

Raleigh Woman Sentenced To Year In Prison For Issuing Bad Checks Here

Miss Martin Pleads Guilty On 3 Counts In Recorders Court

Miss Elizabeth W. Martin, 55-year-old Raleigh woman who bought a used car here with a worthless $1,500 check recently and was arrested after she tried to trade the car to an Asheboro automobile dealer was sentenced to a year in the woman's division of State Prison, after trial in recorders court at Carthage Monday. Represented by a Raleigh attorney, Brantley Womble, Miss Martin—gray-haired and neatly dressed—pleaded not guilty to a charge of false pretense and no probable cause was found by Judge J. Vance Rowe on this charge. She pled guilty to three bad check charges—one for $1,500 on a Sanford bank issued to the Southern Pines Motor Company here for a 1951 Pontiac, one for $25 given to the Belvedere Hotel and another $5 check. The three cases were consolidated for trial and the sentence to prison followed. She was described as having a previous record for similar offenses.

Long Docket

Other cases heard Monday, listing defendant, charge and disposition of case, all penalties with costs added unless otherwise indicated, are:
Grover Cleveland Bean, Troy, turning without signal, not guilty; Clyde Faure, Fort Bragg, public drunkenness, resisting officer, two months or $25 and good behavior for 12 months; Chester Grant Chapman, High Point, drunken driving, accident, 60 days or $100, license to be revoked one year; Colon Harold Chriscoe, Seagrove, careless and reckless driving, accident, public drunkenness, 30 days or $25 and pay one-half repair bill to Williams car (court feels that Williams also was at fault in trying to bring his car to a stop on the hardsurface part of the highway); William Ernest Allen, 29, and Joan Quick alias Joan Allen, 16, bedding and cohabiting, unlawful registration as man and wife, 60 days each or joint $50 fine.
