Mrs. Beasley Passes At Monroe At Age of 82
Mrs. George M. Beasley, 82, of Monroe died Friday afternoon in the Monroe hospital following a long period of failing health and several days of critical illness.
She was the mother of John Beasley of Southern Pines, who with his brother George M. Beasley, Jr., of Troy, publishes the Moore County News and Montgomery Herald.
Funeral services were held at Monroe Saturday, at the Harris-Wells Funeral home with the Rev. C. Arthur Francis officiating. Burial was in the Monroe cemetery.
Mrs. Beasley was the former Miss Eleanor Austin, daughter of J. G. W. and Frances Houston Austin, and was long a beloved community leader in Monroe. She married into one of North Carolina's best known publishing families. Her husband, with his brother R. P. Beasley, is one of the founders and present owners of the Monroe Journal.
Surviving besides her husband are four daughters, Miss Antoinette Beasley of Monroe, Mrs. John Wallerstein of Lewes, Del., Mrs. K. D. Barnett of Tarpon Springs, Fla., and Mrs. Horace Helms of Charlotte; two sons, John Beasley of Southern Pines and George M. Beasley of Troy; one brother, Vernon C. Austin, and one sister, Mrs. T. T. Smith, both of Monroe.

Paratrooper Loses Korean Souvenir As Concealed Weapon
James Herman (Jim) Lentz, of Southern Pines, was defendant in one accident case and prosecuting witness in another, in recorders court at Carthage Monday. The two accidents took place less than a month apart. Lentz was in court with his left arm still bound as a result of injuries suffered in the first accident, May 18.
In connection with this wreck, an early-morning collision on Youngs road, both Lentz and the driver of the other car, Odell Lexie McCrimmon of Southern Pines, were convicted of driving at excessive speed, taking into consideration the condition of the road, and judgment was continued for each on payment of costs. Both defendants and a friend in McCrimmon's car, who acted as his witness, were hurt.
The second accident took place June 17, and in this case James Duke (Roscoe) Sheffield, Pinehurst youth, offered a plea of guilty of driving on the wrong side of the road in lieu of the original charge of careless and reckless driving. This the state accepted, along with Sheffield's plea of guilty of hit-run. He was given a 60-day road sentence, suspended on payment of $200 for damages to Lentz's car, also the costs, and on condition that he violate no traffic laws in the next 12 months.
Of three drivers convicted of careless and reckless driving and drunken driving, all pleading guilty, two gave notice of appeal to superior court. These were Dunston Gales, of Pinehurst, and James P. Jackson, Lakeview. Wayne L. Brown, Carthage, accepted the penalty, which was the same for all three—60 days suspended on payment of $100 and costs, with license revocation for 12 months.
A corporal of the 82nd Airborne division, Lloyd C. Rice, living in Southern Pines was fined $50 and costs on conviction of carrying a concealed weapon, and his pistol, an Italian weapon brought back by a fellow paratrooper as a souvenir of Korean warfare, was ordered destroyed. Corporal Rice, testifying for himself in full uniform with overseas ribbons and battle stars, wearing the green shoulder tabs of the combat leader, declared he did not know his newly acquired pistol was concealed at the time police stopped him downtown in Southern Pines. Unloaded, in a holster attached to his belt, it was hidden beneath the loose tail of his sport shirt, the arresting policeman said. He had no permit, the corporal stated, "but my commanding officer knew I had it and said it was all right." "That made it all right on the reservation," said Judge Rowe, "but in town the civilian law must be observed."
Speeders pleading guilty and paying up Monday were Henry S. Ozmint, Aberdeen, 70 mph, $25 and costs; Floyd Deese, Aberdeen Rt. 1, 70 mph, $30 and costs; Ernest Kelly, Hamlet, 70 mph, $25 and costs; Elvin Mayhew, Jackson Springs Rt. 1, 55 mph (truck), $25 and costs; Jack Dunn, Dunn, 70 mph, $25 and costs.
Judgment was continued for James Kimball, of Vass, on conviction of public drunkenness and unlawful possession of illicit whiskey. Mary Johnson, Carthage, got 30 days in jail or working at the county home for public drunkenness and disorderly conduct.
Junius Crumpton, Aberdeen, pleading not guilty to assaults, threats etc., received a three months' road sentence, suspended on payment of $25, costs and Etta Mae Seagroves' hospital bill. On another count against Crumpton, careless and reckless driving, state's witness Dannie McDougal failed to appear and a fine of $15 was imposed on him for failure to heed the subpoena.
William Haywood Ransom, sole address "Army," failed to appear in answer to a bastardy and non-support charge and sci fa was ordered on his bondsman ($300) returnable next Monday, also capias for Ransom.
No probable cause was found against Sylvester Maloy and Weldon Greene, the former pleading not guilty, the latter guilty, to larceny of a power chain saw.
The verdict for Joseph DeWitt Hensley, Southern Pines, was not guilty of driving while drunk, and careless and reckless driving. However, Judge J. Vance Rowe noted on his book: "Parenthetically, the court is of the opinion that in a government like ours it is the duty of a citizen to cooperate with the regularly constituted

Last Week's Docket
(Held over for lack of space)
Cases Continued

A number of cases were continued at the close of the busy day, adding to the ever-increasing reserve with which it seems Moore's one-day court cannot now catch up. Most of those tried were traffic and highway law violation cases.
The docket (all penalties plus costs unless otherwise noted):
Andrew Ledbetter, Fairmont, driving without operator's license, truck overweight by 6,100 pounds, prayer for judgment continued, $25, defendant ordered not to operate vehicle without first obtaining license; Joe Allen Purvis, Purvis, speeding 70 mph, $25; Robert Lewis Fowe, Cheraw, S. C., speeding 70 mph, unlawful possession non-taxpaid whiskey, 60 days suspended, $75; Elton Johnnie McNeill, Steeds, careless and reckless driving resulting in wreck (nobody involved but defendant), judgment continued, $25; Sarah Horner and Virginia Purvis, Eagle Springs, and Blance Davis, Robbins, various charges of affray, at request of prosecuting witnesses not pros with leave taken for each case on payment of costs.
R. E. Davis, Carthage, worthless check, judgment continued; Walter Elliott Nutt, Oxford, speeding 75 mph, $35; Carl Blanchard, Jr., Carthage, driving while drunk, 60 days suspended, $100, license revoked for 12 months; James Edward McKeithen, Aberdeen, failing to stop at stop sign, using vile and abusive language in a public place and on a public street and highway, and interfering with a police officer in discharge of his duties, 60 days suspended, $50 and costs; William Shelton Davis, Steeds Rt. 1, careless and reckless driving, judgment continued, $25.
Benson S. Futrell, Vass, driving while drunk, 60 days suspended, $100, license revoked for 12 months, gave notice of appeal to superior court and bond was set at $300; Donnie McDougal and John D. Hill, Aberdeen, assault with deadly weapon, three months on roads as to each suspended on payment of half the costs each and on good behavior conditions for next two years, McDougal to pay half of Hill's hospital bill, Hill to pay the other half; James Marsh, Carthage, speeding, improper equipment, $10.
Out-of-state defendants on speeding charges who failed to appear and forfeited their cash bonds were as follows: Robert M. Mayer, 75 mph, Sandusky, Ohio; Walter Lee Turrentine, Stamford, Conn., 70 mph, $50; James Lewis Josey, College Park, Ga., $50; Jack Riner, Graymont, Ga., 70 mph, $50.
Also forfeiting a $50 cash bond was James Bryant Spivey, U. S. Army, Wisconsin, charged with possession and transporting of non-taxpaid whiskey.

Bragg Safety Engineer Moves To Fayetteville
Otto B. Edwards, post safety engineer at Fort Bragg and his family moved last week from Southern Pines to 925 Arsenal avenue, Fayetteville. They have been living at 305 West Illinois avenue while Mr. Edwards commuted daily to Fort Bragg.
The Edwardses had lived in Southern Pines since April 1947, when Mr. Edwards was transferred to Fort Bragg from Maxwell AFB, Ala. A native of Wilmington, he graduated in safety engineering at the University of Alabama and has held positions in private industry and a number of military installations.
At Fort Bragg he has responsibility for safety of personnel all over the reservation, a job which is enormously aggrandized during the maneuver periods.
During his residence here, Mr. Edwards gave much time to civic service in the safety field. He served as chairman of the Southern Pines Safety Council, which conducted safety campaigns here for eight successive months in 1950, and also worked with the Sandhills Kiwanis club in setting up their interclub program on highway safety which is now underway.
He was a charter member of the Southern Pines Lions club, and was recently installed as "tail twister."
Besides his wife, his family consists of Anna Graham, aged eight; Carolyn, six, and James, two.

Stamp Fans Hear Catalog On Order
An enthusiastic group attending the final meeting of the Sandhills Stamp club till next fall heard with pleasure the news that the Southern Pines library is, at the club's request, securing the latest issue of Scotts Standard catalog. The nine present participated in a contest on foreign stamps, in which the junior division winner was Jasia Guryn, the senior Harold M. Fowler. Stamps were given as prizes.
Each person then spoke briefly on "My Favorite Stamp." A wide diversity of favorites was noted, with good reasons for each choice.

John L. Currie Passes At Home Near Robbins
John L. Currie, 80, died suddenly last Thursday morning following a heart attack at his home near Robbins. Funeral services were held at the Robbins Methodist church Saturday afternoon, with burial in the church cemetery.
Surviving are his wife, the former Miss Blennie Statts; five daughters, Mrs. Charles Williams, Eagle Springs Rt. 1; Mrs. John Butler, Mrs. Archie Rhoades and Mrs. Clarence Moffitt of Robbins, and Miss Elgie Currie of the home; two sons, Carl E. Currie of Conroe, Texas, and J. Wilbur Currie of Robbins; two sisters, Miss Eugenia Currie and Mrs. L. S. Furr, of Eagle Springs Rt. 1; and 17 grandchildren.

The Rev. C. V. Covell, club leader, showed an exhibit of stamps of the British American lands. The meeting was held at the Park View hotel.
A group of Vance County home demonstration club women has just completed a 16-lesson course in the fundamentals of sewing.
