

Brown Announces Requirements For Enumerator Jobs

Applicants for employment as enumerators for the 17th Decennial census in Moore county and adjoining areas will be required to pass oral and written tests to demonstrate their ability for the work, according to W. Lamont Brown, district supervisor for the U. S. Bureau of the Census. The tests will indicate which applicants can best comprehend and follow the detailed and exacting written and oral instructions given to enumerators as they train for their assignment.

To date, Supervisor Brown stated, about 200 applications have been received for the 368 enumerator positions to be filled. Among these are a number of war veterans, who will be given preference for appointment over non-veterans provided they meet other qualifications.

Applicants must be United States citizens of good health and character, have completed high school or have comparable experience, be between 21 and 65 years of age, preferably between 25 and 40, and be financially able to sustain themselves for four weeks before receiving their first salary check. Ineligible for consideration are those who draw federal retirement pay (other than social security); state or local government employees, law enforcement officers, officers of political organizations, individuals engaged in political activity or contemplating such activity during the census-taking period. Close relatives will not be considered for employment in the same locality.

Damages Set For Injuries Sustained At Carnival; Civil Term Is Brief One

Mistrial Declared In Grimm Accident; Many Continuations

Martha Ivey Calloway was awarded $500 and Mrs. Lola West $400 in suits against Harrison's Greater Shows, Inc., tried at the civil term of superior court this week, for injuries sustained when a crowded platform gave way at the carnival last spring. They were reported to be now completely recovered.

The accident occurred when the two girls, who live near Aberdeen, attended the carnival while it was playing near Abdeen, on Highway 1 south. They were part of a mob which flocked there for the drawing of tickets for the giving away of "a live baby"—which turned out to be a baby pig.

Owners of the carnival were held liable in the suits not only for having a faultily built platform, which could not stand the weight of the crowd on it, but for fraud in advertising a pig as a baby, thus drawing an eagerly pushing crowd through false representation.

Original suits instituted by next friends of the injured girls were for $5,000 for Miss Calloway, who suffered a sprained arm, and $10,000 for Mrs. West, who had a sprained ankle. Action was started within a day or two after the accident, while the carnival was still playing here, and it was attached in its entirety by the sheriff's department though later its owner was permitted to pay bond so "the show could go on."

Court Ends Wednesday

The civil term opened Monday at Carthage, ending abruptly at noon Wednesday with many cases still on the calendar. These were continued. Judge F. Don Phillips of Rockingham presided.

In Leslie Rivers Pulley vs Edna F. Holley al, plaintiffs and defendants were heirs of John R. Rivers, who during his lifetime sold talc mine property near Robbins to J. D. Wilcox. Question posed the jury was: was the grantor mentally competent to sign the deed? It was adjudged that he was not and the court ordered the deed set aside, invalidating the sale. The defendants of whom Wilcox was one, notified of appeal to the State Supreme court.

Judgment of $90 was approved in A. O. Monroe vs. J. S. Assad al. Non-suit was taken in John Costello vs. O. K. Conrad al, as matters in question were settled out of court. Non-suit was also taken in T. R. Hiatt vs. A. P. Maples and wife, as plaintiff did not appear when called.

Mistrial Declared

In Herman H. Grimm vs. A. T. Watson al, a mistrial was declared in action arising from a wreck between Grimm's car and a bus near Fayetteville, July 21, 1948. Inadvertent bringing of the insurance element in the case by both sides caused the Judge to go into swift action, dismissing the jury and continuing the case.

Land of the late Mrs. Kathryn A. Seawell will be divided equally among the heirs according to the law in cases of this kind, said the judge, remanding the case Gilmer Seawell vs Virginia Purvis al to the clerk of court for disposition. The property will be surveyed and shares of equal size determined. The suit was a family affair, brought by the heirs for clarification of Mrs. Seawell's will, by which two sons were left 50 acre tracts without any boundaries designated.

Non-suit was taken in G. W. Starling vs. J. S. Younts, as it appeared plaintiff had the wrong defendant. In instituting action for payment for a piano, the court ruled, the Sandhill Community Broadcasters, Inc., should have been made defendant rather than Younts as an individual, even though he is president of the company.

Recovers $1,000

McNeill and Company of Southern Pines was authorized to recover $1,000 from C. L. Dutton al for supplies sold to Dutton by the seed and feed store over a period of time. Half the amount, $500, was to be paid immediately, the other $500 after six months.

In a hearing of Southern Pines Warehouses, Inc., vs. R. L. Rosser which took place after the close of court, matters were referred to a referee. W. D. Sabiston, Jr., was appointed referee in the case.

Coleman Speaks On History Of Near East

Arch Coleman, of Skyline, guest speaker Sunday night at the Fellowship Forum of the Church of Wide Fellowship, held a large group of members and guests spellbound with a talk on Near Eastern religions and the checker-board history of Christianity's shrine Jerusalem.

Stationed in the Near East during the war as an observer for the Office of Strategic Services, Mr. Coleman had rich opportunity to observe the life and customs of that part of the world at close range. Scenes of Christ's life on earth, he said, were apparently regarded with little of the reverence felt for them by His followers farther off, as they are looked on more in the light of tourist attractions.

He traced the history of Jerusalem from the Crusades, relating how over 12 centuries the birthplace of Christ has been possessed by first one, then the other side of hostile legions, and is now the center of a motley entourage representing many religions. Predominantly Christian, these differ widely, however, in their customs and traditions.

The importance of the Near East as gateway to the Orient has made it a center of struggle since Biblical days, he said, with tinder-box potentialities also for the present and future.

Mr. Coleman was presented by O. D. Griffin, who arranged the program with Miss Blanche Sherman as co-chairman.

Mrs. Guin And Miss Newton Open Dressmaking Shop

Mrs. Mary Guin and Miss Mary Scott Newton are partners in a new venture the Mary Guin shop, which will open today (Friday) at Miss Newton's home, 410 South West Broad street.

The shop is for dressmaking and all other types of custom sewing, also for the sale of materials. A good selection of new cottons, rayons, light wools and some pure silk and other materials for spring wear have been laid in for the opening. Appropriate materials "by the yard" are to be kept in stock well in advance of seasonal needs.

Besides dresses, the partners will make hats, bags, suits, skirts, blouses, lingerie, etc.

Both Mrs. Guin and Miss Newton are local people, well known in the community. They have been employed for the past several years at Anglow Tweeds, Inc. which they are leaving in order to open their shop. Before going to Anglow Tweeds Mrs. Guin was for some years a successful dressmaker here.

Bond Sales Show Gain In January

Sales of U. S. Savings Bonds Series E, F and G in Moore county from January 1 through January 31 amounted to $48,962.50. Of this amount $47,962.50 was in Series E bonds; none in Series F bonds and, $1,000 in Series G bonds.

Total sales of Series E, F and G bonds for all 100 counties in North Carolina were as follows: Series E $4,845,823; Series F $249,084; Series G $2,443,100; total $7,538,007.

This information was given by E. C. Stevens, chairman of the Moore County Savings Bonds committee, from the monthly sales report issued by the State Savings Bonds office in Greensboro.

He said that total sales of Series E Bonds as well as total E, F and G Bonds, for North Carolina's 100 counties in the month of January were greater than any month since December 1947.

The large increase in January sales was attributed to two main factors: investments by veterans with money received from National Service Life Insurance dividend checks, and reinvestment by holders of matured 1940 Series D Bonds into Series E Bonds.

The entire proceeds from the maturing Series D Bonds may be reinvested in Series E Bonds without regard to the $10,000 maturity value limitation on E Bond purchases by an individual in a calendar year, the county chairman reminded.
