Hunter Trials Will Open With Parade of Moore County Hounds at Scotts Corner, 2 P. M. Saturday

Local, Visiting Owners Provide Fine Field For Hunter Trials

By E. O. Hippus

The Hunter Trials to take place out at the old Scott farm on Young's Road Saturday afternoon are likely to bring forth one of the largest entries of hunters and jumpers ever seen in this popular event.

time. It looks as if the decision was going to pay off with one of the best hunter shows to be held in many years.

Walsh Girls To Ride Guessing the winners is the subject of much talk, here, with the great question whether "the champ" will be able to keep his laurels. This is Bright Light, the outstanding bay horse with the gay way of going and the fine steady performance.

Five Classes Listed; Plenty Of Parking Space

The annual Hunter Trials of the Moore County Hounds, to be held on the Scotts Corner course here starting at 2 p.m. Saturday, will open with the picturesque Parade of Hounds, followed by the full field in pink.

Classes to follow immediately will be: (1) Green Hunters; (2) Thoroughbred Hunters; (3) Non-thoroughbred Hunters; (4) Open Hunters; (5) Hunt Teams of Three.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Calvert, of Warrenton, Va., will be judges. Dennis Crotty of Pinehurst will be announcer.

Individual admission tickets and parking spaces are to be sold. The parking area is ample for all cars, and all places command a full view of the course.

A buffet dinner and Hunt Ball will follow at the Highland Pines Inn.

Niles Will Sing Mountain Ballads In Concert Tonight

John Jacob Niles, rated as America's foremost folksinger, will present a program of authentic Anglo-American ballads, carols, street songs, work songs and nursery rhymes at the school auditorium tonight (Friday) at 8:30 o'clock.

The concert is the first in the spring series of the Sandhills Music association.

Mr. Niles, a Kentuckian, will present his own collection of songs tracing back to England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland, brought to this country by pioneers of the 18th and 19th centuries.

They constitute an important part of the folk music of America. As such he has recorded them in albums for Victor Red Seal, accompanying them on dulcimers of his own making.

The Sandpipers February tournament will be held Sunday at the Southern Pines Country club with a fine assortment of prizes for a medal play partners tournament.

The aggregate medal play scores of two partners will count, with one-half of the combined handicaps of the two players deducted from the gross. Prizes will be awarded the net winners, second and third place teams. There will also be two prizes for first and second individual low gross cards.

Prizes include golf bags, golf shoes and sweaters. In order to play in this event, members dues must be paid up. The Sandpipers has more than 100 members and is making marked progress under President Leo Walper, of Parham driving range.

There will be an entry fee of $2, which will also cover greens fees.

This will be the first tournament conducted at the Southern Pines Country club since the Elks club took over, and Sandpiper officials urge all members to turn out and remain for the buffet supper.

President Walper points out that it is a fine thing for the Sandhills golfing community to have an organization like the Elks joining in the golf enterprises of this section.

The Elks have started to improve the course and last word came from Mr. Jack Clubhouse, and golfers will find son who escaped from China with excellent greens and fairways.

Players are requested to phone supper reservations to the club.

GUARDSMEN'S BALL

The Second Annual National Guard ball, sponsored by the local battery, will be held at the Southern Pines Country club tonight (Friday) from 9 "hill."

The Guardsmen in uniform, their ladies and friends will dance to music by Bill Lowder and his Fayette Orchestra. Among the guests will be bat- talion officers from Raeford and Red Springs.

Persons wishing to attend the John Jacob Niles concert will find there is no conflict—they can come to the dance later. It will just be getting into full swing.

Tickets may be secured from any of the battery mem- bers or local drugstores.

Mrs. Brockwell Names Chairmen For Easter Seals

Plans for this year's Easter Seal sale were announced this week by Mrs. Sherwood Brockwell, Jr., chairman of the Moore County chapter of the N. C. League for Crippled Children, which sponsors the annual event.

The Seal sale will begin Sunday and continue through Easter Sunday, March 25—the earliest it has been held in 38 years, as Easter is the earliest this year since 1913, when it fell on March 23.

Moore county's quota for 1951 is $1,700, Mrs. Brockwell said. (Continued on Page 5)

Seen For Alcoholic; Clubs Hear Talks By Dr. Forizs, S. K. Proctor

Sandhills Kiwanis and Pines Rotary clubs last heard programs on different of the same subject—alco- and what the state of Carolina is doing about it.

Dr. Forizs turned out to be one of those rare persons—a psychia- trist who can speak to laymen in their own language; and it was a lucid and interesting variety of their language, with only slight traces to indicate his Hungarian origin.

"Alcohol, Cats and People" was his subject and he related these quickly to each other in describing experiments undertaken with cats, which showed psychiatrists much of the nature of human be- ings, and why they become ad- dicted to alcohol. It showed, too, that the addiction can be remov- ed—"though this is not so simple in humans as in cats," the doctor explained.

"Cats have no moth- ers-in-law, nagging wives, bills to pay or unhappy childhood memo- ries." These were given as only random samples of the kind of thing which can set up a conflict

New Directories Will Be Mailed Early Next Week

The cut-over to Southern Pines' new dial telephone system will be made at midnight next Thursday, March 1, it was announced this week by John E. Cline, head of the Central Carolina Telephone company here.

Subscribers will change over at the same time to a whole new set of telephone numbers. These will all contain five digits instead of four. The first digit in every case will be "2" and the change for most people will consist only in the addition of "2" at the begin- ning of their old number.

In making the spread from 400 to 600 lines, however, greatly in- creasing the present and future capacity of the system, a good many numbers had to be en- tirely changed. New telephone directories will be mailed to all subscribers early next week and Mr. Cline asked that these be con- sulted every time before a num- ber is called.

Another change, he said, which will be instantly noted is the new dial tone, also the fact that the dial tone does not come on the in- stant the receiver is lifted but a second or two after. "Please wait for the dial tone before you start to dial," Mr. Cline asks. This co- operation is necessary if the new system is to give the good service for which it was designed and in- stalled.

Long-Anticipated The new system was promised local subscribers two and a half years ago. Equipment had then been on order about a year. After many delays it arrived last sum- mer, and installation was started seven months ago in the old tele- phone offices on East New Hamp- shire avenue. Business offices of the company were moved to East Broad street to give plenty of room.

One vital piece of equipment, however, failed to arrive. Every- thing was ready for the cutover by November 1 except for this im- portant part, the "interrupter," by which power is carried over in the event of a temporary power fail- ure so that service goes ahead without interruption.

The "interrupter" finally arriv- ed Wednesday of this week, and is now being installed.

"Intercept Board" A new and most welcome fea- ture of the system will be the "in- tercept board," by which a sub- scriber calling a number which is no longer in use is automatically connected with an operator. The operator informs him of the change and connects him with the correct number of the party he is calling.

The best, and most important, change is expected to be seen in the service in general, which will have the benefit of completely new and modern automatic elec- tric equipment. Everything is

VFW Convention Dates Set For June 7-10 Here

Dates of Thursday through Sunday, June 7-10, for the 21st annual state VFW convention, to be held this year in Southern Pines, were confirmed by the State Council of Administration meeting last Saturday and Sunday in High Point.

The convention is expected to bring 1,500 to 2,000 members of approximately 200 North Carolina posts to this community, of whom an estimated 1,000 will need accommodations for the weekend. Every available room in hotels, motels and local guest houses, and possibly a number of rooms in private homes will be required, it is estimated by John Buchholz, convention chairman of the John Boyd post, which will act as host.

Representatives of the conven- tion committee attending the meeting at High Point included Chairman Buchholz, Post Com- mander Don A. Jones, C. S. Patch, Jr., Jack S. Younts, George Mc- Cormac and Bob Arey.

Tentative plans as outlined there have as highlights the reg- istration and Grand Scratch (state meeting) of Cooties, the VFW (in organization), to be held Thursday, June 10; registration of the main body of the state depart- ment Friday; a chicken fry Thurs- day evening, banquet and ball Saturday evening, golf tourna- ment and beauty contest with en- tertainment sponsored by posts all over the state. The contest winner will be the North Carolina depart- ment's entry at the national con- vention to be held at Chicago later in the summer. (Last year's North Carolina contestant won second place.)

A group of committees of the local post is at present working out plans for the convention.

AT ATLANTIC CITY

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Weaver are spending the week in Atlantic City where Superintendent Weaver is attending the annual meeting of the American Associa- tion of School Administrators.

Father Harkins Will Be Rector of Raleigh Cathedral

The Rev. Herbert A. Harkins, rector of St. Anthony's Catholic church here for the past 9 years, will go to Raleigh next week as rector of Sacred Heart Cathedral, seat of the Catholic diocese of North Carolina.

His promotion was made known to him by Bishop Vincent E. Waters last Friday, and an- nounced Sunday by Father Harkins to his parishioners at mass.

He will be succeeded here by the Very Rev. Peter M. Denges, now pastor of St. John the Baptist church at Roanoke Rapids, who was at one time associated with Father Dillon in the early years of the local parish.

Friends of Father Harkins, Catholic and non-Catholic, will tender him a farewell dinner at Dante's restaurant at 6:30 tonight (Friday).

During his years of service in Southern Pines the church has ap- proximately doubled in size, num- bering now more than 300 parish- ioners.

Father Harkins has during this time served also as chaplain at the N. C. Sanatorium at McCain, and also at St. Joseph of the Pines hospital here since its founding (Continued on Page 8)

Timothy Chang Of China Will Be Forum Speaker

Timothy Chang of Fukien Province, China, will be the speaker at the Forum of the Church of Wide Fellowship next Sunday at 8 p. m. Timothy is from a large family and his family are all Christians. He has been at Duke university studying for the past two years and has made a good record.

After graduation from Fukien Christian university at Foochow, Mr. Chang taught near his home. There he met Dick Jackson from Waverly, Va., who had gone to Shaowu to help re-open the Han Mei School. Under the guidance of Mr. Jackson, arrangements were made for his coming to the States to study. He has been sup- ported by the women of the Con- gregational Christian churches in North Carolina and Virginia.

Recently Mr. Chang's brother, Silas, came to the United States to study for his doctor's degree. Neither of the Changs has heard this from their family recently. Theed to improve the course and last word came from Mr. Jack Clubhouse, and golfers will find son who escaped from China with excellent greens and fairways.
