PAGE TWO

FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1954

"In taking over The Pilot no changes are contemplated. We will try to keep this a good paper. We will try to make a little money for all concerned. Where there seems to be an occasion to use our influence for the public good we will try to do it. And we will treat everybody alike."-James Boyd, May 23, 1941.

County Home: Number One Problem

Last week's Pilot carried the story of the County Home. It is a story that could probably be duplicated in a good many counties of the state, for North Carolina is still way behind in facilities for taking care of its sick, old, and mentally-afflicted.

In judging the rights and wrongs of the local situation, this point should be emphasized. Moore County is, sad to relate, not particularly exceptional. It is said, for instance, that one of the privately-operated, out-of-county nursing homes to which indigent county cases are now being sent, is hardly up to state standards. There are probably others. Under such circumstances it could be understood that county officials might feel that to send old people from the Moore County Home to some of these is sending them from the frying-pan into the fire.

The local situation, then, probably reflects the general one, but, of course, what Moore County people want is not to reflect existing poor conditions but for the county to be a leader on the road to improvement. A good many counties are satisfactory situation.

going ahead, taking better care of their people and still balancing the budget. Moore County ought to be able to do so, too.

Whatever is done will need public support. It will be recalled that when the county was allotted a new health center by the state, the commissioners turned it down. They questioned the need and disliked the expense. It took a delegation of citizens, backed by medical men and health-minded people in general, to get them to change their minds. However, when the wishes of the people were clearly understood, they did reverse themselves and the present fine health center is the result.

It may take a similar effort to get the County Home problem solved. If that is the case, we are confident it will be forthcoming, and that it will be received in a friendly spirit by the authorities. With cooperation and goodwill, sparked by the desire to see Moore County a leader in health and welfare, as she is in other fields of endeavor, it should be possible to find a satisfactory solution for what is now a most un-

Record Of Law Enforcement

The three-man race for the sheriff's nomination in the Democratic primary May 29 stands out this year because it is the only contest with more than two candidates and because it involves three widely known and highly respected residents of the county.

R. G. Fry, Jr., whose father was once sheriff of Moore, Wendell B. Kelly, who had a long and praiseworthy record in the State Highway Patrol, and Sheriff C. J. McDonald, the incumbent, who has held the office of sheriff with distinction for a quarter of a century, are all natives and lifelong residents of Moore County. All are men of high character with many loyal friends. The county is fortunate that three such men are candidates for this important office.

Each of these candidates, as an individual, is worthy of support by voters of the county. But as The Pilot looks toward the primary, we feel constrained to advocate the renomination of Sheriff McDonald-for the simple reason that we can see no reason why he should not continue to serve in the office he has held so capably and so long.

As we look back on Sheriff McDonald's most recent term, to which he was elected in 1950, we find in several cases evidence of his abilities department-the murder of Louise Dowd Mcand a record that shows no slackening in his Laughlin by Melvin Morrison. shrewd and energetic investigation of lawand order. In these cases, the sheriff had the through the years.

valuable cooperation of his deputies, the State Bureau of Investigation, the Army Intelligence and municipal police officers of the county, but it was he who had the central responsibility that was successfully met.

An explosive case in which law and order was maintained by the sheriff was the fatal shooting of Carthage Police Chief Bunn Cameron.

Also coming to mind are: the arrest and sentencing of three white paratroopers charged with raping a Moore County Negro woman; the case in which the sheriff and a deputy were physically attacked by two crazed young men, now in State Hospital for the insane, who were subdued without firing a shot; the successful investigation of an armed robbery of the Foster store at Vass, for which three men were sentenced and all the stolen money recovered; the capture and sentencing of the armed robber of the Wiley Gaines store in upper Moore County; the arrest and sentencing of four youths who were accused of shooting at a house from an automobile; and the most brutal murder case in the county's history, solved with little or nothing to work on, as the investigation began, in cooperation with the Southern Pines police

By RALPH McGILL in The Atlanta Constitution What the various southern

Atlanta Editor Sees Change Coming

they busy themselves with plans posals they make. to carry on school segregation Policy without legal compulsion, is ad-miting segregation by law is finwithin the next few to come.

seems important that we discuss Negroes have been attending, and true. the problem as rationally as posgraduating from, medical, law and sible.

There are those who insist that segregation protects the integrity universities in the South. In the field of employment, segof both races. There are others who believe, with deep sincerity, regation has for some years been Negroes are better off under it. changing, and in many other Conceivably this might be argued fields it also shows the signs, and with some logic. It does not mat- influences of our time.

ter. The world, in the throes of a work on segregation and the prob- who say the fish never feels the social revolution which began with the coming of the industrial lem of race. One is secular, and hook. But, unfortunately, it is not critically, it does not change the revolution, and which was tre- the other religious. The Chris- possible to ask the fish. Across mendously accelerated by two tian of today cannot help but two great wars now we, along way out and he who tries to tell great world wars, has moved on. Segregation by law no longer fits the jarring clash of his creed, with preached the rights of men every- great disservice. The problem of day's world. Southern legislatures, busy with because of color. To send mission- have encouraged long-oppressed change. today's world.

plans to maintain some form of aries to colored peoples and then segregation without legal compul- to argue that because of the color sion, are wise to face that fact- of skin the two may not, if they though there are questiions as to choose so to do, worship the same state legislatures are doing, as the wisdom of some of the pro- God together is an impossible contradiction.

Indeed, it is this very fact

As a matter of fact, segregation which causes our Communist enhas been on its way out for a good emies to be able to present us in ished, either this year, next, or long time and has been breaking a bad light before the Oriental down at the edges for more than and Asiatic peoples. They can say, It is. There is no need beating a generation. Surprisingly few with some truth, that our claims about the bush. It, therefore, Southerners, or Americans of oth- to Christian brotherhood and er areas know that for some years democracy are hypocritically un-

> Christianity cannot well afford other professional schools in state to be on the wrong side of a moral force, as it was in some areas when it defended slavery.

The other influence is secular. Segregation implies inferiority. There are those who argue that it does not. But, those segregated

Two great forces have been at believe it does. There are those tion is political; and that many of those in both parties urge it hypobasic fact-segregation is on its wince at the full implications, and with other free peoples, have the people otherwise does them

Grains of Sand

Enjoys Pilot Overseas To The Editor:

A note to say hello and to tell you how much I enjoy The Pilot. Cola slow down school signs, the folks said, "but somebody I get it a week late, but's it's still whether he needs treatment. stole 'em and carried 'em off to good news to me. All my buddies read it and like it very much. We want you to know you put out that a person who takes the dea mighty fine paper. "You gentlemen got any par-It sure will be nice to get back there and pick one up for a dime.

Almost - Republican Governor I really miss all the nice people Seawell, sticking his head in the in Southern Pines and that won-all before too long. Sincerely CPL. TOMMY KOONCE Pangua, Austria My address is: Cpl. T. J. Koonce

Co. E. 350th Inf. Regt. APO 541, Care of P. M. New York, N. Y.

Self-Recognition Needed

To The Editor: One thing that is desperately needed here in the South is an adult education program specifically aimed at one need-the need to enable Southern Republicans to recognize themselves for what They say the views of the they are. Then a man like Senator Len-such matters always carry great non, who arrives in Washington apparently seeking a place on the peoples to rise. They have done so, and to date the Communists, with great shrewdness, have exploited successfully many of these nationalistic revolutions. Change

An end to segregation-when it comes-will not, of course, force people to associate socially. That will remain, as now, personal choice. But, it will bring on change-and this is what state legislatures in South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Virginia, and Alabama are, or will be, considering. They consider not how to retain legal segregation-which they see soon ending—but how to effect it without legal compulsion. Their great opportunity is to do o without violence or rash deeds the push behind ending segrega-

The Public Speaking Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program, outlines some self-administered tests designed to help anyone answer that question and decide

Under the title, "Tests for Alcoholism," the author suggests tailed tests and answers the questions honestly can have a basis for deciding whether he is purely a social drinker or one who has crossed the border-line into problem drinking.

The knowledge that one is a problem drinker need not create a feeling of hopelessness. Recognition of the problem is the first step toward treatment and rehabilitation. The "Inventory" article points out further that alcoholism can be successfully arrested so long as one recognizes and accepts the fact that he has the illness and sincerely desires help in recovering from it.

Copies of the current issue of Inventory" may be had free on request to S. K. Proctor, Executive Director, Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program, Box 9118, Raleigh, N. C. INTERESTED CITIZEN

Is This America? Is this America or some sort of strange Alice - In - Wonderland? ly announces to the world that And what kind of Jabberwocky is Music has had a heyday hereabouts, these last few weeks. Chatham County." The grand climax was the N. C. Symphony concert pronounced Keeping the Chair Fired Up the best yet by most of those who heard it.

Music, Sweet Music

preciation group, most of whom Monday.

had heard recordings of many of the compositions played and had all problems. . . in capital letters." studied them, under the guidance of Sara Hodgkins, who conducted claimed the biggest problem they

This is a new venture of the Chairman Gordon Cameron's pipe club and one that, we are told, going. has been outstandingly successful.

kins. And we agree with them. else said.

cators groups, music teachers of If You Want To Be Fancy the county, who brought down If county commissioners take Dr. Newman, music professor of definite action about the County Chapel Hill, to describe his meth- Home problem, it will mean makods of teaching, a few weeks ago. ing a major decision, one way or

When is a harpist a ringer?

Adding to the pleasure of members of the Civic Club Music Ap- dcor of the commissioners' room derful little town. Hope to see you were there, was the fact that they

the class.

have had the help of Mrs. Hodg- shoots sparks on him," somebody and enjoyment of music.

"And then putting him out event in the growing appreciation

She Swept The Strings

ago.'

"Come."

weight.

Would such a decision be call- McCarthy committee, and brazen-ticular problems?" asked Perhaps-

"No particular ones," answered Commissioner John Currie. "It's Commissioner Jim Pleasants had to deal with was keeping RA 250180181

The club was lucky, they feel, to when it gets going too hard and

Sara also heads the Music Edu-

Another outstandingly successful the other. chairman, Gordon Cameron, in Renomination of Sheriff McDonald will be breaking and his dignified maintenance of law the county's best recognition of his fine service

In Remembrance Of A Loving Heart

A person is known and admired for leadership in a community, or for his good influence; or he is sought after for his wise arvice, his intellectual grasp; or a person may be famed for his outstanding ability in his profession, his success making him a model for others to follow. Sometimes, and it is not as often as might be thought, a person is known for simple kindliness and love, for a warm heart.

The death of Josie Atkinson leaves a big gap in this community. Her unselfish devotion to those to whom she ministered during her lifetime, and the great warmth of loving-kindness that hung over her set this simple, sociable, cheery woman in a special niche.

The High Point Enterprise, the newspaper of the town where Mrs. Atkinson, as Josie Mc-Craney, first served as a nurse and superintendent of nurses, had this to say in an editorial that deserves to be reprinted here, where Mrs. Atkinson made her home. Epecially in its reference to her influence on student nurses does the editorial strike a pertinent note. To Mrs. Atkinson made her home. Especially in its refthey were people in pain and trouble. Her attitude, exemplified in all her nursing career, that kindness and tenderness and sympathy are the basis of nursing, might well stand as a guiding star for the profession.

The editorial is entitled "Craney," the affectionate nickname by which she was then known:

Every now and then a community is priv-

A Gift To Mothers On Mother's Day

Next Saturday, the day before Mother's Day, the Moore County Maternal Welfare Committee will hold its annual Tag Day drive. Funds from the drive go to supply such extra medicine and supplies as may be called for through the prenatal and well-baby clinics of the county health department, with the major amount raised for the support of a free bed for needy mothers at the Moore County Hospital.

This organization thus carries on, though in somewhat changed aspect, the work started in 1935 by Elizabeth Woltz Currie, to whose memory the maternity ward at the hospital is dedicated.

The fact that there has been a change in the work of this committee is, in a way, indicative maternal death rate for Moore County was need!

ileged to know and observe someone who, by generous nature and devotion, revitalizes confidence in the essential goodness of mankind.

Such a one served well here in another day when Mrs. Josie McCraney ministered selflessly as a nurse and later as superintendent of High Point Hospital, back in the early 1900's.

Many years ago she had given up her work here to help in the rearing of orphaned nieces and nephews, two sets of whom she raised for relatives who died. Later she married her sister's widower, the late J. W. Atkinson, who died two years ago, but her generous nature kept her busily engaged doing for others to the day of her death.

Rarely has this or any community known one with a finer penchant for service to others. Her life was an inspiration to throngs of younger women who went into nursing largely because of the happiness her life exemplified from losing herself in ministering to suffering humanity.

The Enterprise expresses the sentiments of this community, so many of whose people have been touched by the lovely influence of this gracious woman. She will be long remembered for her kind and loving heart.

And who is to say that is not the best way of all to be remembered?

shockingly high, in fact, one of the highest in the nation. A special nurse was employed, through the encouragement and with the financial help of the committee, to take full charge of the work of establishing prenatal clinics, and setting up a modern system of maternity care among the needier women of the county. Inestimable help was given by Moore County physicians and public support was generous. By all these means was established a service that brought results. The death rate dropped within a few years, while the system set up in Moore County was used as a model for similar work in other localities.

Mother's Day is the time to think of mothers. What better gift, what better remembrance. than, in gratitude for a mother's love, to make of its success. It was started at a time when the help available to other mothers who are in we ed: "Cutting the Gordon knot? If you said "when was," could answer: "at the N. C. Symphony concert here two weeks Our Face Was Almost Pink

Almost had a bad slip-up in the Maternal Welfare drive story The tall fine-looking girl who about Tag Day in West End. played her harp so gracefully had rushed down from Raleigh, on a hurry call from Director Swalin, to fill in for the regular player. contribution is allotted from their The latter had to leave suddenly because of a death in the yearly drive. But the "take" for the Maternal ocrats. family. Dr. Swalin remembered Welfare might not have been so In this way, the Republicans Pamela Kellam, up in Raleigh, generous this year if Dixie Ray, could field stronger candidates, who had played with the group at the linotype machine, hadn't the Democrats could be more five years ago, and telephoned: spotted a typographical error. hopeful that their candidates Seems we had typed out that in would continue to act like Demo-And Pam came; loaded her West End the Tag Day contribu- crats after election, and a much lovely harp into a trailer and tion is included in the Communist more healthy political situation trundled it down in time for the Chest. afternoon's rehearsal. All serene, but Composer Naquoted Senator McCarthy when thaniel Burt put in some anxious they asked him about the Commoments. munist votes that helped elect him "That harp part is pretty imporin Wisconsin. He said: "Well, they tant in my overture," he said. vote, don't they?" "where 'the muse sweeps the Well, they give! strings.' " Only they didn't.

Another Good One

Another musical "best yet" was the school band concert last week. We aren't exactly including them in the same paragraph with the state symphony, but, who knows, some of the players may be there some day.

Get the musical bee in the bonnet young enough and well enough and no telling where you may end up. Anyway, it is heartening to see.

or rather, to hear the improvement in the school band.

Watch Out! Folks from Highfalls came down to the Commissioners' says: "The confidence of our peomeeting in Carthage Monday to ple has been profoundly shaken; ask for a deputy sheriff for up in their section.

"We need one." said Andrew delegation. "We need him for baseball games and dances and such. But maybe not full time. said Mr. A.

Inter-County Warfare

The Highfalls folks have had allowed itself to be intimidated by a hard time working out some an ambitious and ruthless demaway to make the cars on the gogue." highway slow down when they go by the school. They come roaring across "Cur- wise men will be taken seriously rie Speedway," as the long bridge and the nightmare in Washington is called up thataway, and don't stopped in its tracks. pay any mind to slow signs. Or we "We had some of those Coca tracks."

Why Mr. Lippmann! Last week's Pilot carried an editorial entitled: "The Nightmare in Washington." Tuesday's Walter Lippmann column politely left off the "The", but there it was again: "Nightmare In Washington."

At that, we could always have No; we hasten to say the Lippmann piece was NOT a reprint of the Pilot editorial. And nobody needs to get sarcastic about "great minds . . . ", either. But it does wrote to him and received a nice look as if great minds and little reply from him today. Thanks to the Dear Old Pilot! ones were all thinking alike about In his reply, Congressman the McCarthy nightmare.

Mr. Lippmann's column is not the first on this subject. When he ledge receipt of your letter sup porting by bill, H. R. 1820, a bill making it unlawful for any person having a wife and children our prestige in the world and our claim to be the leader and defend- dependent upon him to flee to aner of free peoples have been hurt other State or foreign country "We need one." said Andrew Appanitis, spokesman for the hurt by the worldwide apparatus responsibility to provide for their of the Communist propaganda," support and maintenance. "I have been pleased to turn he is saying what he and other wise men, notably Joseph C. And not anything too serious. Harsch of the Monitor, have said diciary Committee, to which my Mary Scott Newton He'd be more of a scarey man," often before. But he puts his fin- bill has been assigned, and the > says: "The heart of the damage is the fact that the government has study. . ."

Kansas City, Mo. All Americans must hope that

'Tests For Alcoholism' the words of warning from these To The Editor: Who has asked himself, "Am I an alcoholic?" An article in the current issue of "Inventory," bi-Or we might as well say: "in his monthly publication of the N. C.

he considers McCarthy a great going on in our midst?

American, then spends most of I won't mention his name behis time voting right along with cause that's what he's gunning for the Republicans, could run as a with his wild claims and charges. Republican. And people who want It's getting so that chemists are That's where they have the to vote for candidates of this afraid to do tests in their labora-Community Chest system; and a stripe-the "Democrats-for Eisen- tories for fear the litmus paper good one it is, too. The Tag Day hower" and such like-could vote will turn Red and cause them as Republicans, without obscuring to be accused of guilt by associthe issues by claiming to be Dem- ation,

Well, it's bad to be Red but worse to be Yellow. Where is our old American gumption and grit? We weren't such sissies on the afternoon of Pearl Harbor day as we are rapidly becoming under the malevolent influence of this one who shall be nameless.

Were you afraid we wouldn't mind, afraid of his fellow Ameri-win THAT war? The war we RUSSELL E. POWELL aren't going to win is the one that makes every American afraid to think, afraid to speak his own Likes News Coverage To The Editor:

would inevitably result.

Southern Pines.

Sincerely,

can, afraid even of his clergy. The I just want to compliment The Kremlin couldn't possibly think of in there where I could get a book a better way to soften us up and about North Carolina by writing It's part of their psychological today I received a beautiful book plan for conquering the free nawith the picture of the lumber curred to them in their wildest yard across the highway from my dreams that they could get a My wife, Margaret, read about member of the U.S. Senate to do a bill your congressman from the it for the m. Isn't it about time that somebody investigated HIS Congress in Washington, D. C. She loyalty? Or at least examined his head? Paranoia is no respecter of persons-not even Senators.

CONSTANCE J. FOSTER Pinebluff

Deane wrote: "This will acknow-The PILOT Published Every Friday by THE PILOT, Incorporated Southern Pines, North Carolina 1941-JAMES BOYD-1944 Katharine Boyd Editor News Editor C. Benedict Dan S. Ray Gen. Mgr. Advertising ... Business Bessie Cameron Smith......Society

ter careful consideration and Lochamy McLean, Dixie B. Ray, Michael Valen, Jasper Swearingen

> ern Pines, N. C., as second class mail matter and N. C. Press Assn.

Composing Room Subscription Rates:

over your letter to the House Ju- C. G. Council ger on the sorest spot when he Committee will extend your let-ED GSCHWIND

One Year $4. 6 mos. $2; 3 mos. $1 Entered at the Postoffice at South-

Member National Editorial Assn.