

Christmas Is Giving As Well As Receiving

On the last day of school before the holidays began, the schoolchildren had their "WhChristmas" bringing gifts of food to lay beneath the Christmas tree. Here are the first graders, with his gift to add to the growing pile. The cans of food were later distributed in Christmas baskets sent out by the Council of Social Agencies. Beginning Monday of next week and running through Friday night a series of studies will be presented on the Book of Acts, at the church at 7:30, the pastor, Rev. Otis J. Hagler, being the teacher.

This study is for the whole church and community and is a part of the Southwide Bible Study for January, for the 25,000 Baptist Churches of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Rotary Club
At last week's Rotary Club, which met at McDonald's Cafe on Thursday, Beal Hargrove of McGregor, Texas, spoke informally on his work in the state. He is with an agriculture experiment station of the Texas State Department of Agriculture and is connected with the Texas A. and M. College.

Presbyterian Christmas Party
The annual children's Christmas party was held last Friday night in the Sunday school room. A good time was had by all the little folks, and those who were with them and witnessed their pleasure.

The expenses of the Christmas tree were underwritten by the Shields Bible Class. The Grace Worth Class had charge of the purchase and wrapping of gifts. The tree was given by Mr. Jesse Nunnery. The decorating was done by Mr. P. H. McDonald, Mr. Russell G. Smith, and Mr. P. H. McDonald, Jr. The pianist was Mrs. L. R. Sugg and Mr. W. H. Currie, Superintendent of the Sunday School, presided.

The teachers of the classes for the younger children bought the gifts for their classes and wrapped them. An interesting program was given.
