PRESENTATION OF GIFTS AND ELECTION MARK OFFICERS WIVES CLUB LUNCHEON

The retiring officers of the USAFAGOS Officers Wives club were hostesses to the club at a luncheon held Wednesday of last week in the officers clubroom of the Highland Pines Inn. Magnolia blossoms and white candles in silver candelabra decorated the tables.

The luncheon preceded the second annual election of officers, and those chosen represent the Marine Corps, Army, and Air Force, giving a wide representation of Armed Services.

Officers for 1952-53 are: Mrs. William M. Gross, honorary president; Mrs. Lamar A. Welch, honorary vice president; Mrs. Virgil C. Dieterich, president; Mrs. Francis M. Smith, 1st vice president; Mrs. Sam H. Slaughter, III, 2nd vice president; Mrs. John C. Tullett, secretary; Mrs. William T. Porter, recording secretary; Mrs. Dean E. Hess, treasurer; Mrs. Harrison M. Harp, Jr., (outgoing president), member of the Board of Directors.

Mrs. Harp and Mrs. Dieterich, retiring and incoming presidents, were presented white orchid corsages, and Mrs. Harp was given a wooden salad set with silver-handled fork and spoon as a token of appreciation of her fine leadership during the year. The new president made the presentation.

To Mrs. Gross, honorary president, was given as a surprise memento by Mrs. George V. Lane in behalf of the club, a scrapbook containing clippings of all events of the club during the past year, and pictures, and the book is to be kept up-to-date for her by the incoming officers.

An entertaining program by Pat Starnes and some of her dance pupils followed. Mrs. Starnes did a tap and an Egyptian dance; Craig White, a toe dance, and Barbara Peterson was seen in a solo number. Other pupils did an Hawaiian number and a "Glow-worm" dance.

Miss Mary Richardson left Thursday night to join her brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Richardson, in Closter, N. J., from where they will go to their summer home in Jefferson, Maine.

(Continued from Page 1) a popular vote gave the town the right to expend tax funds on recreation. During the first six years of the program A. C. Dawson, now superintendent of schools, was the director. Last summer it was headed by L. H. Ledden, school band director.

All three are rated as seriously, though not critically, hurt.

Sunday Accident

Sunday at 11:15 a. m. a car hurtled from the Raeford road at the intersection of NC 211 and 15 at Aberdeen, straight across the intersection, left the road to shoot through the air for 79 feet down the embankment and wrapped itself around an oak tree. It was reduced to a pitiful mass of junk.

Within the twisted wreckage were found two men dead, two injured, so jammed together it was impossible to tell who had been sitting where. All were from Davidson county, reportedly returning home after a fishing trip on the coast. Dead were Jacob Burkhardt, 57, unmarried, of Lexington, Rt. 4, and Norman Dur-yea (Jim) Smith, 55, of Lexington, married and the father of four.

Seriously injured was the car's owner, Garland Kooztz, of Lexington, Rt. 4, who sustained a broken leg and other injuries. In critical condition, with multiple injuries including a fractured skull, was Richard Everhart, 28, of Lexington Rt. 6.

Investigation Continues Within hours after the accident definite determination had not been made as to who had been driving, and investigation was still under way, said Patrolman C. G. Wimberly, who handled the case. He said Kooztz reported that Everhart had been the driver, but Everhart's condition was such he could not be questioned. Both were taken to St. Joseph of the Pines hospital.

Previous fatalities for the year had numbered only two, both in January, one a young mother killed in a collision the other a Negro pedestrian struck by a car in Pinehurst.

2nd PRIMARY

(Continued from page 1) be called on to ballot in only this race and one other, that between Judge William H. Bobbitt, challenger, against Judge R. Hunt Parker for the associate justice post. With Judge Phillips of the 13th district eliminated, this contest can be expected to stir up only a modicum of attention, hardly enough to fetch the farmers away from their haying, the orchardists from their peach crops or the town folks back from their vacations.

With the post of county solicitor at stake, however—an office of importance to every citizen, far beyond its actual salary value—observers are hoping that supporters of each man will come out in full force, and that those whose candidate lost will also feel it incumbent to make a second choice.

This is the only way the winner, the loser and the rest of the county can be assured the result expresses the will of the people.

NURSE SCHOLARSHIP

She is active in work of the First Baptist church, serving as secretary of the church and of her Sunday School class, and is soloist in the choir.

Sylvia says she has wanted to be a nurse "all her life" and has planned her education toward this goal of her dreams. She has been accepted by the N. C. Baptist hospital at Winston-Salem, for the class starting next September. All her incidental expenses for the three-year course, totaling approximately $1,000 will be paid by the Sandhills Veterans association.

In return she promises this independent group of World War 2 veterans only that she will return to Moore county to practice her profession. Since the scholarship was established in 1947, two scholarship winners have graduated and returned to fulfill this condition. Another will graduate in September and three others are still in training.

The selection board, which reviewed applications from candidates from various high schools of the county, consisted of Miss Ellen Bruton and Dr. M. T. Pishko, of Moore County hospital; L. L. Hallman, chairman of the Moore County chapter, American Red Cross; J. A. Culbertson, chairman of the Moore County board of education; and Ralph L. Chandler, Jr., who as president of the Sandhill Veterans association served as an ex officio member of the board.
