

44th Silver Foils
Tourney Begins

Play in the 44th annual championship of the Silver Foils Club, due to begin Tuesday at Pinehurst with a qualifying medal round, was postponed until Thursday because of high winds. There are prizes for the Low Gross and for the Low Net of the qualifying field. Then play goes into match play in two flights of sixteen and the beaten eights in the first round of each flight. The title is currently held by Miss Jean Cosgrove of the Mid-Pines Club, Southern Pines, who defeated Miss Anne Hotchkiss 2 and 1 in last year's final round.

THEATRES
CAROLINA

Continuing through this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 24-25-26, at 8:15 p. m. with a Saturday matinee at 3, at the Carolina Theatre, is the newest Alec Guinness comedy, "The Detective," which had a long run in London under the title of "Father Brown," based on the stories by G. K. Chesterton. His very able supporters are Joan Greenwood, Cecil Parker and Peter Finch.

Smooth flowing, ingratiating and polished, "The Detective" bounds happily along despite the voluminous garb of the priests. Alec Guinness is outstanding as the cleric who is interested in crime detection if only to get nearer the criminal and find out how he, as representing the church, is failing. He is a lovable, impish character who finds himself in many tight corners with his bishop, the police and desperadoes alike. Much of the picture was shot on location in France and the atmosphere has been neatly captured.

The Carolina Theatre is very proud to announce the coming of a superbly beautiful romantic drama in color by Technicolor, none other than the immortal "Romeo and Juliet," starring the notable English actors, Laurence Harvey, Susan Shentall and Flora Robson.

Filed entirely in Venice, Verona and Sienna, the little medieval city in the hills of Tuscany, a treat to the eye and ear, this new version of the immortal love story is something of genuine beauty. Indeed it is hard to recall any film which has been more exquisitely conceived. It recently won the Grand Prize at the Venice Festival over productions from all over the world.

Renato Castellani has courageously directed the picture as an ageless study of young love and has set about representing it with zest, directing it so that many may not realize that it is a Shakespearean play, which will make it one of the most discussed plays of the year.

Here's what some of the critics say about it: "Paced to the heart beat of first love"—Time. "Magnificent"—N. Y. Herald-Tribune. "Highest rating"—Daily News. "Ravishingly beautiful." Saturday Review. "Full of beauty—will probably stand as a high mark for years."—Crowther in N. Y. Times.

This film is coming, Sunday through Wednesday, March 27-30 at 8:15 p. m., with matinees Sunday and Wednesday at 3. Because of the longer running time (140 minutes), there will be three Sunday shows, at 3, 7 and 9:20 p. m.

Following on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 31-April 2, is the screen version of the famed Broadway music drama, "Carmen Jones," with its story in modern dress; with the pulsating and exciting music of Georges Bizet and the marvelous lyrics of Oscar Hammerstein II.

It is a dramatic, thrilling visually colorful entertainment that will hold patrons in its magic spell from beginning to end. Performances of the all-Negro cast are outstanding in every respect and CinemaScope, Stereophonic Sound and de Luxe color are at their best.

The star, Dorothy Dandridge, has been nominated for the Academy Award for the best actress.

SUNRISE

Marjorie Main, co-starred with Percy Kilbride in Universal-International's new comedy, "Ma and Pa Kettle At Waikiki," opening Sunday at the Sunrise Theatre, reveals that after 40 years of acting on stage and screen, she is now listed in "Who's Who in America."

"My late husband, Dr. Stanley L. Krebs, was listed for many years in "Who's Who," says Marjorie, "but I never thought while he was alive that I, too, would be so honored. During more recent years I sort of hoped I would, some day, however, I feel now as though I have really arrived."

Star of seven fabulous "Kettle" comedies in the past seven years since the comedy team established the characters on the screen in "The Egg and I," Miss Main has been in films 15 years.

When she completed her studies at Hamilton College, Kentucky, where she majored in drama, she joined a Shakespearean company playing the Chautauqua circuit, against her parents' wishes. While playing the circuit she met and married Dr. Krebs, a lecturer, and they toured together.

Her first important stage engagement was with W. C. Fields in "The Family Ford" on Broadway. She then appeared with John Barrymore in "Cheating Cheaters," after which she starred on Broadway in "Yes or No" and then went on to score successes in a series of New York hits.

At the peak of her career she retired to be with her husband. He died in 1934, and to find solace Marjorie returned to the stage, playing the gangster's mother in "Dead End." She made her screen debut in the filmization of this play in 1937. Lori Nelson, Bryan Palmer and Hilo Hattie head the featured cast of "Ma and Pa Kettle At Waikiki," which was directed by Lee Sholem.
