

Broderson Paintings Put On Exhibition In Library Here

An exhibition of paintings by Robert M. Broderson, instructor at Duke University, opened Thursday at the Library Art Gallery, to remain for about the next two weeks. The paintings were hung Wednesday by Miss Alice Baxter, chairman of the gallery's exhibition committee.

Married, with three children, Mr. Broderson is 34 years old. He is a bachelor of arts graduate of the Duke and received his master of fine arts degree at the State University of Iowa in 1952. He has been an instructor at Duke since 1952 and held a research grant at Duke last year.

Mr. Broderson has held one-man exhibitions at the Mint Museum, Charlotte; Eastern Carolina College, at Duke and at the State Art Gallery in Raleigh. His work has been hung in national and regional exhibitions at the Pennsylvania Academy, the Metropolitan Museum in New York City, the National Academy, and in Des Moines, Saint Louis and a number of other galleries.

Dr. Ball Dies In Winter Park, Fla.

Dr. L. J. Ball, of Syracuse, N. Y., a Sandhills visitor for a number of years, with many good friends here, died Wednesday night at his winter home in Winter Park, Fla.

With Mrs. Ball, he was accustomed to stopping over for several weeks every fall on their way south, then again for a visit in February as they returned north. Sometimes they stayed at the Park View in Southern Pines, and other times at the home of Mrs. S. L. Windham in Aberdeen. Mrs. Windham was expecting them next week for their regular visit.

Dr. Ball followed an unusual profession, that of horse dentist, and while here was frequently called on to treat equine patients at the Pinehurst stables.

On their visits, the Balls attended St. Anthony's Catholic church. Requiem mass was held for him Saturday at Syracuse.

Church Officers To Be Installed

In connection with the morning worship service of the Church of Wide Fellowship Sunday, at 11 a. m., a brief ceremony of installation will be held for officers, heads of departments and committee members. The entire service will be built around this installation and the recognition of Boy Scouts, in connection with National Boy Scout Week, reports Dr. W. C. Timmons, pastor of the church.

Mrs. Evaline Blue Celebrates 97th Birthday In Carthage

BY MRS. ALONZO BLUE

Mrs. Evaline McNeill Blue, the "Grand Little Lady of Carthage," celebrated her 97th birthday last Friday, January 28, at the ancestral home, situated near the Carthage Presbyterian Church and connected to the churchyard by the famous "Cedar Lane."

Mrs. Blue, who has been confined to her bed for several months, was able to be up, and was seated in the living room, dressed in lavender and wearing a heavy gold chain with locket attached, a gift from her husband, the late Dr. J. C. Blue, on their wedding day. With her wedding ring she wore two gold band rings, made of Moore County gold and presented to her by her father, the late A. H. McNeill, before she entered Peace College at the age of 17.

Mrs. Blue was an ardent reader before she lost her sight, and still retains a wonderful memory.

Mrs. A. McN. Blue and Miss Eula Blue were gracious hostesses to the large number of kinfolk and friends who called, and served the guests hot tea, fruit cake and gold-layer chocolate cake, using a china tea service which has been in the family for three generations. It was handed down to Mrs. Blue by her mother, the late Mrs. Margaret Currie McNeill, and was buried on the plantation during the Civil War to prevent its falling into the hands of Union forces as they passed through this section.

During the afternoon, while the living room was full of women talking, Mrs. Blue gave this quotation: "There was silence in Heaven for half an hour, because there were no women there."

R. W. Caviness made pictures of Mrs. Blue as she sat in the liv-

INS and OUTS

Mrs. James B. Swett, who has been with her daughter, Mrs. Howard Abbott, in Wellesley Hills, Mass., has arrived in Southern Pines to spend some time with Mrs. James Boyd. She is visiting Mrs. J. H. Towne this weekend.

Maj. and Mrs. Robert L. Guldenzopf and daughter, Janie, of Teaneck, N. J., arrived Sunday afternoon and are houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Bullens at Homewood. They will be here for two weeks, during which time Major Guldenzopf will attend the USAF Air-Ground Operation School at Highland Pines Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Page of Philadelphia, Pa., guests of the John C. Ostroms for several days, have moved into the Judge Way house in Knollwood and plan to remain for the next several weeks.

Mrs. Harry Keenan returned Thursday last week from Fort Benning, Ga., where she visited her husband for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fletcher of Edenton are planning to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Ives at Paint Hill Farm on Saturday of next week. They will come here from Fayetteville where Mrs. Fletcher is to speak to the Woman's Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bennett and baby, Hammond, are at home again after spending some time in Carthage with Sheriff and Mrs. C. J. McDonald while Mr. Bennett was convalescing from his recent illness which required surgery, at Duke Hospital. He is now back on the job at a Pch's Tog Shop for half the day.

Elmer Andrews left Monday to enroll in Duke Hospital for training as x-ray technician.

W. Southern Pines School News

Raeford Defeated
The Yellowjackets of West Southern Pines defeated Upchurch High School Friday night three ways: junior varsity, girls, and boys' varsity.

In the opening game, the local junior varsity dumped the visitors 33-27.

The varsity girls outclassed the visitors, 63-34. The Southern Pines attack was led by McCall, Dowd, Reed and Williams. Coach Wilson used every player on the local bench in scoring another win.

The local varsity triumphed over a brilliant five from Raeford, 53-47. West Southern Pines jumped to an early lead and held the visitors in check to go on to win in a heated, down-the-wire contest.

Pioneers Slate 'Hobo Day' Event

Members of the Pioneers—the young people's organization at Brownson Memorial Presbyterian Church—will meet at the church, at 9 a. m. Saturday for another of their "hobo day" projects, with members available throughout the day for various types of work.

Money earned will be turned over to the Pioneers' service project of the month. Yard work, car washing, baby sitting and similar tasks have been performed by the group in previous "hobo day" events. Persons who would like to request the young people to work on Saturday are asked to call Pete Butler at 2-8293. Workers may be obtained Saturday by calling the church.

No Letters Received Pro. Con On By-Pass

No letters favoring or opposing the proposed No. 1 highway by-pass through Southern Pines have been received by the town office, City Manager Tom E. Cunningham said this week.

One letter had been received from a resident through whose property the by-pass route runs, Cunningham said, not opposing the route but offering suggestions to the town about matters town officials might check before signing right of way agreements with the State.
