MISS HOLLAND AND MR. WILLIAMSON, WED JANUARY 4, ARE RESIDING HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Pender Holland of Cameron announce the marriage of their daughter, Ruth MacKay, to William Frederick Williamson on January 4 in Dillon, S. C. The bridegroom is the son of W. Fred Williamson and the late Mrs. Williamson of Goldsboro, N. C., and Richmond, Va.

For the ceremony the bride wore a pink knitted orlon suit with black suede and white ermine accessories and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of mixed flowers.

Mrs. Williamson was graduated from the Aberdeen schools and attended Flora Macdonald College, where she was a member of the Prayer Band, Zetesian Literary Society, and Glee Club. For the past four years she has been employed by the United Telephone Company of the Carolinas, Inc., making her home in Southern Pines.

Mr. Williamson attended Wayne County and Goldsboro schools and served in the U. S. Army in World War II, being stationed for a while in England. For some time he has been associated with the Carolina Power and Light Company in Southern Pines.

Mr. and Mrs. Williamson are now residing at the Homestead Apartments on Bennett Street.

Keenan-Montesanti Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Montesanti of Southern Pines announce the marriage of their daughter Millie to Harry Clay Keenan on December 18 in Folkston, Ga.

Mrs. Keenan, a graduate of the local schools, is associated with her father in the dry cleaning business here.

Mr. Keenan, son of Mrs. Harry Keenan and the late Mr. Keenan of Jacksonville, Fla., is a graduate of the University of Florida. He served with the Air Force in World War II and for a number of years taught school in Jacksonville. He is now associated with the American Red Cross and is at present on maneuvers at Fort Benning, Ga.

Mrs. Keenan is staying with her parents until her husband joins here March 1, at which time they will move into their apartment at 150 West Pennsylvania Avenue.

MRS. PECK SPEAKS TO CIVIC GARDEN CLUB ON HERBS; SHOWS RARE BOOKS

"If you know how to use the six basic herbs—parsley, water cress, sweet basil, sage, chives, and majoram—in preparing food, you are a good cook; if you can increase the number to twenty-six, you are an artist!"

So said Mrs. W. M. Peck of the McCain Garden Club, when she talked to the Civic Garden Club at its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, January 6, at the Civic Club building.

Down through the ages, all over the world, herbs have been used as medicines and in connection with superstitions and in religious ceremonies, the speaker pointed out.

Mrs. Peck had brought along rare books, many of which were published in England, and members enjoyed looking at these, after her talk. One impressive volume, "Gerard's Herbal," had the date 1636 on its title page.

In the regular order of business before the talk, Mrs. Wade Stevick reported that "Now's the Time" to plant hibiscus, clematis and wisteria vines, bulbs for late blooming, and seeds of annuals. Rose cuttings may be taken, fruit trees pruned, tuberous begonia and amaryllis bulbs checked for planting, and clumps of perennial phlox divided.

She suggested starting garden notebooks for a record of bloom in successive months during the year.

Miss Helen Butler spoke of the interest the residents of West Southern Pines are taking in the beautification of the district and their cooperation in providing lights for the living Christmas tree in "The Point." There is a movement on foot to organize a West Southern Pines Garden Club, it was disclosed.

For a beautiful "Blue Boy" African violet, a large white one in full bloom, and a clump of paper white narcissus grown on pebbles in a bowl of water, Mrs. Virgil Clark, Mrs. Dean Dorman and Mrs. Angelo Montesanti, respectively, were awarded blue ribbons.

The Civic Garden Club meets at 3 p. m. on the first Thursday of each month, and cordially invites all who are interested to attend.

Joe Jones Celebrates Fourth Birthday

"Ride 'em, Cowboy!" was the theme of the party when Joe Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones of Vass, was host to 12 of his friends Saturday afternoon at his home in celebration of his fourth birthday which was January 9.

Dean S. Dorman Speaks To Civic Club On Insurance

Dean S. Dorman gave an illuminating talk on "The Place of Insurance in the Economy of the Country" at Monday afternoon's meeting of the Civic Club.

The speaker traced the history of insurance from the early days, showing what it has meant to the people of our country, in buying homes, farms, educational help and in protection of their families. The wideness of scope covered by various types of benefit insurance was a surprise to many, and some members of the audience were so interested as to ask questions for further information, at the conclusion of Mr. Dorman's talk.

Mr. Dorman was introduced by Miss Louise Haynes, club president, who also presided over a brief business session which preceded the talk.

A social period followed, during which Mrs. Dorman and Mrs. Wade Stevick poured tea. Other hostesses were Mrs. W. L. Bushby, Mr. Curtis S. Townsend and Miss Haynes.

MISS MARY BLUE CAMERON IS BRIDE OF NORMAN LEE CATLETT OF MULLINS, S. C.

Miss Mary Blue Cameron, daughter of Mrs. Martha Shelton Cameron of Salemburg, and William Lauchlin Cameron of Vass, became the bride of Norman Lee Catlett, son of Mrs. Jessie Warren Catlett of Mullins, S. C., and the late Mr. Catlett, in a private ceremony on Dec. 28.

The wedding took place at Myrtle Beach, S. C., in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Coates, Jr. The Rev. C. E. Vale of Rose Hill officiated at the double ring rites. Miss Kay Winesett of Marion lighted the candles.

Prior to the ceremony nuptial music was rendered by Miss Jeanne Strole, pianist, and Miss Barbara Elliot, vocalist, both of Chadbourn.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Claude L. Cameron, of the U. S. Air Force. She was attired in a waltz-length gown of Chantilly lace over antique satin, fashioned with a portrait neckline embroidered with seed pearls, long sleeves, and an Empire waistline. Her fingertip veil was attached to a Juliet cap of scalloped lace, and she carried a white Bible topped with white orchids with satin streamers.

Miss Gayle Cameron, sister of the bride, maid of honor, and Mrs. Laverne Covington, of Bennettsville, sister of the bridegroom, matron of honor, were dressed in waltz-length gowns of pink nylon tulle and satin. Their bouquets were of white carnations with pastel green satin streamers.

The bridegroom's brother, James L. Catlett of McColl, S. C., served as best man.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Cameron was dressed in an antique blue shantung and her corsage was of pink carnations.

The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of black crepe and pink satin and her corsage was of pink carnations.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Coates for the bridal party and guests.

Later when they left for their wedding trip the bride wore a charcoal grey suit with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Catlett is a graduate of Pineland Junior College and is employed in Wilson. Mr. Catlett is a student at EMI and will continue his education after February 1 at Atlantic Christian College. The couple will make their home in Wilson.

JR. WOMAN'S CLUB HEARS ART PROGRAM BY THREE OF ITS TALENTED MEMBERS

The Southern Pines Junior Woman's Club launched the New Year with an enthusiastic meeting Tuesday night at the Jefferson Inn, at which Mrs. Hal Adams, Mrs. Joe Allen and Mrs. Robert VanderVoort were hostesses, and at which three talented members spoke on "Art" and displayed paintings, drawings and sketches which they had made.

The speakers were Mrs. J. H. Devins, Jr., Mrs. Tom Cunningham and Mrs. Tom Marshall, each of whom gave her personal viewpoints on the different aspects of art. Mrs. Marshall, in addition to her paintings, showed samples of her work in sculpture.

Lynn Ledden, director of the local High School Band, spoke to the club in regard to the band's program, and need of new uniforms, and the club decided to sponsor a campaign for funds for uniforms as its next project.

The latest project of the club to be completed was its Christmas bazaar with which the disposition of a doll with 34 complete outfits was connected—a doll which was won by Mrs. Jean Edson of Southern Pines—and the club members were gratified with the treasurer's report on this; proceeds from sale of doll, $192.16; from bazaar, $51.90, a total of $244.06.

The meeting was marked by fine attendance. Coca-Colas and cookies were served by the hostesses.

Episcopal Women Hold Traditional Epiphany Celebration

Women of Emmanuel Episcopal Church held their corporate Communion service, led by the pastor the Rev. Charles V. Covell, at 11 a. m. Wednesday, and presented an offering, to be sent to Miss Jocelyn Gordon, a missionary in India. Dr. T. A. Cheatham of Pinehurst spoke briefly to a prayer group on "Healing and Prayer."

From the sanctuary the women went to the parish hall for their traditional Epiphany luncheon, an event of much interest to them. After the rector had given thanks, sandwiches brought by the members were enjoyed before the cutting of the Twelfth Night cake, highlight of the luncheon.

At the appointed time, three young girls appeared, Lucy McDaniel leading the way, carrying a knife and forks bedecked with ribbons, and followed by Gail Given and Virginia Aden, holding aloft a tray on which was the cake topped with 12 lighted candles. They marched around the room so that all might see it, before depositing the cake on a table where it was cut by Mrs. Lefroy. The girls passed the portions, and interest was high as the women looked for the special tokens contained in them.

Mrs. Fred Brindley found the pea and Mrs. Cecil Farrell of Aberdeen, the bean, which means that they will be hostesses for next year's luncheon. Other tokens and the finders were: a button, Mrs. Brindley; ring, Mrs. Sherwood Brockwell; wishbone Mrs. L. A. Des Pland; and thimble, Mrs. W. E. McCord. As each was found, Miss McDaniel read a verse explaining the token's significance. Mrs. R. E. Rhodes and Mrs. Fred Brindley served as hostesses, Mrs. Brindley taking the place of Mrs. Jane Towne who was away. The hostesses provided the cake and coffee for the luncheon. Dr. T. A. Cheatham was a guest.

BROAD STREET PHARMACY

PRESCRIPTION HEADQUARTERS

We found during the last year that a great many of our patrons like to serve themselves when they visit our pharmacy.

They like to browse around in certain departments, pick up and study the packages and make their choice of products at their leisure.

Therefore, as part of our new store modernization program we have set up special self-service departments where you can come in and do your own selecting of the particular items. These are all priced with easily read markings, and you'll have no difficulty recognizing your favorite brand of toothpaste, shaving cream, mouth wash, shampoo, hand lotion, cosmetics and a number of other well known consumer drug store products.

Our baby and first aid departments have a huge selection from which to choose, and our store personnel will be on hand to answer your questions and to provide you with those products not in our self-service sections, because of the professional attention they require.

We think that you'd get a real "kick" out of these new departments in our store.
