

Home Ec Courses At W. Southern Pines

Several classes in vocational home economics, free of charge to all adults, are being planned by Miss Margie S. Brown, home economics teacher of the West Southern Pines High school, who asked that interested adults meet at the home economics cottage at the school Monday evening at 7:30 in order to assist with the planning.

If the weather is bad that night, the meeting will be held Monday evening, February 23.

Courses which may be given, depending on the wishes of the students, include clothing, sewing, meal planning, low cost meals, food conservation, table service, child care and development, home nursing, and home furnishing and decoration including slip cover making.

Instruction will be given by practical demonstration and lecture, with no textbooks required.

REA Loan Will Aid Service To Moore

Rep. C. B. Deane of the Eighth Congressional District announced in Washington, D. C., this week that the Rural Electrification Administration has approved a loan of $300,000 to the Randolph Electric Membership corporation with headquarters in Asheboro. E. C. Macon of Asheboro is president of this corporation, and C. E. Vivrette is general manager in Asheboro.

This loan is to be used to complete previously approved construction and to build new lines for electric service in five counties, two of them Moore and Montgomery in the Eighth district.

The corporation is to build 220 miles of new power lines, of which 60 miles will be in Moore county and 30 miles in Montgomery.

Chamber Secretary Wicker Addresses Rotarians On Cooperative Program

Pictures of men in plus-fours playing golf—lovely spring scenes with 1928 cars in the background—these, with a few exceptions, are about all the Southern Pines pictures to be found in the files of the state advertising bureau at Raleigh, to answer the need of people who want to know what it's like down here, Thomas G. Wicker, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, told the Southern Pines Rotarians Friday.

By a concerted action now beginning toward a consistent and complete publicity program, tying in with the state advertising and news bureaus headed by Bill Sharpe of Raleigh, this condition is to be corrected and a true version of life in this resort town will be presented through many publicity media, Wicker said.

Trip to Raleigh
He inspected the state department files on a recent trip to Raleigh made at Sharpe's instance, he said, for the purpose of better cooperation in the answering of inquiries about the Sandhills and getting out Sandhills news. Results should show up in a longer "season" here, with the autumn as popular as the spring, and improvement in both winter and summer conditions seen.

In his first speech to a local group since taking over the Chamber of Commerce job last month, Wicker presented his views on the purposes of the Chamber, and the possibilities for progress seen in full cooperation of all local businessmen and resort interests with its program.

He was presented by Garland Pierce, program chairman for the day.

Nominating Committee
President L. T. Clark appointed a nominating committee composed of Harry Lee Brown, chairman, E. J. Austin and Herbert N. Cameron, with himself as ex-officio member, to prepare a slate of officers for election February 20.

By club tradition, President Clark will assume the vice presidency. To be elected are a president and secretary-treasurer, with four directors to serve as an executive board with the officers.

Election is being held early this year, it was explained, as it must be completed before the district conference, scheduled for March 18 at Winston-Salem.

Visitors at the meeting, which was held at Pope's restaurant, were M. L. Weeks, guest of E. N. Jackson; Robert McClellan, junior Rotarian for February; and visiting Rotarians Bill O'Brien, Lake Orion, N. Y.; Walter N. Brand, Ithaca, N. Y.; Earl Sprague, Bridgeport, Conn.; L. M. Tate, Blowing Rock.

SPIRITUAL WEAPONS
"Totalitarianism is born first in the hearts and minds of men. Therefore we must use against it the weapons of the spirit and the mind." (Kuebler).

IN WASHINGTON

Clary Thompson, of Cameron, former Winston-Salem newsman, has gone to Washington, D. C., as a special consultant to Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royall and Gordon Gray, assistant to Royall, according to word received here this week.

He has taken the job for four months, but will probably stay on longer, in which case Mrs. Thompson and the two little boys, who have remained at their home in Cameron, will join him. He is living in Arlington, Va., and is at work in the Pentagon.

Thompson is well known in the Sandhills, where he was born and raised. He served as a reporter on the Winston-Salem Journal, was campaign manager for Senator Folger, then returned to his native North Carolina to do some freelance writing. He took time out last January and February to edit the Sandhill Citizen in the absence of Editor H. Clifton Blue while on duty in the legislature, and for the past few months has had a column in The Citizen. "Sand in My Shoes."

Cordon, Stoltz Will Sing Sunday

Tom Cordon, baritone, and Wesley Stoltz, tenor, will be soloists at a musicale to be held at 8 p. m. Sunday at the First Baptist church, one of a series of outstanding musical events now being held preceding the Sunday evening services at that church.

The musicale, originally scheduled for February 1, could not be held at that time on account of bad weather. A cordial invitation is extended the interested public, said the Rev. J. Lamar Jackson, pastor.

Cordon, who recently moved here from Wilmington, and who is the brother of the noted opera singer Norman Cordon, will sing "The Lord's Prayer" and "Deep River." Stoltz, a native of the Sandhills, will sing "The Stranger of Galilee" and Adams' "The Holy City."

Mrs. L. D. McDonald, organist of the Church of Wide Fellowship and a graduate of the Sherwood School of music in Chicago, will play the accompaniments and three organ solos, "In the Ruins," (Kepinski), "Aandantino" (Lemare), and "Eleanor" (Depper).

Stoltz, Cordon, and Mrs. McDonald will unite their talents with the presentation of the beautiful "Fairest Lord Jesus" as a duet.

Those attending are asked to be seated before 8 p. m.

CARTHAGE

Overseas Relief
The response last Sunday was very generous to the call for used clothing to be sent for the Church World Service, "Ship of Friendship." Hugh Jackson donated the use of a truck and Boy Scouts collected the bundles from the front porches all over town. Rev. John Cline and Rev. W. S. Golden are co-chairmen of the drive. Collections will also be made at the various Sunday schools, or at R. G. Frye's funeral home.

World Day of Prayer
On Thursday afternoon from 3:30 to 4:30 The World Day of Prayer will be observed at the Baptist Church. The people of all churches are invited to attend. It is expected that the Church will be full.

Red Cross
A committee of Rotarians and Jaycees, with other interested individuals, met recently and selected Wilton Brown as chairman of the Carthage Red Cross drive which will begin March 1.

March of Dimes
Mrs. E. S. Adams, Carthage chairman of the March of Dimes, announces that the town has gone over the top in raising its quota of $500. All returns have not yet been reported so the exact total will not be known until next week. The high school has not yet reported, but the Carthage Elementary school raised over $150. Pinckney school raised over $50. Principal Taylor apologized for the amount, but everyone thinks this was a remarkably fine showing as the bad weather cut the attendance down in the midst of the drive, besides the days lost when the school had to close. Wayside, a one-teacher colored school, raised over $5, and the chairman was pleased with the good work done by both white and colored schools.

Food Demonstration
Miss Rita DuBois, assistant nutrition specialist of State College Extension Service, will give a dairy food demonstration in the courthouse at 10 a. m. February 21. All 4-H girls of the county who are carrying food projects will attend. Miss Ruth Harrell, assistant home demonstration agent, is in charge of the meeting.

Schools Closed
Moore County schools were closed again Monday until further notice on account of the snow. This is the third week that some of the schools have been closed. The state has allowed the teachers checks to be issued for January however, so that they will have the wherewithal for January's expenses, even though they have not taught a full month of 20 days. The ruling heretofore has been that no checks could be issued until the required number of days had been taught. If it had been enforced under the present weather conditions it would have been about two months since the December checks were received.

Special Session
Last week the Educo club of Moore county added its voice to that of many other educational groups and various other organizations friendly to the cause of teachers, in calling upon Govern-nor Cherry to call a special session of the eGeneral Assembly. The petition will receive signatures of all Moore County teachers.

Court Adjourned
The February term of civil court came to an abrupt halt here Monday when the snow storm circumvented even the strong arm of the law. In the face of Monday's snow storm the law abdicated, though there was a crowded docket and some important cases coming up. There will be no more civil court until the May term.

Friends of Mrs. Sadie Leak, the popular court stenographer, who has been coming to Carthage for years, were glad to see her here again Monday. Friends are glad to hear that Mr. L. R. Sugg, who has been ill in the Lee County hospital, is now doing nicely.

Brief Mention
Stowe Cole spent the weekend here with his mother, Mrs. S. F. Cole. Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Thomas, Jr., of Chapel Hill spent the weekend with their parents here. Mr. and Mrs. John Barnes of Greensboro were visitors in town over the weekend.

Miss Ruth Tyson of Mebane and Miss Jane Tyson of High Point spent the weekend with their parents here, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Tyson.
