It's Raining Dollar Bills All For Vets' Education Fund

If you open a letter sometime soon, and a dollar bill falls out, don't rush to the nearest store to spend it. First read the letter enclosed. Then the chances are you'll find yourself adding one or more bills to it, and mailing them to the Citizens' Bank and Trust company, for the Sandhills Veterans' association educational fund.

For this is the unique means these 13 young men of Southern Pines, Pinehurst and Aberdeen have chosen to collect $1,000 to give some Moore County girl a good education in nurse training, with the objective of having her return to this county to nurse.

They're testing human nature by sending out dollar bills at random, asking that they be returned with additional bills—and to date, President William White has announced, human nature is coming through with flying colors. With their original investment of $50 more than surpassed, and a number yet to be heard from (they hope), they're turning right around and sending them all out again.

It's a campaign you can't overlook, if they pick your name—and an opportunity Moore County high school girls won't overlook, if they want a fine nurse training education with 13 god-fathers footing the bill.

High school principals all over the county are cooperating, and all a girl has to do is let her principal know. Her name will be placed before a selection board. She should be a senior, ready to enter the first nursing class after her graduation in a good training school—and she'll have a voice in which one it is.

She'll have everything furnished, and spending money too, for these veterans aren't doing anything halfway. It's their form of cooperation with the Good Health program, and it ties in with their aim of community service.

So—when your dollar bill arrives—look on it as 100 cents' worth of opportunity.

Busy Season For Sanford Team

The spring air is filled with baseball news—and here's some more, to please night game fans who don't mind traveling a few miles to see a good game.

Spring training has started in the Tobacco State league, and the season will officially open April 29 with Sanford playing Red Springs at Sanford. Towns included are Sanford, Dunn, Erwin, Selma, Smithfield, Clinton, Lumberton, Red Springs, Wilmington and Warsaw.

Before the opener the Sanford team will play a series of exhibition games in other leagues, all to start at 8 p. m. except Sunday games 3 p. m.: April 12, Hanes Hosiers at Winston-Salem; April 13, Durham; April 14, Goldsboro; April 15, Raleigh, at Sanford; April 16, Campbell college at Sanford; April 17, Elizabethtown at Lumberton; April 18, Goldsboro at Sanford; April 19, Raleigh; April 20, Elizabethtown at Sanford; April 21, Durham at Sanford; April 22, Concord at Sanford; April 23, House of David at Sanford; April 24 and 25, Landis at Sanford; April 26, Concord; April 27, Hanes Hosiers at Sanford.

Last season's players who reported for spring practice this week were Jimmie Guinn, Hank Nesselrode, Bob Pugh, Bill Stone, Joe Nearing, George Bortz. Among promising new men working for jobs on this year's club are Jimmie Wilson, State College center fielder for the past three years; Raye Loudermilk, Robbins, outfielder; William McNeill, Southern Pines, pitcher.

Scoutmaster Training Course At Pinehurst

Around 50 Scouters from Moore, Harnett and Lee counties, with a scattering from other counties and including many from Southern Pines spent weekend before last at the Pinehurst Boy Scout camp as pupils in a comprehensive scoutmaster training course.

Scoutmasters and assistant scoutmasters learned their jobs through practical experience at the camp, and through training given by members of the council executive staff from Raleigh. John D. McConnell, district chairman of training and leadership, was in charge of the event, assisted by Earl J. Petro, Jr., assistant district commissioner.

The training course opened at noon Saturday, and concluded late Sunday afternoon.

Among the Scouters was one Boy Scout, Billy Sledge, of the Pinehurst troop, who assisted in serving meals, and doing other odd jobs about the camp.

Jewel Theft Case Remains a Mystery

No report is available on new developments, if any, in the Pinehurst jewel theft case of last week, and since the matter lies now with the FBI and insurance company detectives, the likelihood is that no local report will be made.

An estimated $20,000 worth of jewelry belonging to Mrs. P. H. Raymer, of New York city, was removed from her jewel case in a bureau drawer in her room at the Carolina hotel Monday, March 24. No description of the pieces has been made public, except that one, valued at $14,000, was a diamond bracelet.

The presence of the FBI in the case suggests that an interstate ring of thieves is suspected—the kind that strike and move on with speed.
