Rotarians Hear Gov. Huggins At Annual Banquet

By C. A. McKinney,
Soil Conservationist

Homer C. Johnson of Rt. 1, Cameron, has a fine kudzu pasture. He says he does not know what he would have done for a pasture this year without it since the dry weather prevented his permanent pasture from producing enough grazing for his stock. His 1 1/2 acres of kudzu is keeping seven head of stock very well. He hopes the recent rains will help his permanent pasture enough so that he will not have to overgraze the kudzu for he knows that he can easily injure it by overgrazing, in fact, may kill it.

W. G. Caldwell, assistant county agent, and the writer prepared a complete soil conservation farm plan for the Boyd lands at Southern Pines recently. It was a real pleasure to work with such enthusiastic and cooperative people. They are doing some very practical forestry work under the direction of Don Traylor, who is an experienced forester and a graduate of N. C. State college. The Boyd land has some of the finest timber in Moore county, and is a very outstanding example of what fire protection and conservative cutting will do for our forests.

Eugene Fields of Eagle Springs RFD had a conservation farm plan prepared for his farm by the soil conservation personnel. Fields is a World War 2 veteran and is enrolled in the veterans' agriculture class at West End, under the direction of Mr. Austin. Fields is very enthusiastic about his class work and his farming. He has a very good field of hybrid corn as an example of his class work being put to practice on his farm. He hopes to follow the conservation plan just as fast as he can in order to put every acre to its proper use.

Mrs. Miriam Trollinger and

"There is nothing a group of men, working together for the common good, cannot do if they really mean it, putting forth their best efforts in full sincerity."

So Southern Pines Rotarians, their ladies and their special guests were told by "Vic" Huggins, of Chapel Hill, speaker at their annual banquet and Ladies' Night at Pope's restaurant Friday night.

Huggins, newly elected governor of the 189th district, Rotary International, cited recent legislation for teacher pay raises and also the state good health program as immediate examples in North Carolina of what can be done by aroused and public-spirited citizens working in concert.

A Rotary club, he said, offers civic-minded men an opportunity for their best efforts in working for causes they believe in, for the betterment of their own communities. In Rotary International they find a worldwide medium for doing good, add for putting into operation Rotary principles of fellowship and service.

The event was also an occasion for the installation of 1947-48 officers: Lloyd T. Clark, president; Morris Johnson, vice president; H. L. Brown, secretary-treasurer; and directors John E. Cline, E. J. Austin, H. N. Cameron, A. A. Howlett and Julian Tadlock.

Rev. Tucker G. Humphries was master of ceremonies for a program highlighted with fun as well as seriousness.

The lighter side cropped out in the presentation of an outgoing gavel to retiring president Morris Johnson, as a parting gift; a large Purple Heart to John Ormsby, who suffered leg injuries in the recent Rotary-Elks baseball game; an award to H. L. Brown, for his long service as secretary-treasurer of the club; and a lively exchange of repartee with Dr. L. M. Daniels.

Speeches were made by the outgoing and incoming presidents, and several special guests were presented: Mrs. Vic Huggins, the former Rebecca Ray of Carthage; Dan Ray, Jr., John Ruggles, Miss Hilda Edwards and Mr. and Mrs. Larry G. Briggs. Also present were Philip J. Weaver and Amos C. Dawson, honorary Rotarians.

son of Atlanta, Ga., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Shannon.

Circle Meets

The Mary Parker circle of the Methodist church met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. W. D. Shannon, with nine members and one visitor present.

Mrs. Groulauer McCaskill presided. The meeting was opened by the singing of "Close to Thee." Mrs. W. D. Shannon had charge of the devotion.

At the close of the meeting the hostess assisted by her niece, Mrs. Miriam Trollinger served iced tea and cake.
