McConnell Is Kiwanis Speaker; Hallman Named

Dr. Cheatham Is Elected Honorary Member

John D. McConnell, soon to return to the Sandhills after two years in Washington as Senator Graham's administrative assistant, told the Sandhills Kiwanis club some of the problems of the nation's lawmakers, at the club's weekly meeting held Wednesday at the Pinehurst Community church.

He posed a number of hypothetical questions similar to those faced by congressmen and senators all the time. They concerned the country's economic stability, all-out preparedness, social effects of the Taft-Hartley law, political unrest seen in attempts to offset the free enterprise system, and adjustment toward wider use of the voting franchise.

In a report of the nominating committee, the following slate was proposed for election November 22: L. L. Hallman, Aberdeen, president; Dr. P. J. Chester, Southern Pines, president, and John M. Howarth, Southern Pines, treasurer. According to the club's by-laws, additional nominations may be made by any member during the next two weeks. They may be presented to Col. G. P. Hawes, Jr., of Pinehurst, nominating committee chairman.

Dr. T. A. Cheatham, a charter member of the club and rector emeritus of the Village Chapel, Pinehurst, tendered his resignation from active membership effective the end of this year. He was elected to honorary membership by unanimous vote of the club. Garland McPherson, president, conducted the meeting. The club will meet during the rest of November at the Hollywood hotel, Southern Pines.

W. A. Wright Will Head TB Seal Sale In Moore County November-December

Traditional Seals Aid In Fight Against Tuberculosis

The 1950 Christmas Seal sale of the Moore County Tuberculosis association will be headed by William A. Wright, it was announced this week by W. C. Scoggins of Robbins, president of the Association.

Mr. Wright, a farmer and insurance agent who lives at Ridgecrest Farm between Pinehurst and Jackson Springs, will be Moore County chairman for the 44th annual seal sale of the National Tuberculosis Association. The sale extends from November 20 to December 25.

Chairmen for communities throughout the county will be announced by Mr. Wright next week.

"I consider it a great honor to serve as chairman of the 1950 Christmas seal sale in Moore county," the newly appointed chairman said this week. "I shall do everything to make this year's seal sale the best we have ever had and I am certain that I can count both on my committee members and the cooperation of the people of the county."

Mr. Wright recalled that for many years residents of Moore county have given strong and enthusiastic support to the work of the Tuberculosis association, and that the county quota was exceeded in the 1949 sale.

Son of ECTC President
The sale chairman, who moved to Ridgecrest Farm in 1947, is the son of the late Dr. Robert W. Wright who served as president of Eastern Carolina Teachers college, Greenville, for 25 years, from the founding of the college until Dr. Wright's death in 1934. His mother, Mrs. Pearl M. Wright, is now living at Ridgecrest Farm.

Mr. Wright's wife is the former Ruth Eberhart of Buffalo, N. Y., a city where Mr. Wright was a production engineer for the Curtis Aircraft company before the war. Mrs. Wright is active in the Moore County Hospital auxiliary and other civic interests of the Sandhills.

As a farmer, Mr. Wright specializes in production of certified seed grain and muscadine-type grapes. He is associated with the insurance agency of John Underwood in Southern Pines.

Trustee Of Local Church
The seal sale chairman is a trustee of the Church of Wide Fellowship, Southern Pines, and a teacher of the men's Bible class there. He is a member of the Southern Pines Elks club. In World War 2, he entered the Army as a private and served four years, leaving the service with the rank of first lieutenant.

Funds from the county's seal sale will finance the 1951 tuberculosis prevention and control program of the Moore County association. County projects financed by the seal sale include supplying of extra milk for patients newly discharged from a sanatorium; helping purchase food and medicine for patients waiting to be admitted to a sanatorium; taking chest x-rays of friends and relatives of tuberculosis patients; and other projects such as the mass x-ray survey held in Moore county in 1949.

C Of C Directors Deem Credit Bureau Services Essential; Projects Planned

Membership Campaign Set To Begin With Breakfast Nov. 8

Chamber of Commerce directors at their regular meeting last week laid plans for a campaign breakfast, to be held at the Hollywood hotel Wednesday, November 8, as a starter for the fall membership campaign.

Plans were made also for the campaign, which it is hoped will result in a full quota of renewals and many new memberships.

This was the first board meeting at which Arch F. Coleman, the new Chamber president, presided, and was held on Monday night instead of Tuesday as he had to go out of town the next day. Harry Fullenwider, immediate past president, attended to help clear up "old business."

Merchants' Association
On the "old business" agenda was the matter of whether or not the Chamber, original sponsor of the Sandhills Merchants association, which then expanded and became independent, should and could take the Merchants association back under its wing. With the Credit Rating Bureau as its chief project, the organization has initiated a valuable service to local merchants which, however, is a long way from being self-supporting.

In general discussion the directors expressed the belief that the Credit Rating Bureau should continue, as it has a good start and its confidential files are now built up to a point of extreme usefulness.

Difficulties in the way appeared as follows: (1) if operated by an agency other than a Merchants association, there is a $500 annual state tax; (2) members extending credit, who can make best use of its benefits, have been slow to appreciate these benefits and too few of them use it; (3) fees paid for credit reports by out-of-town agencies have been too low for the work involved; (4) an office secretary shared by the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants association cannot fairly divide her time, as getting up the credit reports and answering inquiries take up a major portion of it—more than the returns pay for; (5) the Sandhills Merchants association is now heavily in debt with no immediately apparent way of paying out.

Also, it was pointed out, if the Merchants association is to continue as such it should be incorporated, for protection in the handling of confidential material.

President Coleman appointed W. Lamont Brown chairman of a committee to be selected by himself, to try to iron out the kinks and determine if there is any practical method by which the Merchants association can continue to operate, or if the Chamber should take over and if so, how.

Secretary Sought
A. C. Dawson, Jr., and Mrs. Mary Baxter, members of a committee appointed to select a new office secretary, reported no luck so far. Several possibilities were discussed and they are to report at the next meeting.

Appreciation was expressed of the work of Mrs. Louise W.

Clarke, who served as acting secretary for several days on President Coleman's request, clearing out files and catching up on back correspondence and also refusing to accept any pay.
Discussion as to whether or not to seek a new location, larger and more central, for the Chamber offices was continued. George Pottle was appointed to study this matter, investigate suggested sites and report at the next meeting.
Further discussion included possible convention business, the setting up of associate memberships for individuals, and the presentation of Chamber achievements and plans to be made to the town board by President Coleman in applying for continuation of the Town's financial grant on a monthly basis, for advertising purposes.

Attending the meeting were President Coleman, Past President Fullenwider and directors Harold McAllister, John C. Parish, W. Lamont Brown, A. C. Dawson, Jr., Mrs. Mary Baxter, N. L. Hodgkins, Jr., George Pottle, W. L. Baker and Joe Garzik.

Sluggers Still Sought; Convicts Taken After Escape Aided By School Bus

Manhunt Centers On Another Prison Camp Escapee

The statewide hunt for a "light-skinned Negro" who last Wednesday slugged two Moore County farmers and robbed one of them of $353, continued unabated this week but without success, according to information from the sheriff's department.

In the meantime another manhunt had a more satisfactory conclusion, as two convicts who escaped from a road gang of the Carthage prison camp were apprehended Saturday at Greensboro.

The two white men were viewed by Coley and Walter McIntosh, of near Vass, victims of last week's hold-up, on the chance the "mulatto" might have been one of them. However, the brothers said neither resembled the slugging.

Supt. M. C. Jackson of the highway prison camp this week told a
