

Stevens Building To Have New Tenants

Extensive remodeling is going on in the East Broad street building formerly occupied by Jack's Grill, which was burned out Christmas day, and which will be occupied in a couple of months by the Carolina Gardens florist shop.

A partition is being erected to divide the front from the back, and only the front is to be leased to the Carolina Gardens proprietor, M. G. Backer, according to E. C. Stevens, owner. The back part is to be a separate business office, and several applications are being considered.

The hallway is being opened clear to the back, with a back entrance. The space across the hall, formerly the kitchen of Jack's Grill, is being remodeled for additional office space for E. C. Stevens' real estate and insurance business, which shares the building's front entrance.

E. W. Reinecke, of Fayetteville, is contractor for the remodeling work.

Teen Age Club Has Dance For Teams

The boys' and girls' basketball teams of Southern Pines High school, runners-up in the county tournament, were honored at a dance held last Friday by the Teen Age club at their headquarters in the Community building.

Music by a record player and refreshments of cokes and cookies added to the fun as around 50 young people assembled for fun from 9 to 12:30. The affair was voted a big success.

The club committee for the dance included George Hodgkins, chairman, Scott Burns, Roberta Frye, Dick Mattocks, Dock McColl and Harold Collins.

The club will meet tonight (Friday) at 7 p. m. for a regular business meeting.

Burwell Addresses Kiwanis At New Airfield Cafe

by Howard F. Burns

Lewis C. Burwell, in an address to the Sandhills Kiwanis Club Wednesday at the Resort Air Lines Cafeteria, declared there are two policies our government can follow: the first, a "national" policy; second, an "international" policy.

He pointed out up to now there have been several big powers, but now there is only one; the United States. If we are to follow the international policy, it will be necessary for this government to maintain a strong military force for a few years, and to encourage free trade.

Continuing, he said it would be bad, in the eyes of the Russians, for us to return to nationalism, as before the war. He pointed out that there is extreme danger of Congress's cutting the military forces, especially the Air Force, in balancing the budget, and that the Air Reserve Program has already been cut 44%. This will mean that a large number of trained pilots, whom the government trained in World War II at a cost of millions of dollars, will be lost to the service. It is especially important, he stated, that these pilots and technicians be called back into service at least once a year, or continue their training as is now being done at the Resort Airlines on a small scale.

Mr. Burwell, President of Resort Airlines, declared he was very definitely opposed to compulsory military training for young men of seventeen and eighteen years of age. This would mean the expenditure of tremendous sums of money and in five years a boy of seventeen would be of little value to the army, while on the other hand, scientists, technicians and trained pilots could be called back for a year's service, which would mean a much stronger army and air force.

In conclusion, he stated Resort Airlines is working out a very definite program in the field of world travel and is now in the process of planning world cruises, which he said would bring many people to this Sandhill community, would serve the military training program in its employment of pilots and trained technicians, and would aid the good will program through its travels to foreign countries.

Questions, Answers On Service Insurance

Q—Does the name "United States Government life insurance" include "national service life insurance?"

A—No; "United States Government life insurance" is one type of government insurance and "national service life insurance" is another. However, both are administered by the Veterans Administration under authority granted by acts of Congress.

Q—Do the premiums increase as the insured grows older?

A—No. Premiums to be paid on any form of the insurance are established according to the age of the person insured at the effective date of the insurance; that is, a person 30 years old will pay a higher premium than a person 25 for the same plan of insurance.

Q—Are there any restrictions in government insurance on the type of work I do?

A—No. The insured may engage in any occupation, no matter how hazardous, live where he likes, and travel any way he chooses, without affecting the value or cost of his insurance policy.

Q—For how long can I carry the World War II national service life insurance that I bought while in service?

A—National service life insurance is issued originally upon the five-year level premium term plan, which was extended three years for all policies issued before January 1, 1946. However, veterans have the privilege of conversion after one year from date of issue to permanent plans. The law provides that all level premium term policies shall terminate at the expiration of the term period unless exchanged for permanent policies on or before the expiration date. If term insurance has been converted, it remains in effect as long as the premiums are paid.

Veterans Sponsor Nurse Scholarship

Some Moore County girl, now a high school senior, is to be selected for nurse training, to begin her course soon after her graduation in June on a scholarship provided through efforts of a group of 13 Moore County veterans.

Tuition, books and other incidental fees, with an adequate monthly allowance will be raised by the Sandhill Veterans' association, with just one condition: that their selectee follow her profession in Moore county after graduation, in either hospital or public health work, if she is needed. Funds for her education will be placed in trust with the Citizens' Bank and Trust company here.

Application is to be made through the principals of high schools of the county, Southern Pines or Pinehurst units, and selection will be made by a board, to be announced soon.

The definite decision to adopt the nurse training project was made by the association members at their meeting held Monday night at the home of William White, president, in Southern Pines. Jere McKeithen, who had been named chairman to investigate its possibilities, presented a report, and additional suggestions were made by Amos C. Dawson, Southern Pines principal, a special guest at the meeting.

Dawson gave warm praise to the veterans' project, declaring it to be in keeping with the association's aims of service to the Sandhills in ways they find it most needed.
