9th Air Force Serves Birthday Parade, Game

Public Is Invited Big Doings At The Field Saturday

A full treatment of parade, band concert, open football game and mass indoor ceremonies, the Ninth Air Force will celebrate its ninth anniversary Saturday at Pope Air Base, Fort Bragg.

An assembled civilian parade from neighboring communities will be held at the Ninth Air Force headquarters and will parade before Gen. E. J. Timberlake, commanding general, and key staff members. In a mass recruiting drive, Capt. Floyd E. Wilcox, USAF recruiting officer for the area, will swear in new enlistees.

The parade the Ninth Air Force will lead, under the direction of Lt. Col. Robert Dunn, will include a military band and classic selections will come in a 45-minute program.

The public is also invited to a game, when the Pope Air Base Pythons will meet the Artillery in a Fort Bragg game.

A talent show from the Air Force base will be reviewed in the Pope Base tonight (Friday) to launch a minute documentary radio dramatizing the Ninth's colorful history, to be broadcast in the parade in the Fayetteville area.

Commanders of the Ninth Air Force lead like a galaxy of Air Force stars. Chief-of-Staff Gen. S. Vandenberg led the command from August 1944 to July 1947.

Commanding generals included Maj. Gen. W. R. Archer, who was succeeded by Gen. Timberlake on the latter's return from Korea; Maj. Gen. Willis H. Hale, Maj. Gen. L. Williams (ret), Brig. Gen. H. Strahm, and Lieut. Col. H. Brereton (ret), who was the Ninth's first commanding general.

Expanding tactical air units had a colorful history that has stretched its canvas a 3000-mile crescent from the Mediterranean to the Pacific, England, France and Italy.

It shared in the defeat of Africa and the winning of the Mediterranean for the Allies, helped to lead the allied forces across the English Channel, through France to the gates of the Rhine.

Leading bomber operations in the Ninth Air Force in the Middle East on August 1, 1943, to groups of heavy bombers the Ploesti oil refinery, fuel source for the Axis in Romania. The attack through 2,600 miles of skies, was daring in its nature and its execution.

Warfare was also first over the Rhine.

ARMISTICE DAY

The county courthouse and all federal offices will be closed Monday, November 12, in observance of Armistice day, which actually falls on Sunday.

The Citizens Bank and Trust company of Southern Pines and other banks will also be closed.

At the Southern Pines post office, it was learned there will be no city mail delivery Monday. General delivery, parcel post and stamp windows will be open from 8 to 10 a. m. only. Box mail will be put up and outgoing mail will be worked as usual.

Judge Phillips Is Candidate For Supreme Court

Judge F. Donald Phillips of Rockingham, resident judge of the 13th judicial district, this week made formal announcement of his candidacy for associate judge of the State Supreme Court.

Judge Phillips has been resident judge of the 13th district, composed of the counties of Richmond, Stanly, Union, Moore, Anson and Scotland, since 1935, except for a period of service in 1946-47 as one of the judges of the international military tribunal at Nuernberg.

From 1923 to 1935, he was solicitor of the 13th district, a position now held by M. G. Boyette of Carthage.

He had to resign from the district bench in order to become a judge of the war criminals trials at Nuernburg. An interim judge was appointed. On his return to this country he was reappointed district judge by Governor Gregg Cherry, and was reelected to this post in 1950 for an 8-year term.

It is not indicated that he plans to resign from his present office in seeking election to the Supreme Court, and his announcement that he means to conduct no campaign would indicate that he will not.

His announcement follows: "I shall be a candidate in the Democratic primary in the spring of 1952 for the nomination of my party as associate justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina for the unexpired term of Chief Justice Devin, who recently resigned as associate justice to accept the appointment as successor to Chief Justice Stacy.

"This high office should not be sought by a personal campaign, but should be left entirely to the voice of the people. I will accept such a verdict at the hands of the electorate of the people of North Carolina. I have never held public office except by vote of the people and I am now asking the people of our great state to give me this opportunity of greater public service.

"In placing my name before the people I will not make a personal campaign. To do so would tend to make less dignified the high office to which I aspire."

Lina Daco Starts Construction of Modern Dwellings At Country Club

Construction started this week of modern, ranch-type dwellings for rental purposes on a tract of 100 feet at Country Club Road, Morganton road, north of the Southern Pines club property.

The land was purchased from the Home of Southern Pines, Inc., of the Southern Pines club, by the Carolina Corporation, which is putting dwellings for rental purposes on a tract directly along the drive which enters the club.

Completed, these homes will be 20 modern dwellings under rental by Carolina Mayfair, a 12-unit house at May street, Hampshire avenue, was the first. Two two-bedroom bungalows on land adjacent to the house, of simple construction, are nearing completion.

Country Club dwellings are three-bedroom homes, of simple construction, each different but of harmonious architecture, it was learned this week from Lloyd Dahmen, president of the Carolina Daco corporation.

Mr. Dahmen is also president of the Franklin-Daystrom corporation of New York City, a holding company owning various enterprises in several states, including several furniture plants in Pennsylvania. It was the builder, and is the owner, of Lakeside Terrace, exclusive suburb several miles out of Olean, N. Y., fringing a picturesque lake in the foothills of the Alleghenies.

Mr. Dahmen was founder in 1930 of the Daystrom corporation, in which he was joined by Mr. Brown in 1934. By 1945 Daystrom had become the world's largest producer of chrome furniture, then finding a ready acceptance as modern architecture and home furnishings forged ahead in the United States and other countries.

The Daystrom corporation, owning and operating plants near Maxton, N. C. and at Friendship and Olean, N. Y., was sold in 1945 and is now listed under that name.

Bloodmobile Coming Monday; 300 Pints Sought for Korea

"If that blood hadn't been there, I wouldn't be here," many a Korean casualty can say today concerning the value of Red Cross blood.

In Southern Pines, the Red Cross Bloodmobile is scheduled to pay a collection visit Monday. It will be at the Southern Pines gymnasium from 11 to 4:30 p. m.

The BPO Elks and Does of Southern Pines Lodge 1692 are sponsoring this return visit, and have been soliciting donors for the past week, with a minimum goal of 300 pints. By midweek approximately half of the necessary donors had been recruited, it was learned from John F. Buchholz, chairman of the Blood Bank program. However, reminded Mr. Buchholz, that leaves plenty of time for more donors "and we don't want to waste a minute of the Bloodmobile's visit here."

Red Cross Will Elect Tonight At Mid Pines

The Moore County chapter of the American Red Cross will hold its annual membership meeting tonight (Friday) at 8 o'clock at the Mid Pines club. Officers will be elected for 1952, and a special address will be heard by Maj. Willard Young, of the staff of USAFAGOS at Highland Pines Inn.

The 1952 slate of nominees is headed by the name of L. L. Hallman, of Aberdeen, for chairman. The name of A. L. Burney of Southern Pines will be presented for fund raising chairman, for the annual campaign which will be held as usual during the month of March. The Red Cross takes part in no federated drives.

Major Young will speak on Red Cross cooperation with, and services to, the armed forces from a background of years of war experience. During his 10 years of Army service, before being sent to his present assignment, he served with the 24th Infantry Regiment, 25th Division, during World War 2, also the 187th Regimental Airborne Combat team. In addition to service in the European theatre, he went through some of the heaviest fighting in Korea. He was a recipient of Red Cross blood during both campaigns.

He participated in combat jumps into Normandy, Germany and North Korea, and wears the Silver Star, the Bronze Star, the ETO ribbon with four battle stars and the Korean ribbon with three battle stars.

All members of the Moore County Red Cross chapter—and this includes all who have given $1 or more during the past year—are eligible, and invited, to attend the meeting. Coffee and cookies will be served.

State Alumni Will Meet At Carthage

Dr. Ralph E. Fadum, head of the Department of Civil Engineering at State college, Raleigh, will be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Moore County State College club Wednesday evening at the Carthage hotel.

There are approximately 100 State College men in Moore county, and all are urged to attend the meeting and hear Dr. Fadum, according to T. C. Auman, West End, who is in charge of arrangements. It will be a dinner meeting starting at 7 p. m.

Dr. Fadum is a native of Pittsburgh, who won his B. S. and Civil Engineering degrees in 1935 at the University of Illinois, his M. S. degree at Harvard in 1937 and his Doctor of Science degree also at Harvard, in 1941.

He taught soil mechanics and structures and civil engineering at Harvard from 1935 to 1943, and was a professor at Purdue university, teaching soil mechanics, from 1943 until he came to the State College staff in 1949.

Daily capacity of the Bloodmobile is about 375 pints.

Citizens are requested to phone the Red Cross chapter office, the Elks club or private numbers 2-8571 or 2-8911 to make appointment for an hour to suit their convenience. The Aberdeen Jaycees are soliciting donors in their area.

The Red Cross office here will be open from 1 to 6 p. m. Sunday to receive calls and make appointments.

One Million Pints
Louis Scheipers is Elks Club chairman for the program, which is part of a nationwide drive of the BPO Elks to secure one million pints of blood for Korea.

The Bloodmobile comes from the Charlotte blood donation center, accompanied by a trained technical staff. Volunteer help will be provided locally by the BPO Does. Refreshments will be served each donor after blood is given.

Supplies of blood to the battlefield and to military hospitals receiving Korean wounded have been pitifully inadequate lately, and the great upsurge of need during and after the battle for Heartbreak Ridge strained them to the utmost. Bloodmobiles operating out of Red Cross centers all over the country are working their hardest to replenish the supplies, and see that no servicemen needing whole blood must go without. Often it means the difference between life and death.

While one pint of blood, the gift of one donor, can frequently save a life, sometimes when operations are required one man will need many pints of whole blood to get him on the road to recovery. There is no substitute for this blood, which must come from living veins—collected by the Bloodmobiles, sealed in vacuum bottles and transported by airplane within a few hours or days to the areas of need.

The Red Cross is the sole collection agency for whole blood for the armed forces, by designation of the Department of Defense.

Sparks Child Is Accident Victim At Fort Lee, Va.

Wayman Ray Sparks, two-year-old son of Cpl. and Mrs. Wayne T. Sparks of Fort Lee, Va., was fatally injured Sunday afternoon in an automobile accident at Fort Lee.

The little boy opened the door of the car his mother was driving, and fell to the highway, according to a report received here. He was rushed to the Fort Lee station hospital, where it was found that his skull was fractured. He died within two hours of the accident.

Mrs. Sparks is the former Hazel Galyean of Aberdeen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Galyean of the Roseland community. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Main Post chapel at Fort Bragg, followed by burial in the post cemetery. Surviving are the parents, maternal grandparents, one brother and two sisters.

WOUNDED

Cpl. Stancer Lee Pankey, 19, of West Southern Pines, has been severely wounded in the fighting in Korea, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stancer Pankey.

Corporal Pankey is in a military hospital in Japan, and is to be removed to the States as soon as he is able to be transported. He has three bullet wounds in the stomach, and his lungs are punctured in two places.

He is a 1950 graduate of West Southern Pines High where he starred in basketball and played end on the football team. He entered the Army last March and was transferred to Korea only two months ago, after a 30-day leave at home.

Royal Netherlands Officers Visiting Air-Ground School

Taking Course On Invitation of Secretary Finletter

Four top-ranking officers of the Royal Netherlands Air Force are spending this week at the USAF Air-Ground Operations school, Highland Pines Inn.

They are Col. Julianus L. Zegers, whose rank in Holland is the equivalent of a general officer here; Lieut. Col. Willem den Toom, Lieut. Col. Albert B. Wolf and Maj. Willem Bakker.

They are making a tour of U. S. Air Force installations by special invitation of Secretary of the Air Force Thomas A. Finletter, and are spending a longer time here than at most other stops on their route in order to take the USAFAGOS indoctrination course of one week, along with more than 100 U. S. Army and Air Force officers from all over the country.

They arrived at Knollwood airport by special plane last Sunday, and will leave today (Friday) shortly after noon. Colonel Zegers is a Rotarian and had expressed the desire to keep up his attendance by a visit to the Southern Pines club this week. A special invitation was issued him and his fellow officers by the club to join them for their luncheon meeting today, but at last report the tightness of their schedule may preclude their acceptance.

The Netherlands have expressed themselves as pleased with everything they have found in this country, and are especially happy over the hospitality of their reception.

They have been especially selected to gather information which will aid in the building of Queen Juliana's Air Force, now making great strides since it was reduced almost to zero point during the occupation of World War 2.

Cub Scouts Will Be Reorganized; Parents Invited

All parents of Cub-age boys are invited to attend a meeting to be held next Wednesday evening, November 14, at 8 o'clock at the Southern Pines Country club, for the purpose of reorganizing the Cub Scout program in Southern Pines.

The program, inactive during the summer months, is to be reorganized from the ground up within the framework of the two packs which were so active last year—Pack 73, sponsored by Brownson Memorial Presbyterian church, and Pack 75, sponsored by the Southern Pines Elks club.

The meeting will be in charge of Russell Mills, cubmaster of Pack 73, and Don Madigan, new cubmaster of Pack 75. Walter S. Topping, cubmaster of Pack 75 last year, will assist Colonel Madigan this year.

In announcing the meeting, they emphasized that for a boy to become a Cub Scout, his parents must first attend the meeting for briefing on the program and on the parents' role in it—an important one.

Parents of all boys eight, nine and 10 years of age—those who were Cub Scouts last year and those who will be entering the program for the first time—are asked to attend the meeting, the cubmasters said. Dens are to be set up to cover all sections of town, and den mothers will be chosen. Last year's den mothers, whether or not they are continuing as such this year, are especially requested to be present.

Cub Scouting has been active and successful in Southern Pines for the past four years. However, reorganization is necessary after each summer recess, as some boys leave the program, others come in and parents and Cubbers need instructions before work can begin.

For the welfare of America's disabled veterans and for the widows and orphans of the nation's honored dead, buy a VFW Buddy Poppy for Armistice Day.

Beer, Wine "Dry Up" In Moore Saturday; City Election Tuesday

Few Clues On Blue-Law Enforcement; Police Officers See Difficulties Ahead

Tuesday, November 13, is election day in Southern Pines, when the voters of this municipality will decide whether or not to restore legal sales of beer and/or wine, which are due to end in Moore county Saturday.

Voting will take place from 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. at the fire station. There are 940 registered voters on the municipal books, according to Mrs. Frank H. Kaylor, registrar, who said that only about 30 of these had been added on the three registration days just past.

Tomorrow (Saturday) is Challenge day, when the right of any citizen to be on the books may be questioned.

The ballots to be used Tuesday will provide for separate voting on beer and wine. A voter may vote for beer and against wine, or vice versa. He may also vote for both, or against both, according to his independent views.

Moore county will "dry up" in regard to legal sales of beer and wine at close of business Saturday night. No sales will be legal in any retail outlet after 11:45 p. m.

This weekend H. H. Grimm of Carthage, district ABC inspector, will pick up all the permits, even those in the two towns which will hold votes of their own within 10 days. If the votes restore the legal sales, permits will be promptly returned. Southern Pines will vote Tuesday; Pinehurst the following Tuesday, November 20.

Then What?
After the county "goes dry"—then what? Nobody seems to know, except that selling the stuff will be a crime. There'll be no law against buying it—and lawyers and law enforcement officers alike profess themselves in the dark regarding possession and transportation.

H. F. Seawell, Jr., Carthage attorney who has been prominent in leadership of "dry" forces in the past, admitted last week that the law books shed little light on the question. No limitation, it appears, has been authoritatively set. "As far as the law is concerned, it seems anyone can possess or transport any amount of beer or wine as long as it isn't for sale," he reported as a result of his search.

"Pretty Tough"
Other lawyers expressed themselves as similarly in the dark, and law enforcement officers said, "We have no instructions." They plan to enforce the law as best they can, they declared, but "it's going to be pretty tough." Some were even more emphatic. They said it would be impossible.

Pinehurst Lions Minstrel Revue Has Cast of 50

The Pinehurst Lions club will present its second annual Minstrel Revue Wednesday and Thursday nights, November 14 and 15 at the Carolina theatre in Pinehurst. All seats will be reserved. Tickets are being sold by members of the club, and in Southern Pines at the Sandhill Drug store.

A cast of 50 with more than 100 new and colorful costumes will assure an even more elaborate production than the show that sold out last year.

In addition to the singing chorus and specialties, this year's production will present several spectacular dancing numbers by the sixteen Minstrellettes, whose dances were staged and directed by Robert Speller, Jr., of Southern Pines.

The cast includes the following: from Pinehurst, Jimmy Gilbert, interlocutor; Endmen Tom Black, Bill Herschell, Jimmy Hobbs, Jimmy Lane and the McCaskill Twins, Hubert and Frank, all of whom were in last year's successful revue; and the following choruses and choruswomen, many of whom also do specialties: Keith Wedlock, Frank Bost, Bob Dodds, Gordon Cameron, Bob Chriscoe, Henson Maples, Ed Swaringen, Bill Maness, Paul Wilson, Myrtrice McCaskill, Reba Lane, Margaret Hobbs, Frances Maples, Dora Wedlock, Idelle Hamor, Evelyn Cameron, Mary Lou Dodds, Neva McCaskill, Jimmy McCaskill, Charles Swaringen, Tommy Shepherd, Julia McCaskill, Carolyn Smith, Pat Black, Patti Hobbs, Gail Hobson, Anne Hamor, Betty Jean Boggs, Linda Whitesell, Mary (Continued on Page 5)

Julius Boros, pro at the Mid Pines, took the lead Wednesday in the opening round of the North and South Invitation Open, which this week follows the Ryder Cup matches on the championship courses at Pinehurst.

The 31-year-old pro, former Connecticut amateur star, shaved two strokes from par on each nine for a brilliant 34-34-68. This put him in the lead of an all-star field which included many of the Ryder Cup players of both the U. S. and British teams.

Only five other players in the field of 110 in the $7,500 event broke par.

The North and South Invitation Open has benefited by the Ryder Cup matches in that most of the top players of the nation arranged their schedule so as to be in Pinehurst at this time. No other major tournament could compete. Besides the Ryder Cup players, most of whom stayed on, stars of both the professional and amateur fields accepted invitations to play. Only 20 places were left open to be won by qualifying rounds held Monday and Tuesday. Crowds attending the North and South awe reported well on the way toward rivaling those of the Ryder Cup event.
