

Carmichael Will Speak At Supper

A buffet supper at 6:30 p. m. will open the monthly meeting of the Sandhills unit of the North Carolina Catholic Laymen's Association in the Pine Needles Country Club Monday.

William D. Carmichael, Jr., vice-president and treasurer of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, will speak. Because of the wide acquaintance of Mr. Carmichael in this area, especially among UNC alumni, non-Catholics as well as regular members of the club are invited.

Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Shirley Shea at the Broad Street Pharmacy.

The State Highway Patrol's new Interceptor sedans are equipped with 160 horsepower engines, dual exhaust, heavy duty springs and shock absorbers, and over-drive.

Local National Guard Unit In 30th Div. Change

Notification that the entire 30th Infantry Division is being turned over to the State of North Carolina was received last week by State Adj. Gen. John Hall Manning, putting the final seal of approval on a development that will include converting the Southern Pines National Guard battery from an anti-aircraft to a tank unit.

Work on the conversion process has already begun here and will continue. Capt. William J. Wilson is commander of the local unit.

According to details of the plan announced in Raleigh by Adj. Gen. Manning, the present 130th AA Battalion, of which the local Guard battery is a unit, is being redesignated with a battery at Sanford as the 30th Reconnaissance Co. The remainder of the battalion, which includes the Guard unit here, will become a division tank battalion.
