CARTHAGE NEWS

Junior Woman's Club

The Junior Woman's club held a dinner meeting Tuesday at 7:30 at the Carthage hotel. A short business session was held after dinner during which plans were made to run a sandwich and drink booth at the Fourth of July celebration. It was also decided to sponsor a girl in the Jaycee beauty contest to be held on the same date.

Miss Faye Brewer, recently returned from Panama, where she has been teaching in the public schools, made a talk about her work in Panama. She spoke of the customs, dress of the women, and more particularly, of the schools. She also told about a trip to Costa Rica and other places of interest near the isthmus.

There were 12 members present. The next meeting will be on the fourth Tuesday in July with Mrs. Ray Williamson, hostess.

Rotary

On Thursday evening, E. H. Garrison, Jr., county farm agent, made a talk to the Rotary club in which he described a trip he had taken with a party of county agents through Tennessee, Georgia, and South Carolina for observation of the use of pastures in general, and a new kind of clover, in particular.

During the business meeting, it was suggested that a committee be appointed to meet with the board of town commissioners at their next meeting to suggest that the commissioners contribute to the expense of keeping the life-guard at Aberdeen lake. It was also suggested that the committee see about what has been done by the authorities in regard to the telephone service.

Rotary Softball Series

At the meeting before last, the losing side in the attendance contest, Joe Allen, captain, challenged the winning side, with Eldon Adams as captain, to a series of softball games to be played in five successive Wednesdays at 5 p. m. This week only eight Rotarians showed up, so the sides were hastily reinforced from Jaycees and school boys who had come to spectate. And to be exact, they also pressed into service a pitcher from the navy, home on a visit. At Thursday's meeting the scarcity of Rotarians was duly made 20 Rotarians to be there 'sure' note of and pledges were made by next week.

The quality of the playing of the eight Rotarians participating however, made up for the quantity which was conspicuous by its absence. They got out there at 50 and 55 and ran like boys. You should have seen Pill Poe and Tom Henson running (so say the fans). Bill Sabiston unpired with gusto and a little bird said Bob Gibson was one of the 'playingest' fellows on the field. Sailor Shockley Adams pitched and held down first base. Also out there pitching, and we mean pitching, were Joe Allen and Herbert Poole. But the two outstanding players were schoolboys, Johnny Barringer and Buddy Baker, who should be made honorary Rotarians for the fly balls they caught in center field. Buddy caught two and Johnny one—in his hat. Put his man out, too. Next week's game is expected to fill the bleachers. Ladies are especially invited. eW forgot to mention the score was 15 to 1 in favor of R. G. Frye's side.

Independence Celebration

The Jaycees of Carthage have been putting out great effort to make their Fourth of July celebration the biggest and best one yet. If everyone is not having a grand time, it will not be because the entire citizenry has not turned out to help. This is one day when all of Carthage really cooperates. If people don't come by the thousands, everyone will be greatly disappointed.

Briefs

Rev. Ottis J. Hagler, pastor of the Baptist church, is reported as improving after a bad fall in which he injured his leg.

The Pinckney school will be completed in time for the fall term, and will be a source of pride to our colored citizens, who have been working under great difficulties since their building was burned over a year ago. The new building is made of red brick and is modern, up-to-date and quite attractive in design.

Miss Roselle Williamson, of Washington, D. C., who is visiting her mother, Mrs. Walter Williamson, gave a lovely lunch at the Carthage hotel here this week to 18 guests.

Friends regret to learn of the death of Mr. John Harrington of Aberdeen this week. A number of Carthage people attended the funeral. His daughter, Mrs. Peter Lunch of New York, is a well-known fiction writer, who before her marriage, taught English in the Carthage High school, and made many friends here.

Fall Delivery Of Bookmobile Hoped

Moore county's promised bookmobile, which it was hoped to put into use this summer, will not be here until fall, as the company manufacturing the bookmobile bodies is changing and improving its models, with consequent delay.

According to A. B. Yeomans, head of the Moore County library board and Southern Pines Library association, the new models are expected to be the last word in bookmobiles, with more efficient storage space, better springs and other desirable features.

Moore county is one of about 60 North Carolina counties which, with state-given funds in hand to buy their long-awaited bookmobiles, are now having to wait just a little longer.

At present Mrs. Dorothy H. Avery, county librarian, uses her own car in making the trips which take her every week to Carthage, Cameron, Vass, West End, Robbins, Eagle Springs, Jackson Springs and Niagara, and also through rural sections where she serves with reading matter some 650 adults in their farm homes.

In addition during the summer, when the school libraries are closed, she supplies hundreds of children.

The Carthage branch of the library has lately been placed in charge of Mrs. A. B. Dewey, who looks after the distribution Thursday afternoons at the Carthage Community house. Mrs. Avery takes new books over each week and picks up the old ones, then goes to other points in the county. The plan has enabled her to undertake a more extensive itinerary for the summer.
