New Circle Meets

A newly organized Young Women's Circle of the Vass Presbyterian Women of the Church met Wednesday night of last week at the home of Mrs. Bob Edwards. Mrs. Howard Gschwind led the program and Miss Polly Gilmore conducted the Bible study. Refreshments suggestive of Hallowe'en were served.

Officers of the group are: Mrs. Hugh McLean, chairman; Mrs. J. A. Hudson, vice-chairman; Mrs. Bob Edwards, secretary-treasurer; Miss Polly Gilmore, Bible study leader; Mrs. Howard Gschwind, program leader.

Other members are Miss Annie Ruth Hudson, Miss Juanita Causey, Mrs. Herbert Price, Mrs. Tamara Walton, Mrs. Herbert Caddell, and Mrs. Lawrence Buie.

MYF Meeting
The Methodist Youth Fellowship, which has been meeting only on Sunday mornings except on special occasions, held the first of a series of monthly evening meetings Sunday from 6:30 to 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Max Edwards was in charge of the worship period, for which the Rev. Fred Davis was speaker. His talk was followed by a general discussion period, after which Roy Fry led recreation for the group. Mrs. Lewis Fry served as chairman of the refreshment committee which served cookies, drinks and nuts. The meeting closed with the friendship circle and MYF benediction.

Programs of this type will be held each third Sunday evening and all youth of the church are invited to attend and bring their friends.

Mrs. Ring Entertains
Mrs. James Ring was hostess to around 20 friends at her home on Union Road Saturday evening, at a layette shower for Mrs. E. B. McDonald of Greensboro, the former Shirley Thomas of Vass. Games and refreshments were enjoyed and many nice gifts were included in the shower.

Jr. Class Activities

The Junior Class of Vass-Lakeview High School had to give way to Hurricane Hazel on its first money-making project of the year, as the Sauline Players, scheduled to appear here last Friday afternoon and night under sponsorship of the class, were prevented from performing. However, they came on Wednesday of this week.

The Juniors, looking forward to the junior-senior banquet next spring, have undertaken another project—selling costume jewelry for a period of two weeks.

Church Women Meet

Vass Presbyterian Women of the Church met with Mrs. P. A. Wilson Tuesday night of last week, with Mrs. W. D. McGill presiding over the business session. Mrs. C. G. Crockett led the Bible study and Mrs. N. N. McLean was in charge of the program, entitled "I Saw the Church in Latin America." Others taking part were Mrs. Leon Keith, Mrs. Delmas Kimball, Mrs. Eugene Hicks, Mrs. Charles Von Metzger, and Mrs. H. D. Jackson.

The group decided to hold a family supper and brief review of the book, "Man and God in the City" on the fifth Sunday evening beginning at 6 o'clock. Mrs. Leon Keith, chairman of Church Extension, will be in charge.

The meeting closed with a refreshment period.

Laymen's Day
Laymen's Day was observed Sunday morning in the Vass

Methodist Church, with three laymen assisting the pastor, the Rev. Walter C. Smith, in the worship service. Mack Callahan led the responsive reading, C. L. Tyson read a Scripture lesson, and W. H. Frye had the prayer. The pastor had as his sermon topic "De Luxe Laymen."

Miss Jane McMillan of Route 2 entered Moore County Hospital Monday.

One of the best ways to reduce costs in dairying is to produce quality roughage and feed concentrates according to the quality of roughage and milk production level of individual cows.

Removing non-layers and keeping down poultry parasites will increase profit, reduce feed cost, and raise production percentage of the laying flocks.

Don't cut life short—by accident! Careless driving or walking can make your day fatal. Know and obey traffic laws.
