Easter Seals Help This Child

Special class instruction for this young girl is only one of the many benefits she receives through your purchase of Easter seals. Her transportation to school, too, is furnished and she is aided in every way toward a useful, happy life. Easter seals will be sold here beginning next week until Easter. Buy Easter seals, use them on all your mail—help the crippled children of your county and state.

Easter Seals Aid Crippled Children

The annual sale of Easter seals will open in Moore county next week, under direction of Miss Sarah Catherine McInnis, of West End, child welfare worker with the county welfare department. Miss McInnis is selecting community chairmen this week to conduct the sale, and hopes to top last year's returns of $505.87. With a few dollars deducted for incidental expenses of the campaign, $250 was sent the state welfare department for use by the North Carolina Crippled Children's association, and $250 was retained in Moore county.

This was called on several times during the year and gave assistance in at least four cases of great need.

The money sent the state is used for work done in crippled children's hospitals.

Help is given any child physically disabled through accident or any disease other than infantile paralysis, for which there is a separate campaign and special organization. Operations, braces, medical treatment, special schooling, clothing and other needs to help the children to a normal life are met through sale of the Easter seals.

EUREKA NEWS

by Margie Nanopoulos

The Parent-Teachers meeting for the month of February was held at Farm Life last Wednesday and led by the president Mrs. Cary McCleod. The bylaws were made and all business attended to, and then the members and guests were served cup cakes and coffee by the 10th grade and Miss Shuffler. New officers will be elected at the next meeting.

THEATRES Carolina

Andy Hardy, back from the wars, returns to the Sandhills at the Carolina theatre, Southern Pines, this coming week for a three-day stay, when "Love Laugh at Andy Hardy" is shown Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Mickey is his usual juvenile self, aided by a fine supporting cast—Lewis Stone, Sara Haden, Fay Holden and the beguiling Bonita Granville.

Frank Capra's great new picture, called by many the finest of the year, "It's a Wonderful Life," will be shown at the Carolina Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 19-22, following its premiere at the Pinehurst theatre March 16 and 17. James Stewart has his best role in this picture, and you'll see also such favorites as Donna Reed, Lionel Barrymore, Thomas Mitchell, Beulah Bondi and many others. Mark this heart-warming, spirit-lifting picture down on your movie-goer's calendar as a "must-see"!

Wednesday night, March 19, will bring to the Pinehurst theatre an engrossing psychological drama, "The Locket," with an all-star cast headed by Laraine Day and Brian Aherne, including also Robert Mitchum, Gene Raymond, Ricardo Cortez, Reginald Denny and others of topflight calibre.
