

Entertainment Is Planned for Men at Camp Mackall

The Special Service offices, both of Fort Bragg and the 82nd Airborne Division, are going all-out to see that the troops taking part in the Army's Exercise Tarheel at Camp Mackall get plenty of recreation and entertainment during their evenings and weekends of rest.

Scheduled for the next few days is the Third Army Soldier show which will give performances, this weekend. The mobile show will visit every unit of regimental size. Boxing bouts are on tap for Saturday and Sunday evenings and will bring together those friendly enemies, the 82nd Airborne Division and Fort Jackson S. C. teams. There is also a baseball game Sunday afternoon between the All-Americans and the South Carolina visitors. As soon as arrangements are completed, a touring Salvation Army show will also put in its appearance.

Another Special Service contribution has been the distribution of thousands of "pocket-books" and recent issues of the nation's leading magazines.

The troops really took advantage of the warm weather this past weekend, when more than 3,000 of them went swimming in Big Muddy Creek Lake on the Camp Mackall reservation.

Tuesday Is May Day at Flora Macdonald

The annual May Day pageant at Flora Macdonald college will be presented in the outdoor theatre on the back campus, Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Miss Ethel Bateman, director of physical education, has chosen an original theme, "Spring Calendar," for the pageant honoring the May Queen and her court. Irish lifts and jigs, in honor of Saint Patrick, will be used to depict March. Clowns will be seen in an "April Fool Dance," followed by the Easter Parade and April Showers dances, with duo dances by Phyllis Dyer of Leaksville and Zelma Grantham of Fairmont. Flower dances, ending with the May Pole, will feature the close of spring. Interspersed these will be the Scottish dances, without which no pageant at Flora Macdonald would be complete. The program will open with a precision drill by freshmen and sophomores.

Moore Dairy Cattle To Be Improved Through Artificial Breeding Program

An artificial insemination program, to improve the quality and quantity of cows in Moore, has been undertaken by breeders of the county, who are endeavoring to get 1,000 cows signed up in order to get the program under way, according to E. H. Garrison, Jr., county farm agent.

A steering committee, elected at a meeting held last Wednesday night at the courthouse in Carthage, has T. Clyde Auman, of West End, for its chairman; J. M. Davis, Carthage, Rt. 3, vice chairman; E. H. Garrison, Jr., Carthage, secretary, and W. B. Hill, Carthage, treasurer.

Committee members representing various parts of the county are R. J. Snipes, Niagara; Homer Johnson, Cameron, Rt. 1; Graham Hare, Steeds, Rt. 1; J. A. Price, Robbins; J. A. Monroe, Biscoe, Rt. 1, M. L. Smith, Jackson Springs, and Richard A. Dowd, Glendon.

Each will canvass their own sections of the county, to get as many cows as possible signed up for artificial service by qualified bulls at a nominal fee of $7.

Selection of the committee followed several meetings held by Mr. Garrison with Moore County farmers, during the course of which it was agreed that the program was an important one promising many benefits for both large and small farmers. Census figures show there are only about 2,500 cows in the county—a figure far too low, it was agreed. Many of these are not of good quality.

Bulls used in the artificial breeding program include Guernsey, Jersey and Holstein—all registered and already proven. No beef cattle are included.

It will take some time to get the program under way. Mr. Garrison said, but in order to plan for it, it is necessary to get the sign-up completed as soon as possible.

Owners of one or two cows of breeding age are asked to sign up with the canvasser when he approaches them, or to secure an application form by visit or by mail from the county farm office at Carthage.

Any owner of a registered cow can have the calf from such breeding registered also, Mr. Garrison said.

This is one more step—the most important, the county agent said—in a long-range program of dairy cattle improvement undertaken by the State Extension service in Moore county.

Rural Women Will Have Aberdeen Curb Market

Aberdeen is to have its own curb market, similar to the one which has operated so successfully for many years in Southern Pines, under auspices of the county home demonstration office.

Miss Flora Macdonald, home agent, said the curb market will be held every Saturday morning, beginning May 7, in the vacant rooms over the Byran Drug store. It will open at 8:30.

Ten women have signed up as a starter, to bring fresh vegetables and fruits in season, dressed poultry, eggs, butter, flowers and other products of their rural homes to the market for sale. All are members of county home demonstration clubs.

The sellers will all have health certificates and the market will be conducted strictly according to health department standards, Miss Macdonald said.

ON HONOR ROLL

Nationwide recognition was received this week by John W. Underwood, Southern Pines representative for Pilot Life Insurance company, of Greensboro, through his nomination to the all-star honor roll of The Insurance Salesman, leading magazine in the life insurance business. The honor roll, an annual tradition in the business, is made up of one field representative from each company, nominated by his company as its "outstanding man of the year." Mr. Underwood was selected by his company on the basis of total new life insurance business of almost a million dollars.

Mr. Underwood entered the life insurance business directly after leaving the University of North Carolina. He has been with Pilot Life for 12 years.

He is head of the Underwood Insurance agency of Southern Pines, in which he has recently been joined by Carlton C. Kennedy as associate.

Galloway Speaks To Rotarians On Beverage Control

The beer industry stands for legal control of beer sales, honestly enforced, and will cooperate with it in every possible way, members of the Southern Pines Rotary club were told at their luncheon meeting last Friday by Ray Galloway, representative of the N. C. Brewers Foundation.

Such control, he said, is not only the best method of dealing with sales of alcoholic beverages, but also the only effective one. He cited case after case to show that "drying up" a county is only a figure of speech, and that so-called "dry" counties are generally much wetter than their legally wet neighbors.

The Foundation, set up to maintain standards of the industry and to promote moderation, can operate in counties where legal sale is permitted but cannot do a thing to stem the law violations and abuses which mount in "dry" territory.

Neither, Mr. Galloway reminded, do the organizations which form to ban legal sale. These generally stay strong and militant till they achieve their purpose, then fade away to leave their fellow citizens to cope with an impossible condition.

He reminded his hearers that, as in the case of many of life's good things, it is not the beverage but its abuse which leads to trouble and condemnation. With wisdom, these abuses can largely be corrected; with prohibition, they grow worse.

Mr. Galloway, department commander of the American Legion during 1947-48, was introduced by Harry Fullenwider, program chairman. Don Jensen, president, presided at the meeting, which was held at Dante's restaurant. L. V. O'Callaghan, Jr., was a guest, and visiting Rotarians were Lawrence C. Towne, Lansing, Mich.; Chester B. Lord, Binghamton, N. Y.; Fred S. Shafer, Plainfield, N. J.; Dr. Stanley Teskey, Bernardsville, N. J.; Horace A. Crary, Warren, Pa.; Earl Sprague, Bridgport, Conn.; Lloyd Tate, Blowing Rock and Pinehurst, and Fred B. Howland, Titusville, Pa.

Moore Clubwomen At District Meet

Fifty-eight women of Moore county home demonstration clubs attended the Tenth District meeting of their state federation, held at Rockingham last Thursday. Accompanying them were Miss Flora Macdonald, county home demonstration agent, and Miss Betty Shankle, her assistant.

Guest speakers were, in the morning, Chancellor R. B. House of the University of North Carolina, and, at the afternoon session, Miss Edith Randam, native of Estenia, who has recently come to this country to live via the displaced persons program.

Women of Moore, Montgomery and Lee counties attended the all-day meeting, consisting of business sessions, election of officers, group singing and a picnic lunch.

Mrs. Herbert Bost, of Eagle Springs, district secretary, served at the meeting in her official capacity. In the election of officers Mrs. Bill Poley, of West End, Rt. 1, was elected vice chairman for the coming year. Sanford was named as next year's meeting place.

Flower Show At Sanford Next Week

The Second Annual Flower show of the home and garden department of the Sanford Woman's club will be held next Thursday and Friday, May 5 and 6, at the city armory in Sanford, from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. each day.

The show is open to any exhibitor, whether a Garden Club member or not. Entries must be at the armory by Thursday at 10 a. m., and must be arranged by the exhibitor and re-groomed for the second day.

The show will be in 10 sections, each with several classes: roses, iris, peonies, hemerocallis (day lily), flowers from bulbs or corms, annuals, biennials and perennials, wildflowers; flowering shrubs, trees or vines, and potted plants. There will be classes also in flower arrangements, with one for children's exhibits. Musical programs will be given during the afternoon and evening.

Denial of Membership On Any Committee Dealing with Beer Control

We, the undersigned wish publicly to make the following statements (THIS TIME AT OUR OWN EXPENSE). The signatures below were given of our own volition and were not obtained for publication by subterfuge.

(1) We have not found or formed at any time any such committee as the "Moore County Citizens Committee for the Legal Control of Beer."

(2) We are not members of any such committee either by self-appointment or otherwise.

(3) We had no part financial or otherwise in the insertion of the full page advertisement in The Moore County News of Thursday, April 21st, 1949 and other County papers which so heartily urged the continued legalization of beer. In fact, we had no knowledge that such advertisement was to be run.

(4) Any stand which we may have as to the continued legalization of beer is our own individual opinion meant only for our individual expression, at our own desire and to our own immediate friends at a time of our own choice; we have had no desire at any time that such opinions be used in a county-wide fashion to influence the thought, ideas, or choice of other individuals.

(5) While it so happens that we do favor the legal control of beer for various reasons, we highly disapprove of the method of the beer interests in obtaining our signatures on what was purported to be a generally circulated petition, but which turned out to be a petition presented to a select few, said petition then being used for publication with the implication that we had organized ourselves into a group with undue interest in the continued legalization of the beer industry.

(6) Our resentment at the unauthorized use of our names is such that we would like to state that we believe the citizens as a whole have the right to express themselves on this question or any other question when it is legally proper.

(7) Again we especially want it known that we are not on any committee of any kind to promote the legalization or the prohibition of beer. Our interests are not such that we care to have an active part in the matter, one way or the other, at this time or any other time.

(8) We do hereby notify the beer interests that they are not to use our names for the promotion of their interest at any time in the future.
