

Where Are Banigans? Judge Nettles States Intention of Issuing Warrant

Judge Zeb V. Nettles said Monday at Wadesboro that he would issue a warrant for the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Banigan of Southern Pines on charges of contempt of court, when for the fourth time they failed to appear at a hearing as ordered.

Mr. and Mrs. Banigan were first cited for contempt of court in April by C. C. Kennedy, Moore County clerk of superior court, when they failed to produce documents for a commissioner's hearing in connection with a civil suit filed against them by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Sherman of Hartford, Conn. At a showcause hearing May 10 they again failed to appear, and their attorney filed with the clerk an affidavit stating that they had turned over the documents in question to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Greensboro. Mr. Kennedy found them guilty of contempt, and notice was given of appeal.

In the meantime Mr. and Mrs. Banigan left Southern Pines for New York City, saying they would be back in a week or two, but they have not yet returned.

When the appeal hearing was held before Judge Nettles at Carthage May 26, they still had not returned nor had anything been heard from them, their counsel said. Judge Nettles sustained the finding of contempt and only the attorney's strong plea saved them from immediate indictment.

He reported that he had been unable to make contact with his clients, as they apparently were traveling about a good deal, and consequently they were unaware of the swift succession of events as well as of the North Carolina statute in regard to their particular case.

Judge Nettles continued judgment until June 9—Monday of this week—at Wadesboro, where he was to be holding court.

Counsel appeared at the hearing—but no Banigans. He was able only to report that he had heard from his clients, in a telegram indicating their intention of returning soon, but that they had not reappeared and he had still been unable to establish contact.

Since institution of the Sherman's suit last October, calling for an accounting of funds in connection with the operation and sale of Jefferson Inn here, the Banigans have filed suit against the Shermans, seeking recovery of $3,588.19 allegedly due them and unpaid.

The crossfire between the parties was marked by the attachment of a Chrysler Imperial sedan, garaged at Pinehurst, by the Banigans last January 2 pending the filing of their suit against the Shermans. The car was released to the Shermans May 26 on their petition that it was owned not by them, but by the Roger Sherman Transfer company of Hartford, Conn.

Pending against the Banigans, as co-defendants with the Elks Home, Inc., is another civil suit filed by Wayne D. Boring and wife to recover option money and a partial agency commission paid by them in expectation of purchasing the former Elks Home here. Total amount involved is above $6,000. The Banigans have failed to answer this suit and, though an extension of time was granted by plaintiffs' counsel, this time is running out.

Involvements in other real estate matters are also said to make the Banigans' reappearance im-

Children May Get Speech, Hearing Tests Saturday

Free speech and hearing tests will be held for all Moore County schoolchildren at the county health center at Carthage Saturday from 9 a. m. to 12 noon, preparatory to a clinic to be held this summer for correction of speech defects, small and large.

The tests will be given by Mrs. D. D. Shields Cameron of Southern Pines, who is specially trained in this work, and Miss Blanche Monroe, of the West End school faculty. Mrs. Cameron and Miss Monroe will also be in charge of the clinic, the dates and place for which will be announced later.

Stammering, stuttering, lisping and other types of speech impediments will be the subject of the clinic's special training, designed to help the boy or girl overcome these difficulties and enjoy normal communication with his fellows. The hearing as well as speech tests are important, as often a child's speech becomes blurred through not hearing distinctly how others talk.

Such impediments can cause deep psychological and personal troubles, much misery on the part of the child and seeming backwardness in school work, even where the child is actually very bright.

Parents are urged to bring their children whom they know or suspect of having speech or hearing difficulties to the center for testing.

The clinic will be the second to be held in Moore county. The first was held last summer in Southern Pines, with a group of children and young people from the southern part of the county as pupils. A survey has showed that many in the northern end need this training, and it is planned this year to locate the clinic where it can be of benefit to them.

These are services of the Moore County unit of the N. C. Society for Crippled Children, financed through the annual Easter Seal Sale campaign. Mrs. Shearwood Brockwell, Jr., of Southern Pines is chairman of the county unit, with Miss Millie Montesanti serving as campaign chairman, and also at present as acting chairman of the unit.

SOFTBALL TEAMS

Any adult softball teams interested in forming a league to play this summer are asked to call Iris Leonard, summer recreation director, at his home, 2-7482. He will be glad to work them on organization, scheduling of games and practice.

The summer recreation program is not just for children and teen-agers, he said, but for adults also. Churches, civic clubs and other organizations are invited to form teams and get up a league, using full facilities of the local program under the Municipal Recreation Commission.

Such impediments can cause deep psychological and personal troubles, much misery on the part of the child and seeming backwardness in school work, even where the child is actually very bright.

FIREMEN

(Continued from Page 1) department has been invited to bring its modern fire truck, just acquired last week, which fights fire with fog. It is anticipated that its proud owners will bring it over if this is found in any way practicable.

Supper and Dance

At 5:30, all the firemen will be guests at a supper, to be held in the grove of the former Elks Home on South May street. This will be followed by the street dance downtown.

Officers of the Sandhills Firemen's association are: Clarence Rush, Asheboro, president; N. L. VanBoskerck, Pinebluff, vice-president; E. P. Leatherbury, Hamlet, secretary-treasurer.

The local committee for the convention includes all members of the host department, headed by Chairman George B. Little, Harold Fowler, E. W. Davis, Stanley Dunn, Ralph Mills, Joe O'Callaghan and others.

Community Helps

The convention is costing the hosts several hundred dollars for trophies, "eats" and incidentals, which they have made up through sale of program ads to well-wishing local merchants, also through contributions made by individuals, organizations, firms and the town board.

The association is composed of volunteer fire departments of Aberdeen, Albemarle, Asheboro, Abingdon, Benson, Bladenboro, Carthage, Clinton, Chadbourne, Cherraw, S. C., Dunn, Elizabethtown, Ellerbe, Fairmont, Fort Bragg, Fayetteville, McCain, Gibson, Hope Mills, Hamlet, Lumberton, Maxton, McColl, S. C., Monroe, Norwood, Pembroke, Pinebluff, Pinehurst, Pittsboro, Raeford, Red Springs, Rockingham, Roseboro, Roxboro, Rowland, Robbins, Sanford, Southern Pines, St. Paul, Smithfield, Tabor City, Troy, Wadesboro, Whiteville and Wagram.
