Girl Scout Council To Elect Officers At Annual Meeting In Sanford Jan. 30

The Central Carolina Girl Scout Council will hold its annual meeting January 30 at 7 p. m. in the basement of the First Baptist Church in Sanford. All registered adults, Senior Scouts and several special guests are invited to the dinner meeting.

The council is composed of troops in Moore, Lee, Chatham and Harnett Counties.

Special feature of this year's meeting will be the announcement of the Council's quota of four Senior Girls to attend the National Senior Round Up to be held in June, 1956, at Pontiac, Mich.

These four girls have been chosen on their merit and skill in camping by the Selections Committee appointed by the board of directors. Four girls and four alternates have been chosen from a field of 20 applicants.

The Round Up is the first of its kind ever attempted by the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. Some 3,840 girls from all over the nation will participate in the 10-day camping events.

In addition to hearing the Round Up announcement, the Council will elect its officers for 1956, report on the progress in 1955, and make special awards to the adults who have served five, 10 and 15 years. Mrs. Gilliam Anderson of Sanford will receive a 15-Year Service Award.

Special guests to attend the meeting will be Rev. W. W. Hutchins, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Sanford, and Brig. Gen. Pearson Menoher of Southern Pines, chairman of the Moore Boy Scout District.

Mrs. Audrey Kennedy of Southern Pines, council president, will preside at the meeting.

It is not difficult to grow your own plants if you have a hotbed or coldframe available. A few plants could easily be grown in a shallow box in a kitchen window. It usually takes from five to 10 weeks to grow plants from seed ready to set out in the garden, depending on the kind of crop and on the temperature and growing conditions.

Frank Nolen Tells Sandhills Club Of Worthy Activities

Kiwanis cares what happens to Youth. Thousands of boys and girls have become good citizens through the health, vocational guidance and underprivileged child activities of Kiwanis clubs throughout the United States and Canada, Frank Nolen, of Florence, S. C., Governor of the Carolinas District of Kiwanis International, told members of the Sandhills club last week at their anniversary luncheon.

Mr. Nolen reviewed the civic accomplishments of the organization over its 40 years at the club's meeting in the Southern Pines Country Club. He was presented by Herbert W. Hennig, of Darlington, S. C., district secretary.

The Governor recounted the part played by various clubs of the two Carolinas in aid to farmers through agricultural projects such as the launching of pig clubs, chicken clubs and fellowship promotion: of efforts toward world peace, recognized by President Eisenhower who said recently that his job had been made much easier because of the work of service clubs.

He called upon Kiwanians here and everywhere to rededicate themselves to strengthening home, church and school; to combat the causes of juvenile delinquency; to aid and participate in civil defense organization and training; to foster better understanding between urban and rural people; to lead and educate in citizenship responsibility; to practice a world-wide good neighbor policy, and to strive for peace through effective armaments control and earnest support of the principles of the United Nations.
