

Local High School Officially Joins Class A Conference

Southern Pines High School has officially joined the Cape Fear Class A football conference, school officials have reported after a meeting held recently in St. Pauls.

There is still nothing definite by way of a 1957 schedule, since officials of several schools in the conference were not present at the meeting. Those arrangements, which will see Southern Pines play 11-man football for the first time, are expected to be completed shortly.

Teams in the conference are Massey Hill, Elizabethtown, Steadman, Hope Mills, Shallotte, Chadburn, Fairmont, St. Pauls, Red Springs, and Southern Pines.

Southern Pines is replacing Bolivia, which withdrew in November as an active member.

CORRECTION
In a story appearing in the December 13 issue of The Pilot the name of Dr. Andrew Jamison of Southern Pines was omitted as a member of the active staff of the Moore County Hospital. The Pilot regrets the omission and is happy to report that Dr. Jamison is a very active member of the staff.

Feed grains and other concentrates this season will hit record levels, say marketing officials with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The supply per grain consuming animal unit is also high, and with an average rate of feeding the supply will take care of requirements and increase the carryover by another 10 per cent. Over the next few years, however, the soil bank program may reduce output and cut down the carryover, they warn.
