

LOST COLONY OPENS 13th SEASON. America's longest-lived outdoor production, Paul Green's symphonic drama "The Lost Colony," opened Saturday night at Manteo, on Roanoke Island. Performances will be held nightly (except Mondays) until September 6. Those seeing the show this year will find many new features in scenes from the drama which tells of English-speaking America's beginning in the new world during the late 16th century.

"Jewel Box" Will Hold Open House For Reopening

The Jewel Box, luncheonette and dairy bar on South West Broad street, will reopen Saturday, July Fourth, with a preliminary "open house" event tonight (Friday).

Nothing will be sold, refreshments will be served free, at the "open house" and Mark King, Jr., the new proprietor, asks that everyone drop by and see the place as newly renovated.

It is ornamented with a handsome new canopy of red and white outside, and within a color scheme of white, with touches of light blue and red, has been adopted. Booths and tables have been refinished, and new chairs purchased. Venetian blinds and growing plants ornament the windows. Kitchen facilities are new, and more commodious than before.

The Jewel Box, a favorite gathering spot for the community's youth, also for their elders desiring a meal, sandwich or fountain service, has been closed for the past two months. During the past year it has been operated by Mrs. Hensley of Pinehurst. Mr. King, a consulting engineer, has leased the building from the owner, Charles P. Everest, formerly of Southern Pines, and will supervise its operation. It will be open from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m. seven days a week, with Mrs. Carl Goe in charge daytimes, and Mrs. Carl Loyal, the former Miss Shirley Warren, in the evenings. Miss Jodie Swearingen will assist Mrs. Goe. All are well known to Jewel Box patrons.

Wiggs Promoted; Family Will Move To Richmond, Va.

W. L. Wiggs, resident of Southern Pines for the past 14 years, has been transferred to Richmond, Va., as district manager for his firm, the Durham Life Insurance Co.

He left Monday to start work in his new office, which is located in South Richmond with a staff of 12.

A native of Zebulon, he came to Southern Pines in 1939 as salesman for the Carolina Power and Light Co., and two years later became an agent for Durham Life. His headquarters remained here until his promotion to staff manager, with headquarters at Sanford, and for about two and a half years he commuted. He was promoted to district manager last April and has been awaiting his new assignment.

Mrs. Wiggs, a native South Carolinian, has resigned her position as secretary to Dr. P. J. Chester, which she has held during the greater portion of the past 16 years. With the rest of the family—Billy, 13, Nancy, seven, and Mrs. Wiggs' mother, Mrs. Rosa Gardner—she will move to Richmond when a suitable home is found, preferably before school begins. They plan to rent their present home, 170 East Connecticut avenue.

They are members of the Church of Wide Fellowship. Mr. Wiggs is a member of the Southern Pines Elks Lodge, and Mrs. Wiggs of the BPO Does. Both have been active in church and civic affairs. Mr. Wiggs is a prominent member of the local golfing fraternity and has taken part in many tournaments on local courses.

Novel "Little Nine" Golf Course Opens At Hillendale

The Sandhills may have thought they had seen everything in the way of golf courses, but a visit to Hillendale driving range, on the Midland road, will show them there is still something new under the sun—or the lights.

Tom O'Neil, Hillendale proprietor, opened his new "Little Nine" golf course Wednesday. The "Little Nine" covers a tract adjoining the driving range, with nine holes, grass traps and all the accoutrements of any good golf course—except it is just 701 yards long, 1402 for 18 holes.

The greens are designed to offer every golfing challenge except that of the long drive. They are played with irons, and are laid out primarily to help the golfer perfect his iron shots and putting. They are floodlighted for night play.

The holes are 50, 135, 60, 45, 65, 55, 120, 101 and 70 yards in length, with a par three on every hole except for the ladies, the three long ones are par four. "Every Green a Challenge" is the slogan of Hillendale's "Little Nine."

Family Ruckus Aired In Moore Court; Water Cut Off In Home Two Weeks

Troubles in a rent-free "apartment house," in which one apartment dweller turned off the water for the whole house, and another cut off the lights to get even, were aired in Moore recorders court Monday.

The trial was that of Lottie Smith, a Negro man, arrested on a warrant taken out by A. G. Gilchrist, uncle of his wife, and found guilty of using "vile, boisterous and profane language."

Gilchrist, an elderly bachelor, and Smith and his wife, with several children, occupied apartments in the Carthage home of a Mrs. Blanchard, sister of Gilchrist and mother-in-law of Smith. Testimony revealed that in Gilchrist's basement quarters was located the water meter for the whole household, and that he had to pay the whole water bill, a fact which angered him. He turned off the water and at the time of the trial it had been cut off two weeks.

Smith asked Gilchrist to cut the water back on. Gilchrist wouldn't; so Smith cursed him freely from a point outside the house in tones loud enough to be heard across the street. Several neighbors were witnesses in the trial. Then Smith, it appeared, went to his own rooms and cut off all the lights.

Continuing judgment for Smith, Judge J. Vance Rowe recommended that separate light and water meters be installed so that each user could pay for his own, not interfering with the other's use of the utilities.

Wild Ride Revealed

In another case Monday, witnesses told of a wild ride the night of Thursday, June 18, when a car with no lights rocketed along the road from Carthage toward Southern Pines at a speed of between 95 and 100 miles per hour, while bottles of whiskey were tossed from the windows.

Defendants were L. C. Crane, 30, West End Rt. 1, who was convicted in recorders court in a liquor case last April and given a three months' suspended sentence; and Roland J. Brown, 27, of Carthage, who was driving the car.

ABC Officer C. A. McCallum and Deputy Sheriff A. W. Lambert said their speedometer touched 100 miles per hour before they could force the car ahead to stop. This occurred before Crane could get rid of the last tell-tale bottle of evidence.

Convicted on two liquor counts, also public drunkenness, Crane received one three-month sentence, suspended for two years on payment of a $150 fine, and another sentence of 30 days, to begin at the expiration of still a third road sentence—the three months' term which had been suspended in April, now ordered into effect. As for Brown, he was convicted of

Select Spot Now For Fall Seeding Of Alfalfa Crop

By E. H. GARRISON, County Farm Agent

Now is a time to start selecting a place to put in alfalfa this fall. To my way of thinking, this is still tops in all our hay crops.

Seeding an acre of alfalfa will cost around $60 but the first cutting will pay all the cost.

Alfalfa is a crop which must be seeded, fertilized, and handled just right. One of the things we have had most trouble with is getting the crop inoculated at seeding time. Land should be limed in advance of seeding. If possible, the land should be limed and sown in peas. This should be all turned and seeded in September.

The crop can be cut from three to four times in a season. It should last from five to seven years before having to be reseeded. The small field on the side of the road at the County Home, is a good example of what can be done with alfalfa when seeded and fertilized properly. For hay for cows, horses and all livestock, it can not be excelled. It's still tops of all the hays.

Soil samples should, by all means, be taken for this crop, and fertilizer recommendations followed closely. All necessary information will be furnished you upon request.
