Carolina

Continuing through tonight (Friday) and Saturday, April 13-14 at 8:15 p. m., with a Saturday matinee at 3 at the Carolina theatre, Southern Pines, are John Wayne, Patricia Neal and Ward Bond in the exciting submarine picture "Operation Pacific." This film keeps up its brisk pace from the very beginning, in which a group of children and some nuns are rescued by the sub from out of the jungle. There follow mission after mission until the grand climax is reached in which the sub finds itself in the middle of the Imperial Japanese fleet.

Starting Sunday, April 15 at 8:15 p. m. and continuing through Wednesday with a Tuesday matinee at 3, is the film version of Richard Walton Tully's stage success, "Bird Of Paradise," starring Louis Jourdan, Debra Paget and Jeff Chandler. The lyrical quality and the wealth of intriguing folklore with which Delmar Daves endowed "Broken Arrow" have been lavished even more fancifully on "Bird Of Paradise" by the same writer-director. This beautifully produced, modernized version of the South Sea Island classic is a pictorial as well as an entertaining treat for today's audiences. Photographed in Technicolor at the natural lush locales in Hawaii, the picture gives the patron an exquisite sequence of magnificent backgrounds. Fine performances and overall excellence make this one film no one will want to miss.

Starting Thursday night, April 19 at 8:15 is the return to the Sandhills of that feast for music lovers, "Of Men and Music," presenting Arthur Rubinstein, the world renowned pianist; Jascha Heifetz, violin virtuoso; Jan Peerce, tenor, and Nadine Conner, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, and the Philharmonic orchestra under the direction of the famous Conductor Dimitri Mitropoulos, with narrator Deems Taylor.

Twentieth Century-Fox has planned more pictures like this; the reception of this one will have a great deal to do with the making of their plans into realities. Those who desire to hear great music now have that opportunity.

zona was the goal of many ex-soldiers seeking further adventure after the Civil War. And to this roaring pioneer territory came a former Confederate officer who started a rugged private war of his own.

So begins the story of "Sugarfoot," Warner Brothers epic western drama in color by Technicolor, which begins its local engagement at the Sunrise Theatre on Sunday, April 15.

The title role of the film is handled by Randolph Scott, last seen in "Colt 45," whose collection of fan letters from all over the world is proof enough that he is tops among Hollywood's two-fisted cowboy stars.

Adele Jergens, rising young actress who performed in many swank New York night clubs before moving west, supplies the romance while Raymond Massey and S. Z. Sakall, masters of menace and mirth, respectively, are also featured.

Written by Clarence Budington Kelland, one of America's most beloved authors, "Sugarfoot" introduces a wealth of frontier characters, ranging from the fighting "Sugarfoot" himself, to Jacob Stint, a Quantrell raider who turned to Arizona as a fruit-laden tree ripe for plundering. It is between these two men that much of the action revolves.

Trenton, capital of New Jersey, is named after William Trent, who bought the city's site in 1714.
