Rainbow Club
Mrs. C. C. Loftin was gracious hostess at the June meeting of the Rainbow Club. Attendance was back to normal. It was a leader's meeting. Mrs. R. L. Oldham, clothing leader, gave a well planned demonstration on "Dress for the Occasion." She had placards to illustrate an outfit for each need and was attractively dressed herself for a club meeting.

One of the many aims of club work is planning and doing our work in the easiest manner. Mrs. Loftin has rearranged her kitchen with a cozy living nook which saves time and steps and keeps the family in closer companionship. Many of us remember the old fashioned cheerful kitchens with open fireplaces which are being revived to some extent in this modern age.

The ladies spoke of their fruitful spring gardens that point to well fed families and groaning pantry shelves for next winter. Do's and Don'ts for bride and groom were in keeping with the traditional month. The home agent has these pamphlets.

Refreshments followed the close of meeting.—By Mrs. A. C. Bailey, publicity chairman, a Rainbow Club.

Thagards Club
Mrs. J. L. Matthews was hostess to the Thagards Home Demonstration Club for June. Mrs. Richard Matthews gave the lesson on "What to Wear and When" which fitted in very well with the May lesson, "Figure Flattery." The club members came in different outfits, play clothes, casual and dress up. Mrs. Richard Matthews also gave an interesting discussion on what to wear at weddings—if you are in the wedding or a guest.

After the business and lesson were over, refreshments were served.—By Mrs. C. B. Ragsdale, publicity chairman, Thagards Club.
