Ideal for Easter pleasure—"The Jolson Story," that bigtime show in finest technicolor, which critics have ranked alongside the best musicals of history! See it at the Carolina theatre, Southern Pines, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday (at 8:15 p. m. with a Tuesday 3 p. m. matinee), and you'll say you've never seen more magnificent entertainment than this screen story of Al Jolson, from boyhood to stardom on stage and screen. You'll see Larry Parks, Evelyn Keyes and other fine players—and you'll hear the inimitable Jolson voice itself singing the songs of the great comedian made famous.

The "new" Dick Powell continues his hardboiled characterizations in the great melodrama, "Johnny O'Clock," at the Carolina (Southern Pines) Wednesday and Thursday, at 8:15 p. m. with a Thursday matinee at 3. As a professional gambler, Dick's plenty dangerous but you'll like him—and in this picture too, as in "The Jolson Story," is the beautiful Evelyn Keyes.

For next weekend (Friday and Saturday, April 11-12, at 8:15 with a Saturday matinee) you can look forward to a production of championship calibre—"The Magnificent Doll" with Ginger Rogers playing Dolly Madison, Burgess Meredith as James Madison and David Niven as Aaron Burr. It's one of the best and most beautiful of the films showing dramatic chapters of our history.

And at the Carolina theatre, Pinehurst, some more of the season's top-notchers are expected: Ronald Colman and Vanessa Brown in "The Late George Apley," Easter Sunday and Monday evenings at 8:30; Deanna Durbin and Tom Drake, Adolph Menjou and William Bendix in "I'll Be Yours," Wednesday; and Bob Hope in "My Favorite Brunette" next Friday, April 11. The favorite brunette? Dotty Lamour—of course.

Sunrise

"The Mighty McGurk" will be the attraction at the Sunrise Theatre, Sunday and Monday, April 6-7. With Wallace Beery cast in the boisterous title role, the picture offers a field day of unflagging entertainment.

The scene is New York of the early 1900's, with Beery cast as the self-inflated, roistering ex-boxing champ, McGurk, whose strength is more muscular than it is mental. He is made a pawn of by Mike Glenson, unscrupulous saloon owner who wants a piece of property leased by the Salvation Army and goads McGurk into seizing it by fair means or foul; he is henpecked by Mamie Steeple, the sharp-tongued but tolerant shopkeeper who has befriended him for years. But most of all, he is taken in by little Nipper, an endearing youngster whom fate has thrown into his hands and whose adoring hero-worship irritates him as much as it flatters his ego.

Baptist Church Bids On Mackall Chapel

The Southern Pines Baptist church has put in a bid for the large chapel at Camp Mackall, and if it gets the official nod will dismantle the structure, move it to the church property here and re-erect it for educational and assembly purposes.

The bid is not a matter of competitive prices, said Rev. Lamar Jackson, pastor, as a price has been fixed, but the award will be made on the basis of need. Several bids have been filed, it is understood, and are in the hands of the Chief of Chaplains at Washington, D. C.

The local church has for some time been in the market for a Quonset hut or other army surplus structure to meet its expansion needs, with half the cost to be paid by an anonymous donor.

Aberdeen Lions Entertain Teams

The Aberdeen Lions club entertained members of the Aberdeen high school boys and girls basketball teams and their coach, Robert E. Lee, at their regular meeting held in the Presbyterian Sunday school auditorium last Friday night, at which time a turkey supper was served by the mothers of the players.

Following the dinner the Rev. Zeb. Caudle spoke, relating numerous stories to the delight of the group as he reviewed their fine accomplishments on the basketball courts.

H. W. Doub spoke to the group briefly, outlining to them what Lionism stands for and its relation to the boys and girls of today. He announced that the Lions club was presenting to Coach Lee a present as a token of the club's appreciation for his fine work.

CARTHAGE

P. T. A.

The March meeting of the P. T. A. was held last Monday evening at 7:30 in the elementary school auditorium with the president, Mrs. Monroe Way in the chair. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Charles Barringer took the minutes. A nominating committee with Mrs. Holt McNeill, chairman, was appointed to bring in a ticket for the next meeting. Mr. Poe spoke on federal aid for the lunchroom and gave parents a cordial invitation to come and eat with their children.

The program was under the direction of Miss Ruth Hall and Miss Rebecca Turner. Objectives of physical education were presented by four girls from the physical education classes, while a fashion show depicting what the well dressed girl wears the year round was put on by the home economics department.

School

An epidemic of influenza almost closed the Carthage schools last week, three members of the faculty being out with it at the same time. Substitute teachers were well nigh impossible to obtain. A large percentage of pupils were out with either flu or measles, also. But the peak seems to have passed now, and Monday saw a greatly increased attendance.

The lunchroom managers are happy to announce that the price of the school lunch has been reduced to the original price of 15c with milk.

Music Club

Mrs. Otis Hagler was hostess to the Carthage Music club on Saturday afternoon at the Pastorium. A Benjamin Godard program had been arranged for the afternoon. The life of the composer was given by Mrs. J. G. Downing. Mrs. Charles Cox gave a vocal solo, "Florian's Son." Mrs. H. G. Poole played "The Second Valse," and Mrs. Laverné Womack sang "Lullaby." "Mazurka" was played by Mrs. L. R. Sugg and a history of the North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs was given by Mrs. W. G. Brown. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. J. Hall, served a salad course.

NCEA Convention

H. Lee Thomas has returned from attending the state NCEA convention which met in Asheville last week.

Back to State

Rev. and Mrs. Paul Fried have come to Greensboro to make their home from Pennsylvania where Mr. Fried has been engaged in evangelistic work. He will be engaged in young people's work in North Carolina. Mrs. Fried is the former Miss Betty Jane Seawell of Carthage.
