Julius Boros Tournament Fund Grows; Mid Pines Pro Is Awarded New Honor

Committee Seeks $2,000 More For Big Local Event

Local citizens have been generous in contributing to the community event to honor Julius Boros, but about $2,000 more is needed to meet the $6,700 budget for the tournament, planned for November 23-25.

The Julius Boros Day committee, meeting at the Southland Sunday afternoon, thus summarized the situation to date.

The collection of funds will continue under the direction of E. Nolley Jackson, H. A. McAllister, president of the Southern Pines Chamber of Commerce, is offering the facilities of the Chamber office as a collection center. Anyone wishing to make a donation may leave it with Mrs. Pira, secretary, he said.

Plans of the committee were given impetus by advance news brought by Bob Harlow, publicity chairman, that Boros had been selected as PGA "Golf-er of the Year," and will receive the coveted award at a dinner to be held in Chicago Thursday night.

He is the only non-PGA member to receive this award, which has been won three times by Ben Hogan, and once by Sam Snead. A professional only three years, he is barred by a five-year requirement for membership.

The community event will be the First Annual Julius Boros Golf tournament, to be held at the Mid Pines for a $5,000 purse, expected to draw an array of shining-name players from the world of golf. It was planned after the comparatively obscure Mid Pines pro last summer won the two top golf prizes in swift succession—the National Open and the Tam O'Shanter world championship. Winning $37,000 in two events, he rates as this year's top money winner and the King of Golf.

A report at the Sunday meeting showed that about $4,700 in cash or pledges had already been received from local business firms to finance the tournament.

Miss Jean Cosgrove of the Mid Pines reported that there were already 67 entries, including a half dozen of the nation's top star players and more expected. On account of the time element in teeing off, the entry list is restricted to about 100 invited guests. Both pros and amateurs are included. The budget includes an amount to purchase prizes for the amateurs.

A few local players are to be included on the invitation list, the exact number to be determined when it is seen how many from other places accept the invitations.

The tournament will be followed by a banquet at $10 a plate, tickets for which may be purchased by the public up to the limit of the Mid Pines dining room facilities.

Certificates are to be awarded at this time by the State of North Carolina to four Tar Heel (Continued on Page 8)

"Circus Is Coming!" Local Lions Back Jungle Pals In Big Show Here Today

"It's a regular circus!" that's what folks say when something is just so grand they can't think of a word for it!

A regular circus! That's just what the Sandhills is going to have in its midst this Friday; Big Tent, Elephants, Clowns, Horses, Chimpanzees, Aerial Artists and Human Pinwheels. . . Ladies and Gentlemen, Step Right up and come and see!

The Big Show, sponsored by the Southern Pines Lions club, with Walter Harper as committee chairman, will be located out on the old Horse Show grounds, atop Tilghman Hill on the back road to Pinehurst beyond the ballpark. It will be here for one day only, but there will be two shows: at 2 pm and 8 pm, with the doors opening an hour earlier. But for those who want to guarantee that they won't (or, if under twelve years that they will) be right down there in the sawdust and the elephants, reserved seats have been placed on sale at the Southern Pines Par-

POPPY SALE

The annual sale of "Buddy Poppies" by members of the Women's Auxiliary of the VFW will take place Saturday, to coincide with the celebration of Armistice Day.

Poppies, made by the disabled veterans of all services, will be sold for the benefit of those same veterans, a source of spiritual rehabilitation and self-pride as well as supplying the extra funds which mean so much.

Conducted by posts all over the nation, a large percentage of the proceeds is retained for local use, Mrs. Lewis Garty, chairman of the Poppy sale, reported.

Ninth Air Force Will Show Might On Anniversary

One of the largest displays of the Air Force planes and equipment ever offered in the Carolinas has been scheduled by officials at Pope Air Force Base for Saturday, November 8, the Ninth Air Force's tenth anniversary.

Maj. Gen. Edward J. Timberlake, Commanding General of the Ninth Air Force, says the display will be available to inspection by all persons on that date. In making the announcement General Timberlake said, "I believe that every taxpayer should have the opportunity periodically to inspect and touch equipment he has helped purchase, and to talk personally with the men in uniform charged with the defense of his country."

Visitors will be admitted to the air base at 9 o'clock, Saturday morning. The open house will close at 5 o'clock that afternoon.

One of the unusual exhibits will be the XF-85, an experimental jet fighter plane, notable in the field of aviation in that it has no landing gear. The stubby fighter craft is designed to be carried within the bomb-bay of a bomber. It is lowered from the bomb-bay on a retractable prong and released. When it returns to the mother plane, it hooks onto the prong and is lifted again into the bomb-bay.

Along with the display of the XF-85, the Air-Ace Education Office of the USAF Orientation Group at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, is expected to be on hand with special displays of equipment.

Among the exhibits will be a cutaway version of a J-35 axial-flow jet engine. Modified portions will permit spectators to view interior mechanisms of this powerful Allison engine.

During the anniversary date of the Ninth Air Force, jet planes will appear in formation flight over Pope Air Force Base every few hours. The jets will pass in the vicinity of towns and cities within a 40-mile radius of Pope Air Force Base in between times, Air Force officials said.

Nation Looks To New Leaders

EISENHOWER

NIXON

Record Vote Hands Decision To Ike In Southern Pines, Moore and Nation

"Change" Swept In All Over On Vast Republican Tide

The Democratic party was picking up the pieces this week and wondering, "Wha' happen?" What happened was a lead just about everywhere for Eisenhower and Nixon, along with a Republican tide which swept both houses of Congress (though just barely) into GOP hands.

Eisenhower outran his party all the way, rolling up a commanding lead, with percentage of about 55 to 45 over Governor Adlai Ste-

Emmanuel Church Will Celebrate Anniversary Year

This year marks a quarter century of worship in Emmanuel Episcopal church.

Services appropriate to commemoration of the opening of the present building on Massachusetts avenue will be held Sunday at 11 a. m.; 4 p. m. and 6 p. m. The regular early communion services are scheduled for 8 a. m. and church school at 9:45 under the direction of the rector, the Rev. Charles V. Covell. The 11 o'clock special service will be held by the Bishop Coadjutor, the Rt. Rev. Richard H. Baker of Greensboro, who will both preach and confirm.

Music by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Paul T. Barnum will feature the anthem: "Ye That Stand In The House Of The Lord," by Spinney.

A reception will be held in the parish hall after the morning service, with the members of St. Mary's Guild as hostesses. Members of the parish of 25 years ago still residing here are being invited to receive the guests with Bishop Baker and the rector.

At 4 o'clock a commemorative organ recital will be given by Dr. Frederick Stanley Smith, of Raleigh, former organist and choir director of Emmanuel, and, for several years, a member of the staff of the Southern Pines school. The public is invited, a free-will offering will be received. At six, members of the choir have been invited to meet Dr. and Mrs. Smith at an informal supper in the parish hall. Members of the Youth Fellowship will assist.

Sunday's services will commemorate the establishment of the Sandhills Parish, formed in 1898 in the present church building. Built originally as a parish house, the edifice was to be used for worship until the erection of a large church on the corner of Massachusetts and Ridge street, a plan never carried out.

There were 50 communicants in the parish at the time the congregation left the original church on Page street, deconsecrated in 1928 and used, since that time for residential purposes. At the breaking of ground for the new building, the late Mrs. P. H. Beck, mother of Mrs. Tom Kelley, dug the first shovelful of earth.

A 25th anniversary year-book is contemplated, according to Mr. Covell, for publication later on. Highlights of Emmanuel church's years as a leading place of worship in Southern Pines will be described, as a tribute to those who founded the parish. (Continued on Page 8)

Sisters Escape As Building Burns At Notre Dame

Academy Loses Equipment, Goods In Midnight Blaze

Five Sisters of Notre Dame barely escaped with their lives when a building in which they were sleeping at Notre Dame Academy on Youngs road was destroyed by fire early last Friday morning.

Though the Southern Pines fire truck was on the way within five minutes after the alarm was phoned in at 2:40 a. m., the flames had raced all over the building by the time it arrived. Handicapped also by the lack of a hydrant, the firemen concentrated on saving a smaller building, and its contents, close by.

They were assisted by the N. C. Forest Service crew, which ferried water from the nearest hydrant, two miles away in town, and patrolled the woods until well past daylight, to guard against a further outbreak.

The building which burned down, a white-columned frame structure on the back driveway, across from the main school building and dormitory, contained five sleeping rooms, sewing room, ironing room, laundry and furnace room. All furnishings and equipment were lost, also clothing of the Sisters, who had time to get only partially dressed before fleeing the flames; and considerable clothing, linens, etc., in the laundry and other rooms.

The Sisters sleeping in the building said they were awakened by an uncomfortable warmth, and, seeing a red glare reflected on the driveway outside, thought at first that woods near the building were on fire. It was not until one of them, running across the driveway to give the alarm, looked back and saw flames pouring from the roof, was it realized that the house itself was ablaze.

After the fire was out at 5:40 a. m., the Sisters, all of whom were up and dressed by then, invited the firefighters in for coffee and cookies. Father Denges had also come out from town, and a cheerful reception was held. "Nicest fire I ever went to," later commented Resident Fireman Frank H. Kaylor. "The Sisters were calm as could be, and they really treated us fine."

The Sister Superior expressed her appreciation to the volunteer firemen, the Forest Service crew (Continued on Page 8)

Girl Scout Drive Starting Today; $2,100 Is Goal

Today (Friday) sees the start of the 1953 fund campaign for the Girl Scouts of America, in which the 148 Girl Scouts of Southern Pines have a vital interest.

On achievement of the local goal set at $2,100 depends the progress of the activity program for Girl Scouts and Brownie Scouts during the coming year.

Some advance gifts have already been reported in, and a benefit event, the Officers Wives Fashion Show, is expected to draw a good crowd at the Southern Pines Country club Saturday evening. The greater part of the amount, however, is to be raised through local solicitation, conducted largely by mail, under supervision of a campaign committee composed of Angelo Montesanti, Jr., chairman, George H. Leonard and John Ostrom.

Since the Girl Scout organization started here less than three years ago, it has mushroomed from one to nine troops, now including Senior Scouts, Girl Scouts and Brownies. With their adult leaders, they are engaged in a busy program providing constructive recreation suited to their ages, with training for character and citizenship.

The local organization is affiliated with the four-county Central Carolina council through which an executive director, leader training and other aids to an effective program are provided. The annual budget is planned, with the needs of both the area and community organizations in mind.

Parade Is Opener For Armistice Day Events

Veterans Plan Service, Supper, Public Dance

Mayor C. N. Page this week proclaimed that Tuesday, November 11, will be set aside here as a day of solemn observance and happy memory the 34th anniversary of Armistice Day of World War I.

"I urge that all citizens join with the veterans of Southern Pines, and their families, in the special events they have prepared for the countywide celebration here," said Mayor Page. "Let this day symbolize for all of us the peace we love, and hope to make everlasting."

He asked that employers give veterans in their employ time off to take part in the parade and retreat service, though the day will not be a general holiday.

The post office will be closed, with general delivery and stamp windows open only between 10 and 11 a. m. There will be no city delivery.

The Citizens Bank and Trust company will observe holiday, as will all the county offices at Carthage.

Moore county's annual Armistice Day observance will be held in Southern Pines Tuesday afternoon and evening, November 11, sponsored by the Moore County 40 and Eight Voiture of Southern Pines, it is announced by Charles Swoope of Pinehurst, chef de gare.

Members of veterans' posts and auxiliaries will cooperate in the events of the day which will start with a parade at 4 p. m. and have as climax a free dance, with orchestra, at the American Legion Hut in the evening.

Other highlights will be a memorial retreat ceremony at 5:30 p. m. at the town park, and a barbecue supper at both the Legion Hut and VFW Home.

The public is invited to all the events except the suppers, which are only for card carrying members of veterans' posts and auxiliaries.

National Guard Band

The parade will be led by the 30-man 94th Army National Guard band from Raleigh, and will include several batteries of National Guardsmen forming all or most of the 130th Anti-Aircraft (Automatic Weapons) Battalion, with all their motorized equipment. Only the color guards will be afoot. The battalion includes batteries from Southern Pines, Sanford, St. Paul, Rowland and Red Springs, with Red Springs as headquarters.

Also marching will be the Southern Pines school band in full uniform, also the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

Reviewing Stand

The parade will form on East Massachusetts avenue at the school, march west to Broad street and north on Broad past a reviewing stand to be located near Pennsylvania avenue, where military dignitaries will review the parade. Taking the salute will be Brig. Gen. William M. Gross, of the USAF Air-Ground Operations school at Highland Pines (Continued on Page 8)

40 & 8 ENGINE

A 40 and Eight engine all their own is the recent accomplishment of the Moore County Voiture. It will be on display for the first time Tuesday afternoon, when it will have an honored position in the veterans' Armistice Day parade here.

The engine is built on a car chassis, complete with boiler, cowcatcher and steam whistle, also a real train bell and tender lanterns donated by the Seaboard Air Line.

Various organizations and individuals of the county have contributed materials, with the Pinehurst blacksmith shop doing some welding. Members of the Voiture who built the engine, on the Swoope place near Pinehurst, include Tom McKenzie, William Dickerson, M. L. McGirt, Charles Swoope and Sam Hartzell.

L. B. CREATH

Creath Elected Kiwanis President

L. B. Creath, of Pinehurst, executive vice president of the Carolina Bank, was unanimously elected president of the Sandhills Kiwanis club for 1953 at the annual election of officers of this countywide civic organization Wednesday. When inducted into office December 31 to succeed Voit Gilmore of Southern Pines, he will become the 32nd president of the club.

Elected vice-president was Jack Taylor, of Aberdeen, and treasurer, John L. Ponzer, Southern Pines. The following were chosen for the 1953 board of directors: Haynes Britt, Dr. Bruce Warlick and Jack Younts, Southern Pines; T. Roy Phillips, Carthage; A. P. Thompson, Pinehurst; (Continued on page 8)

Officers' Wives

Will Model New Fashions In Show

The Officers Wives club will present a fashion show at the Southern Pines Country club Saturday at 8:15 p. m. presenting new fall and winter fashions from Patch's Inc., with proceeds benefiting the Girl Scout fund campaign.

This is the first community event to be sponsored by this organization of young women, many of them new to Southern Pines, the wives of officers on the staff of USAFAGOS, at Fort Bragg and Ninth Air Force, Pope AFB, and in units overseas.

The Southern Pines Elks club is loaning them the clubhouse facilities, and a runway is being built down the length of the ballroom for the fashion showing.

The show will be in five parts, presenting, first, casuals and "after-five" dresses; suits; coats; fur, cloth and rainwear; sports and lounging wear; then, as a grand climax, a glamorous collection of formal evening gowns.

Accessories for the costumes will also be provided by Patch's, Inc.

Among "famous name" houses represented will be Salta-Knits, Quinto coats, Printz coats and suits, Koret of California skirts and blouses, Jeanne Barrie and L'Aiglon dresses. Dobs hats, and numerous others. Shoes will include Jacquelines, Connies and Red Cross.

Music for the show will be by Mrs. L. D. McDonald, and flowers by courtesy of Carolina Gardens. Southern Pines Warehouses, Inc., is furnishing material for the runway.

Angelo Montesanti, Jr., chairman of the Girl Scout fund drive, will speak briefly in its behalf during the show. Mrs. Gareth W. Wiley will serve as commentator, explaining the fine points of fashion as exemplified in each successive costume. Mrs. James McDonald is supervisor of gowns.

A revised list of models was announced by Mrs. Richard M. McCov, general chairman, as follows: Mrs. Mack C. Shelley, Mrs. David E. Rivetoe, Mrs. Sam H. Slaughter, Mrs. Clifford Dixon, Mrs. Charles H. Williams, Mrs. James Hill, Mrs. Charles M. Stevens, Mrs. David L. Steege, Mrs. Richard M. McCoy.
