Top Ten placement in Motion Picture Herald's 1946 "Stars of Tomorrow" poll, steps over onto the good side of the mortal register in this satirical and razor-sharp comedy about a butler who masquerades as a millionaire.

Alongside Duryea in the picture, and matching his performance with equally agreeable portrayals, go William Bendix, back in the racketeering type of assignment which gave him his start in pictures, and Ella Rains, who plays a society girl as society girls are in life but hardly ever in pictures.

And the women will get more than their share of enjoyment in the display of "snazy" clothes by Miss Raines.

Sunrise

Hal Wallis' production of Paramount's "The Strange Love of Martha Ivers," which plays at the Sunrise Theatre Thursday and Friday, Nov. 14, 15, with Barbara Stanwyck, Van Heflin, Elizabeth Scott and Kirk Douglas heading the cast, is, according to advance notices, the kind of screen entertainment which holds you spellbound in your seat while continually impressing you with its tremendous dramatic impact.

Barbara Stanwyck, who plays the title role, is reported to be doubly as devilish as she was in "Double Indemnity," a role which earned her the hatred of the audience, and almost won her an Academy Award. As an iron woman, with heart and soul to match, she runs the gamut of evil in the guise of an attractive woman of glamour and allure. She is capable of murder, deceit, infidelity; indeed, only her capacity for loving with the same intensity as she hates, distinguishes her as a woman, and not a demon.

Van Heflin, who won an Academy Award in 1941 for his performance in "Johnny Eager," plays a worldly-wise gambler matching wits and emotions with Martha, finally overcoming her and yielding to the finer love of Elizabeth Scott. The latter portrays a girl almost, but not quite, lost. Van leaves Martha with her weakling husband, played by Kirk Douglas, and they close the story with an ending that is the ultimate in dramatic realism.

The supporting cast is headed by Judith Anderson and Roman Bohnen, and includes Darryl Hickman, Janice Wilson and Ann Doran. Lewis Milestone did the directing.

A mud-filled canyon five miles wide and 600 feet deep has been discovered beneath the surface of the lower Mississippi River.
