

General Menoher Speaks At Hamlet

Brig. Gen. Pearson Menoher of Knollwood was guest speaker Wednesday evening at a dinner in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post Home at Hamlet, inaugurating the membership drive of the VFW in this district. He was accompanied to Hamlet by Mrs. Menoher, Louis Scheipers, Jr., commander of the John Boyd Post, VFW, and Mrs. Scheipers.

United States production of Brussels sprouts is largely concentrated in California and New York, where commercial production for fresh market in 1952 exceeded 4,000 acres with a market value of more than $3,500,000.

More Artists Accept Invitations To Exhibit Work At Library Art Gallery

Shows Scheduled March 29 - June 5. Completing Series

Five more invitations to exhibit art work at the Southern Pines Library Art Gallery have been accepted, bringing to completion the series of exhibits for the 1953-1954 season, according to Mrs. Jane Carter, chairman of the Library Art Committee.

Mrs. Emily Forrest, well-known portrait painter of Southern Pines, will present a show of recent work in the two-week period, March 29 to April 10.

Daniel L. Boyd, formerly of Southern Pines, will send from San Francisco, where he is now living, an exhibit showing his work, from pencil drawings and charcoal sketches through the abstractions on which he is now engaged. April 12 to 24 are the dates for his show. Mr. Boyd is a son of Mrs. James Boyd.

From April 24 to May 8 there is to be a show of the work of Mrs. Jill Loomis, portrait painter. Mrs. Loomis is the wife of Maj Philip Loomis, Fort Bragg, and is a student of Robert Brackman.

Another young artist of the Southern Pines Schools will exhibit May 10 to May 22. He is Philip Morgan of Niagara, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben C. Morgan, and is a student of Mr. Don Moore, art teacher in the public schools.

The concluding exhibit, May 24 to June 5, will be the modern work of Mrs. John Crisp Ellert, Fort Bragg. Mrs. Ellert is the wife of Capt. Charles Ellert, and has conducted art classes in Fayetteville for the past two years.

This year being the first to extend the exhibiting period from July until the following summer, Mrs. Carter has expressed her appreciation for the hearty cooperation of the artists who are participating in the program. While residents and visitors of Southern Pines are familiar with the work of many of the exhibitors, it is hoped that they will enjoy seeing the work of the nine newcomers to the Art Gallery.

In addition to those mentioned above, these include exhibits by Mr. Gregory Ivy, Head of the Art Department of Women's College, Greensboro, and Mr. George Kackergis, instructor of art, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. Both of these artists have represented North Carolina well in national art shows.

Mrs. Shirley Sontag, presently exhibiting, is a new exhibitor, as is Mrs. Kate Ranck Buie, Rockingham, whose watercolors will appear in January. Mrs. Buie is an exhibiting member of the Charlotte Artists' Guild.

Although Mrs. Whitney Kent, Fort Bragg, exhibited a series of book illustrations in the Art Gallery in July, her watercolors and tempera paintings of Afghanistan will be a new attraction. These were done while she and her husband, Col. E. F. Kent, were stationed there with the Military attache. She will be exhibiting this winter at The Mint Museum of Art in Charlotte also.

Of particular interest, however, will be the large Christmas Group Show, December 7 to December 19. With the hope that it will prove all-inclusive for artists in the area, each artist will be represented by a work pertaining to the seasonal theme.

YOU WIN

IN THE FINER CAROLINA CONTEST whether your town wins a cash prize or not!

You benefit by work done on the Finer Carolina projects. New parks, recreation areas, a clean-up campaign, new industry, modernized stores — these or similar projects done by this year's Finer Carolina committee will benefit everyone.

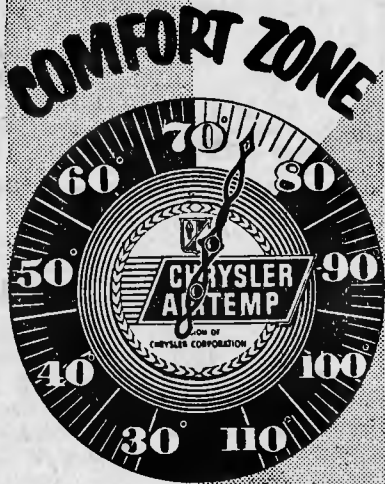

And whether they win a prize or not, you will find your town a better place to live because they were done.

In case all projects aren't finished, there's still a little time for unfinished projects. But hurry — the contest closes December 1. Lend a hand and help your town win the title "Carolina's Finest."
