

Tobacco Company Offering Driver-Training Studies

The R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company of Winston-Salem has announced a program of scholarships aimed at alleviating the shortage of teachers trained to give driver instruction in the state's high schools.

A. C. Dawson, Jr., superintendent of the Southern Pines school system, and H. L. Thomas, superintendent of Moore County schools, have been asked by the company to make nominations from their school systems for the scholarships.

The initial group of scholarships will go to qualified applicants completing the course in safety education at Appalachian State Teachers College's second term of summer school, starting do we have "formal" worship?

CONSIDER

THE Episcopal WAY

WHY

We don't think of our worship services and customs in the Episcopal Church as necessarily "formal." We feel that if all are to participate in worship together, it is necessary to follow a plan. More than three-fourths of all the Christians in the world worship according to a pattern.

We look upon our services as having great dignity and reverence, arranged so that instead of sitting back and taking no part in the service, we can join with our minister and fellow-worshippers in an outpouring of praise and thanksgiving to God for His goodness and mercy to us. The Episcopal Church is "altar-centered." Worship is primary. All else—preaching, music, scripture lessons, important though they be, are secondary to the praise and worship of Almighty God on Sundays.

If this is what worship of God means to you, we invite you to join us, today, in actively worshipping God in the Episcopal Church near you.
