McLaughlin Buys Style-Mart Store, Starts Off With Pre-Christmas Sale

The Style-Mart Store, men's clothing store at Broad street and Pennsylvania avenue, was purchased last week by C. A. McLaughlin of Lakeview from C. B. Foushee and E. L. Morgan of Sanford. Mr. McLaughlin, who took over management of the store last Friday, said policies will continue as before, with some additions and improvements. He plans, however to lower prices throughout and is starting off with something unusual—a pre-Christmas sale.

He has added some lines of boys' wear and plans expansion of this department in the spring, with a full stock of clothing for the schoolboy, from six years old on up.

The store carries men's suits, shirts, hats and accessories of all sorts, also the well-known Roblee line of shoes. It has enjoyed popular success since its establishment in May 1948. Located for almost two years on the east side of Broad street, it moved to the larger store and present prominent location in February 1949.

M. M. (Roe) Bland, manager of the store since it opened, will remain through December, said Mr. McLaughlin. Assisting in the sales department will be Ray Schilling who lived in Southern Pines for some time while stationed with the Army at Fort Bragg. Mr. Schilling left for his home, Long Beach, Cal., with his bride, the former Catherine Hussey, a local girl, soon after his discharge last July. They have now returned to Southern Pines to make their home.

Mr. McLaughlin is a native of Red Springs. Before the war he was associated with men's clothing stores in Red Springs and McColl, S. C., for six years. During World War 2 he served with a psychological warfare unit in campaigns in North Africa, Italy, France and Germany, then with the U. S. Army of Occupation in Italy and Austria. Entering the Army in March 1942, he was discharged in October 1946 as a master sergeant.

He came to Lakeview as a member of the faculty of Vass-Lakeview High school, where he taught for two years. He and his wife leased the Hotel Lakeview and grounds, including the famous Crystal lake, from the Wyandotte Woolen Co., Inc. soon after this New England firm purchased almost all the Lakeview property in December 1950. They still have this under lease.

They have two young sons Charles Allen, Jr., aged five, and John Franklin, four.

Christmas Seal Sale Now Only Half Way Along

Only about half the county goal of $7,500 for the 1952 Christmas Seal sale has been met so far, said Lawrence Johnson, of Aberdeen, county Seal Sale chairman, this week.

He asked that all who have received seals in the mail but have not returned their contributions to their local chairman do so without delay.

C. S. Patch, Jr., is the chairman in Southern Pines.

Moore county has met its goal year after year in the sale of the TB Christmas seals, by which the program of the Moore County Tuberculosis association is carried forward.

"Funds from this year's seal sale will make possible a new, expanded program of tuberculosis case-finding, prevention and education in Moore county," Mr. Johnson said this week. "Seventy-five per cent of the money collected stays in the county and 94 per cent stays in the state," he pointed out.

The Moore County Association's program in the coming year will offer free x-rays at the health department in Carthage and the Association will continue to buy milk and groceries for needy convalescent tuberculosis patients or patients awaiting acceptance at a sanatorium.

Contributions from persons who did not receive seals or an appeal letter are welcome and may be sent directly to Mr. Johnson at Aberdeen.
