Country Club Tournament Makes $116 For Palsy Fund; Payson Wins Trophy

The sum of $116 was turned over to the cerebral palsy fund by the Southern Pines Country Club following its blind-bogey benefit tournament last week, bringing the total given to this fund by Sandhills clubs to approximately $600.

The Country Club event took place over three days of play, last Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. Rain kept the Saturday play down to a few hardy golfers, and affected the Sunday play also. All scores were put together for the blind-bogey drawing at the tournament's conclusion.

Harold Payson, of Pinebluff, was announced as tournament winner. He was awarded the silver replica of the Weatherave cup donated by Alvin Handmacher of New York City in promotion of the cerebral palsy benefit events over the nation. Joe Carter of Southern Pines won second prize—a Kroydon putter donated by the club.

Will Wiggs, Don Madigan and George Graves comprised a three-way tie for third. Remaining awards consisted of two prizes of $10 each, given by the Carolina Power and Light company and Central Carolina Telephone company. This was resolved by the addition of $1 by the tournament committee, permitting a division into three prizes of $7 each.

Of the 58 players coming out for the tournament, 10 were women. Jim Besley served as chairman of the tournament committee. All proceeds were turned over to the cerebral palsy fund, of which Bob Harlow of Pinehurst, editor of Golf World, is national chairman.

THEATRES Carolina

Continuing through tonight (Friday) and Saturday, May 2-3, at 8:15 p. m. with a Saturday matinee at 3 p. m. at the Carolina theatre is the exciting sea adventure story "Mara Maru," starring Errol Flynn and Ruth Roman, with Raymond Burr and Paul Picerni. "Mara Maru" is the name of a boat. The film is a solid adventure-packed thriller, tailored to the particular and considerable talents of Errol Flynn, and keeping its actors on the go and in and out of danger most of the time.

It is a real pleasure to announce the return to the Sandhills of that outstanding entertainment "Anything Can Happen," coming to the Carolina Sunday through Wednesday, May 4-7, at 8:15 p. m. with matinees Sunday and Tuesday at 3.

This is the picture that was given the award as "the finest example of human comedy to come from Hollywood" in connection with National Laugh Week of 1952. It stars the volatile and versatile Jose Ferrer, winner of the Academy Award last year with his "Cyrano de Bergerac," and Kim Hunter, along with the happiest bunch of immigrants that was ever gathered together, led by Kurt Kasznar. Based on the best seller by George and Helen Papashvily, it is humorous, heart warming and wholesome and, at times, hilarious.

It is a challenge to those critics of the movies who talk about the lack of originality in pictures as well as picking up the gauntlet tossed by contemporary hecklers who are accusing Hollywood of communistic tendencies. "Anything Can Happen" is unqualifiedly recommended to all and sundry who are seeking refreshing entertainment that, at the same time, gives one something to think about.

Starting Thursday night, May 8, is "The San Francisco Story," starring Joel McCrea, Yvonne DeCarlo and our own North Carolina neighbor, Sidney Blackmer. It is the story of that wonder city during the frontier days of 1856.
